LONDON GREETS LONE ATLANTIC WOMAN FLYER

Mrs. Putnam Guest at U. S. Embassy.

DO-X Spans Ocean

The giant German flying boat reached Vigo, Spain, yesterday on its trans-Atlantic flight from Horta, Azores. It was the fourth leg of its flight from New York to its home port at Lake Constance, Switzerland.

LONDON, May 22.—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, smiling lone flyer of the Atlantic, flew from Londonderry, northern Ireland, to London today in a borrowed plane. She landed at Hanworth airdrome in a driving rain at 6:05 o'clock this evening.

MRS. DAVID K. E. BRUCE. [Acme Photo.]

Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon and the staff of the American embassy welcomed the newest American to fly across the Atlantic and the only woman who has ever accomplished the feat alone and the first woman to have spanned the sea by plane twice.

Hundreds of telegrams of congratulation, many from high governmental officials, including Prime Minister MacDonald, were waiting for her, and as in the case of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in Paris five years ago yesterday, the hospitality of the American embassy was extended to her as long as she remains in London.

Presents Chic Figure.

This time, instead of the ambassador supplying ill fitting garments for the baggageless flyer, as was Lindbergh's lot in Paris, Mrs. David K. E. Bruce, Mr. Mellon's daughter and the embassy's official hostess, and Mrs. David E. Finley, wife of the first secretary of the embassy, supplied the air woman with a complete wardrobe of frills. And so tonight at the embassy dinner Mrs. Putnam presented a chic figure in comparison with Lindbergh's baggy attire at his first public appearance in Paris.

Noisy Welcome Lacking.

One thing, however, was lacking—a noisy welcome. An American Newsreel plane carried her from Londonderry to London. Instead of taking her to Croydon, where a large crowd had assembled to cheer the woman, the concern arranged a surprise landing at the private Hanworth Flying club. An effort was made to keep her arrival a complete secret. Newspaper men who had assembled at Croydon learned that she was arriving at the exclusive airport, where the general public is strictly barred, so late that they were forced to take planes in order to reach the Hanworth airdrome in time to meet her.

Ten thousand persons gathered at Croydon shortly after noon. They stood in the rain for hours to greet her. They had gone to Croydon because it is London's airport, and because it had been announced in Ireland that Mrs. Putnam would land there. It was not until Mrs. Putnam reached Blackpool, England, that she knew that she was being taken to a private reception of 200 members of the swanky Hanworth club.

Thousands Are Disappointed.

As a result the thousands at Croyden were disappointed, for they had not the time to reach the other airdrome, which is 20 minutes away by plane and a good hour and a half by auto.

Mrs. Putnam left Springfield, Londonderry, shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon, flew to Blackpool, where she changed planes, and continued on to London, "dozing most of the way," due to her fatigue.

One of the first questions asked of her was: "Why did you fly across alone?"

"I did it to justify my previous flight," the smiling aviatrix declared. "I wanted to show I could do it alone. On my flight four years ago I did not touch the controls. This time I did it all by myself."

She was surrounded by photographers when she stepped from the two passenger cabin plane. There was

TAX DESIGNED TO BRING IN 500 MILLION A YEAR

Need for Revenue Speeds Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—The vote on the O'Connor-Hull beer bill in the house tomorrow will record the conversion of many hitherto politically dry congressmen to support of the wet cause for ostensibly economic reasons.

WILLIAM E. HULL. [Acme Photo.]

The government needs the money, hence many members are declaring for the legalization of 2.75 per cent beer as a nonintoxicating beverage and for the imposition of a tax thereon which it estimated would yield 500 millions of dollars a year, or half the amount to be raised by the pending billion dollars tax increase bill. Tax beer, the argument runs, and other taxes can be lightened.

Hopes to Discharge Committee.

Representative William E. Hull [Rep., Ill.], co-author of the bill, said tonight that there is a strong possibility that enough votes will be mustered to discharge the ways and means committee from further consideration of the bill which would have the effect of bringing the measure before the house.

"We have 171 members pledged to vote for the motion tomorrow," said Mr. Hull, "and there are about 25 more who are likely to fall in line before the roll is called. In addition, the members of the Missouri delegation may be added. The Missouri members are to be elected at large next fall, and as Missouri is a wet state their prospects of reelection will be profoundly affected by how they vote tomorrow."

Propose Tax of 3 Cents Pint.

The bill provides for legalizing 2.75 per cent beer by weight which is equivalent to 3.46 per cent by volume, almost the strength of pre-prohibition beer. The tax proposed is 3 cents a pint. The beer is to be sold only in bottles, and is not to be consumed on the premises, a provision to prevent the restoration of the saloon. It could be sold in cafés accompanying meals.

Every member of the house received a letter today from labor's national committee for modification of the Volstead act which says:

"You are signally honored, being a member of the house of representatives, which body, will, for the first time since October, 1919, have the opportunity of helping to correct a legislative wrong which is wholly responsible for the reign of lawlessness, hypocrisy, gangsterism, and corruption of public officials, now so prevalent throughout our country, due to the passage of the Volstead act.

Nonintoxicating Beer.

"Your support and coöperation in the passage of the O'Connor-Hull 2.75 per cent nonintoxicating beer bill will be welcomed and appreciated, not alone by the American labor movement but in addition thereto, by the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, many other organizations and millions of American citizens who are coöperating with us to properly and legally secure the amending of the unenforceable and unwarranted Volstead act.

"Your vote and your support of the O'Connor-Hull beer bill will also lighten the hearts of millions of American workers who look in vain for honest toil at this time.

Rule of Majority.

"The elections which have recently been held throughout the country, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Minnesota, Washington and California to mention only a few; the unusual action of the Democratic county conventions of Texas, an overwhelming number of which instructed their delegates to work for a change in the Volstead act, should be sufficient to indicate to a majority of those representatives in congress, who still believe in the rule of the majority that the American people as a whole and, the majority of the voters in your district, want the Volstead act amended.

"We sincerely trust your name will be emblazoned on the honor roll of those representatives who will on May 23, 1932, vote to eliminate hypocrisy and gangsterism by voting for the passage of the O'Connor-Hull 2.75 per cent nonintoxicating beer bill."

CHURCH PAPER TELLS WHY ROOSEVELT IS SATISFACTORY 'DRY'

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—Why Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, who has declared for return of liquor control to the states, is satisfactory to the drys is set forth by Deets Pickett in the April issue of the Voice, published by the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals.

"Gov. Roosevelt, in view of two recent wet statements, can certainly not be the first choice of the drys in his party," says the article, "but it would be a mistake to consider him to be what is ordinarily known as 'soaking wet.' When he was in Washington we knew him as a dry. His wife, unless she has recently changed her opinions, is a prohibitionist and, indeed, has made prohibition speeches. Gov. Roosevelt is a man who has no natural sympathy with the saloon element."

The selection of the dry Senator Barkley as temporary chairman of the Democratic convention is held by the Voice to be "another triumph for Roosevelt's friends over Raskob, who wanted Jouett Shouse."

The article concludes: "It is no particular compliment to a man to say that he has made a statement for political purposes only, and yet we cannot get away from the assumption that Mr. Roosevelt did just that when he threw a sop to the wets recently. His statements were so long delayed that it may be surmised he considered them necessary to hold his New York support, without which he would be helpless in the convention, and, having made them, it is hoped that he will consider that his obligations to the wets in his party have been discharged."

BONE IN THROAT CAUSES DEATH OF DR. O. B. YEATMAN

A chicken bone which lodged in his throat ten days ago at a banquet at the Park Ridge Country club, caused the death yesterday in the Evanston hospital of Dr. Oscar B. Yeatman, 37 years old, 521 Lake avenue, Wilmette, a dentist.

An operation was performed at the hospital a week ago for the removal of the bone, but an infection set in which necessitated a second operation Friday. Dr. Yeatman then contracted pneumonia, the immediate cause of his death.

The widow, Mrs. Althea Yeatman, and a son, John, survive. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in the home. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

Girl Ends Life by 25 Story Leap at Hotel

A young woman about 25 years old, clad only in pajamas, leaped to her death from a 25th floor room of the Stevens hotel last night. Before jumping she slashed her wrists with razor blades. She landed on a balcony twenty floors down.

Four hours before she had registered as Miss E. Goddard of 2008 Sherman avenue, Evanston. At that address is the Austin Scholars' fraternity, housing a select group of Northwestern university students. No woman or man of that name is known there.

The mystery which shrouded her identity did not, apparently, extend to the motive for her act. Among the young suicide's effects was found a copy of Oscar Wilde's "The Ballad of Reading Gaol." One verse starting out with the line, "Yet each man kills the thing he loves," was bracketed with pencil marks. From this police deduced the young woman had suffered disappointment in a love affair.

Find Body on Fire Escape.

"Miss Goddard" registered at the hotel at 6:30 o'clock last night. She carried an overnight bag. At 10:30 a loud crash was heard on the fifth floor roof of the Michigan avenue court. Several guests noted the thump and one of them notified hotel officials. A. M. Clark and Dr. James F. Curry, house physician, found the body on a fire escape.

No one had witnessed the woman's leap, and it was necessary for Policemen Louis Jaster and Benjamin Benson of the South State street station to make a systematic search for the room. In room 2510-A they found a window open and the floor stained with blood. This was directly over where she had landed.

Clothing of Costly Texture.

Clothing, a Bible, Wilde's poem, and a sheet of music were found. The clothing was of excellent texture. In her purse was found $19.65. The clothing had been stripped of all marks of identification.

The verse in "The Ballad of Reading Gaol" which the woman had bracketed and which police said probably holds the motive for her act, reads:

Yet each man kills the thing he loves,
By each let this be heard;
Some do it with a bitter look,
Some with a flattering word.
A coward does it with a kiss,
A brave man with a sword!
Some kill their love when they are young
And some when they are old;
Some strangle with the hands of Lust,
Some with the hands of Gold;
The kindest use a knife because
The dead so soon grow cold.

Police took the body to the Central undertaking rooms, 425 Plymouth court, where an inquest will be held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. It is hoped by then to identify the woman.

RECORD FLOODS SWEEP ENGLAND; MANY MAROONED

DERBY, England, May 22.—(AP)—The heaviest floods in half a century spread through the English midlands today, marooning thousands in and on their homes, disrupting all traffic, wrecking communications and causing great damage to property. Early reports listed no casualties.

The principal cities affected were Derby, Sheffield, Banbury, Northampton, Leicester, Buckingham, Worksop, and Ashby-de-la-Zouche. Dozens of other towns and villages were fighting high water.

Conditions in Derby, where the water in the central streets reached five and a half feet, were illustrative of the situation elsewhere. Great damage to goods in stores occurred, phones were put out of action, and scores of houses in the poorer districts were inundated. Most of the roads leading to the city were impassable.

Block Long Mill Building Is Swept by $5,000 Fire

Fire last night destroyed the block long frame building of the Lockwood and Strickland Mill company at 709 West 49th place. The damage was estimated at $5,000. A 2-11 alarm was sounded and hundreds watched the fire.

Unable to Fly Boy Uses Gun to Gain Wish

Riding in an airplane several thousand feet above the Chicago airport at 63d street and Cicero avenue, late yesterday afternoon, a youthful passenger gave a last look over the sunlit expanse of city and country spread out below him. Then, as the plane swooped down for a landing, he shot and fatally wounded himself.

A note found in a pocket of the suicide, Ernest Lengyel, 17 years old, 1216 Marengo avenue, Forest Park, explained that he was despondent because he could not fulfill an ambition to become a pilot.

"I did it in a plane because I wanted to die happy," he wrote.

Lengyel was still alive when he reached the ground, although the bullet had struck him in the left temple. He was taken to the Holy Cross hospital, where he died two hours later.

Pays $3 for the Trip.

It was about 5:15 p. m. when young Lengyel appeared at the airport and engaged Wilhelm Dally Jr., 1741 North Hoyne avenue, a pilot, to take him for a short ride. He paid $3 in advance and was strapped into the seat behind the pilot.

"We had been up about seven minutes," said Dally last night, "when the passenger shouted to me: 'Show me something good.' So I made a couple of banks and he yelled they were fine. Then I started a nosedive toward the airport. My passenger tapped me on the back and asked if I were going to land. I told him I was and turned back to the controls.

"The next moment I was startled by a shot. I looked back to see what had happened and noticed that Lengyel had slumped down in the seat. Then I landed as quickly as I could."

Dally added that when his passenger made the agreement for the ride Lengyel seemed to be normal in his manner. The weapon he used was a sawed-off .22 caliber rifle. It had been shortened both in the stock and in the barrel, and was scarcely longer than a pistol. Lengyel had apparently concealed it in a pocket.

Policeman Finds Letter.

At the hospital Policeman Peter Rooney of the Chicago Lawn station, after trying unsuccessfully to question the victim, obtained the letter he had written. It was addressed to his sister, Helen, and had the notation "To be opened after my death." It read:

"Dear Sister Helen:

"I left this letter for you because you are the only one who comes home once in a while. Please see that my brief case, containing all my aviation equipment, gets to Francis Darr Jr.

"Helen, I was too overanxious to wait for better times. After trying the army and the navy and they rejecting me, which was my only chance to get into aviation, I tried for the job at the airport—tried to learn that way.

"I wanted to die happy. That's why I did it in a plane. I wish you, Irene, Al, mother, and dad all the luck and happiness life can bring you. So long. Your brother, ERNIE."

Always Interested in Planes.

Mrs. Joseph Lengyel, mother of Ernest, said at her home last night that he had been interested since he was a small boy in airplanes and was dejected when the navy refused to let him enlist because he had poor sight. He had seemed happy yesterday afternoon, she said.

The boy was employed in Oak Park as a Western Union messenger. The Darr mentioned in the note is his brother-in-law.

Blind Musician Asks Aid in Finding Lost Violin

Reuben Hortman, 12 East Chicago avenue, a blind violinist, attended a musical party Saturday evening at the home of Richard Boehler, 2444 Sunnyside avenue, who is also blind and who plays the piano. As Hortman was leaving the Boehler home he handed his violin and case to the taxicab driver who was to take him home. The driver helped him into the cab, but forgot the violin, which he left on the curb. Hortman asked police yesterday to help him find the instrument, which is his means of livelihood.

Lockjaw from Splinter Kills Evanston Girl, 4

Mary Garrity, 4 years old, 825 Oakton street, Evanston, died of lockjaw last night in St. Francis hospital at Evanston. She fell on a board while playing about her home on May 13, driving a splinter into a knee. She is a daughter of Lieut. Michael M. Garrity of the Evanston fire department.

11 LEADERS IN BIPARTY PLEA: 'DROP POLITICS'

Urge Budget and No Discrimination.

New York, May 22.—(AP)—An appeal to both parties in congress to "lay aside every form of partisanship" and unite to balance the federal budget was made public today, over the signatures of eleven men of national prominence, including former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, titular head of the Democratic party. The letter, a 113 word document, is signed by:

Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York, Democratic candidate for President in 1928 and candidate for the Democratic nomination this year.

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, for years one of the leading members of the Republican party.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Gov. Wilbur L. Cross of Connecticut, Democrat.

Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, Democrat.

Alanson B. Houghton of New York, former ambassador to Great Britain, Republican.

Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, Republican.

William H. Crocker of San Francisco, a member of the Republican national committee.

Charles Nagel, St. Louis, Mo., Republican, secretary of commerce and labor in the Taft administration.

Roland S. Morris, Philadelphia, Democrat, wartime ambassador to Japan.

John Grier Hibben, retiring president of Princeton university. President Hibben is usually described as a Republican, although he supported John W. Davis for President in 1924.

Text of Letter.

The letter, addressed to the majority and minority leaders in both houses of congress, follows:

"Gentlemen: The undersigned view with so much concern the possible effect upon our social and political institutions of the grave economic and financial problems which confront the American people that, on behalf of vast numbers of our fellow citizens, we appeal through you to the members of the senate and of the house of representatives to lay aside every form of partisanship and of possible partisan advantage and quickly to unite to adopt a balanced federal budget for the coming fiscal year, as well as to enact a plan of taxation which shall be economically sound, fair to every group and calling, and without discrimination or privilege or class or sectional advantage of any kind."

Sent to Congress Leaders.

Copies were mailed so that they arrived Saturday night to Senator James E. Watson, Republican majority leader, and Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democrat, minority leader in the senate, and to Representative Charles R. Crisp, Democrat, majority leader, and Representative Bertrand H. Snell, Republican, minority leader in the house of representatives.

The letter was made public today by the department of public information of Columbia university.

FIGHT DEMOCRAT PLAN

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—In a 2,500 word statement issued from the White House this afternoon President Hoover declared war on Democratic proposals of huge government bond issues for construction for federal public works as a measure of unemployment relief.

While favoring depression relief legislation consisting of loans by the reconstruction finance corporation to states for relief of destitution and to public and private agencies for "income producing" construction projects, the President condemns enormous outlays on federal public buildings and other works as wasteful and destructive of the public confidence essential to economic recovery.

The views of the President were made public in the form of a letter he addressed yesterday to Richard S. Parker, president of the American Society of Engineers which a week ago proposed a large public works bond issue.

"It is generally agreed," wrote Mr. Hoover, "that the balancing of the federal budget and unimpaired national credit is indispensable to the restoration of confidence and to the very start of economic recovery. The administration and congress have pledged themselves to this end. A 'public works' program, such as is suggested by your committee and by others, through the issuance of federal bonds creates at once an enormous further deficit.

"What is needed is the return of confidence and a capital market through which credit will flow in the thousand rills with its result of employment and increased prices. That confidence will be only destroyed by action in these directions. These channels will continue clogged by fears if we continue attempts to issue large amounts of government bonds for purposes of nonproductive works."

Like Bomb Shell on Congress.

The President's utterance fell like a bombshell in the ranks of the house and senate Democrats committed either to the revised Robinson plan proposing a 500 million dollar bond issue for federal public works or to the Garner plan which includes a 1 billion dollar bond issue for this purpose.

Democratic leaders indicated that they would fight the President on this issue even at the risk of prolonging further the session of congress now embroiled over the billion dollar tax increase bill to balance the budget.

The President, it was learned tonight, intends to follow up his blow at the public works bond issue scheme with efforts this week to put pressure on the senate to cease quarreling over the tariff and to pass the tax bill without further delay.

The depression relief legislation is scheduled for the concluding work of the session, which most of the senate and house leaders now believe will continue through the Republican, if not the Democratic national conventions.

Put Burdens Upon Taxpayers.

In his letter to Mr. Parker, Mr. Hoover said the public works bond issue plan proposes the construction of many works of "remote usefulness" which would "impose unbearable burdens upon the taxpayer, unbalancing the budget, and demoralize public credit." A larger and more effective relief of unemployment, he argued, would flow from increased aid to "income producing works," by which he means state, county and municipal waterworks, toll bridges, toll tunnels, docks and other works the earning capacity of which provides a return on investment.

With the return of prosperity bonds for such projects would be sold to investors and the loans by the reconstruction finance corporation would serve merely an emergency purpose.

The President would have the corporation make similar loans to private industry for income producing construction, provided the industry furnished part of the capital.

Nonproductive Works.

By nonproductive public works against which he inveighed the President said he meant public buildings, highways, streets, a river and harbor improvement, military and naval construction.

As an illustration Mr. Hoover compared the reconstruction finance corporation's 27 million dollar loan to the Pennsylvania railroad to aid in a 68 million dollar electrification which will provide employment for 28,000 men, with the bill passed by the house to expend an additional 132 million dollars on highway construction employing 55,000 men.

"In the one instance," said Mr. Hoover, "we recover the money advanced through the reconstruction corporation, we issue no government bonds, we have no charge on the taxpayer. In the other instance, we have not only a direct cost to the taxpayer but also a continuing maintenance charge, and furthermore, the highways in many sections have now been expanded beyond immediate public need.

Sees Plan Destroy Confidence.

"The proposal to build nonproductive 'public works' of the category I have described necessitates making increased appropriations by the congress. These appropriations must be financed by immediate increased taxation or by the issuance of government bonds. Whatever the method employed, they are inescapably a burden upon the taxpayer. If such a course is adopted beyond the amounts already provided in the budget now before congress for the next fiscal year, it will upset all possibility of balancing the budget, it will destroy confidence in government securities and make for the instability of the government which in result will deprive more people of employment than will be gained."

From January, 1930, to July 1, 1932, the government, said the President, will have expended 1 billion 500 millions on public works. The 1933 budget contains 575 millions compared with a normal 250 millions. By the end of next year the public works expenditure will have risen to 2 billions, an increase of 1 billion 200 millions.

"Thus," he continued, "we have largely anticipated the future and have rendered further expansion beyond our present program of very remote usefulness and certainly not justified for some time to come, even were there no fiscal difficulties. They represent building of a community beyond its necessities. We cannot thus squander ourselves into prosperity."

Authorized but uncompleted works aggregate 1 billion 300 million dollars. With 575 million dollars in the 1933 budget 725 million dollars remain of which only 100 million dollars represent immediately useful works, the construction of which would give work to fewer than 40,000 men.

"If it is contemplated," said Mr. Hoover, "that we legislate more authorizations of new and unconsidered projects by the congress we shall find ourselves confronted by a log rolling process which will include dredging of mud creeks, building of unwarranted postoffices, unprofitable irrigation projects, duplicate highways and a score of other unjustifiable activities.

"It will serve no good purpose and will fool no one to try to cover appearances by resorting to a so-called 'extraordinary budget.' That device is well known. It brought the governments of certain foreign countries to the brink of financial disaster. It means a breach of faith to holders of all government securities, an unsound financial program and a severe blow to returning confidence and further contraction of economic activities in the country.

"What you want and what I want is to restore normal employment. I am confident that if the program I have proposed to the congress is expeditiously completed and we have the coöperation of the whole community we will attain the objective for which we have been searching so long."

VICKI BAUM.

New York, May 23.—[Special.]—Thrown from a runaway horse, which had been frightened by a squirrel in a bridle path in the woods near Jamaica today, Vicki Baum, author of "Grand Hotel," was taken to a hospital suffering from possible concussion of the brain, a lacerated head, and fractures of at least two ribs. Capt. Arthur O'Brien of the 104th field artillery, who, with Mrs. O'Brien, was accompanying Mrs. Baum on a morning canter through the woods, put spurs to his horse and tried to overtake the runaway mount. But his own horse stepped into a mud hole, stumbled, fell, and rolled over on him. Capt. O'Brien's right shoulder was fractured.

YOUNG HOODLUM ESCAPES IN AUTO AT ST. CHARLES

Leaps Into Car with "42" Gangsters; Flees.

Michael Gallichio, 1213 Taylor street, described by the police as "the toughest 16 year old boy in the 42 gang," escaped yesterday afternoon from the St. Charles School for Boys, to which he had been committed as a automobile thief.

He had arrived at the school, for a second term there, on Friday. While most of the inmates were gathered on the grounds watching a drill corps perform, Michael and a number of other recent arrivals were being held in the receiving cottage near the entrance to the institution.

Leaps Into Automobile.

A large automobile, in which rode several youths believed to have been fellow-members of the 42 gang, was driven near the door. Young Gallichio, seizing a moment when a guard was looking the other way, leaped out the door and into the car. At high speed the car swept from the grounds and started toward Chicago.

Authorities at the school notified the Kane county authorities and the police at Elgin and Chicago. Messages were sent out for highway patrolmen to halt the car and seize all the occupants. Apparently, however, they eluded their pursuers and reached Chicago.

Young Gallichio was first sent to St. Charles early in 1931. He was paroled several months ago. Early last week he was caught in the loop while trying to steal an automobile, the same crime for which he was first sent down. Arraigned in the Juvenile court, he was ordered again to St. Charles, there to remain until he reaches his next birthday.

Sergt. Edward Ptacek of the Juvenile court staff said that despite his youth Gallichio had a long record as a thief, having started to steal automobiles before he was 14. At the detective bureau it was said he was a relative of another Michael Gallichio, who was taken for a ride and slain by gangland enemies in July, 1930, when he was only 17 years old.

COAST GUARDS RESCUE 4 BOATS PERILED BY WIND

Northeast winds which chopped up the waters of Lake Michigan gave a busy afternoon yesterday to Capt. John O. Anderson and a crew of the United States coast guard station at the mouth of the river.

The coast guardsmen were called first to the aid of three 35 foot sloops, the Unnamed Star, the Intruder and the Aeolus, which were being towed to Belmont harbor by the power boat Paul. Off Oak street beach the Paul became temporarily disabled and the sloops were being pushed into shore by the wind. Capt. Anderson and his men arrived in time to take them in tow. The Paul got away under its own power.

Back at the station less than five minutes, Capt. Anderson was called out again, this time to help the Gypsy, a catboat equipped with an outboard motor. A spray of water had wet the ignition of the motor. Capt. Anderson towed the boat and its occupants, two women and a man, to the station.

'GLACIER PRIEST' FIRST TO CLIMB 9,400 FOOT VOLCANO IN ALASKA

BY FATHER BERNARD R. HUBBARD

[Santa Clara university professor known as the "glacier priest" because of his exploits in Alaska.]

FALSE PASS, Alaska, May 22.—(AP)—A party of two students and myself on May 16 successfully made the first ascent of Mount Shishaldin, a volcano on Unimak island which was in extensive eruption two months ago. We reached the summit of the 9,400 foot cone, which was still emitting ashes and flowing lava, six days ago.

The climb was made in a blizzard by Kenneth Chisholm, George Peterson and myself in 21 hours. Jack Morton, the other student member of the expedition, had to turn back before the summit was reached. On the last 2,000 feet of the ascent I found the hardest going of any mountain climbing I have ever tackled. We spent over an hour in the last hundred feet to the summit, from which billowing clouds of escaping smoke and gasses poured forth.

After a short time at the summit and a thorough warming through the heated cinders, we turned back. On the way down we again encountered a raging blizzard. Not until late the following morning did we drag ourselves back to our base camps.

GRAND JURY DUE TO HEAR CURTIS' LINDERGH HOAX

New York, May 23.—[Special.]—With the investigation of the kidnaping and murder of Col. Charles A. Lindburgh's baby devoid of progress today so far as official reports disclosed, interest in the case swung again to John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk boat builder and bogus negotiator. He is in the Hunterdon county jail at Flemington, N. J., on charges of giving false information and hindering the hunt for the criminals.

The Hunterdon county grand jury will convene tomorrow, but it was not certain tonight whether it would take up the Curtis case at once. In advance of others already scheduled. But in any event it is expected to reach the Curtis case this week.

Curtis' attorney, William C. Pender of Norfolk, conferred with him again at the jail, after a visit to the police headquarters in the Lindbergh garage, where he talked with Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck Jr. He had just returned from Philadelphia, where he was understood to have tried unsuccessfully to raise $10,000 bail for his client.

8 POINT ECONOMY PROGRAM BEFORE ALDERMEN TODAY

Advisory Commission Plan Faces Opposition.

The finance committee of the city council will resume work this morning on the city budget for 1932, with one of the orders of business being consideration of the various recommendations for economies submitted by the mayor's advisory commission.

These recommendations were compiled after the staff of J. L. Jacobs & Co., efficiency engineers, had spent months studying conditions in the city hall. They affect every department of the city government except those under the jurisdiction of the Municipal courts, election commissioners, public library and the board of education.

Favors Retaining Men.

When asked to comment yesterday on the finance committee's action thus far on the recommendations, Mayor Dermak said:

"The advisory commission is disturbed because the council apparently is not in favor of adopting its report in full, but I'm not in favor of throwing men out in the streets under present conditions."

The major recommendations by the commission, of which Sewell L. Avery is chairman, follow:

1. Elimination of unnecessary positions and employés.

County Assessor Jacobs estimated that this would affect 2,800 or 2,900 employés. The commission, however, has altered its original plan and has provided that city work be staggered so that these employés would not be thrown out of jobs entirely. The finance committee on Friday decided to continue the 78 days' pay cut in the budget instead of abolishing jobs.

2. Consolidation and reorganization of certain city departments and bureaus.

3. Coördination of related services and the elimination of unnecessary duplication.

One of the changes proposed under points Nos. 2 and 3 is to establish a department of regulatory inspections which would combine building inspection, electrical inspection, boiler inspection, smoke inspection, city sealer's office, plumbing inspection, city markets, department of public service, and boards of examiners.

Includes Police Reorganization.

Other changes are to shift the license department to the city collector's office; the city physician, department of public welfare and fire ambulance service to the department of health; department of compensation to department of public works; consolidate all building repair and maintenance bureaus; reorganize the police department; combine the rivers and harbors and navy pier bureaus with the bureau of city parks, and the harbor master and bridge tenders with the city engineer's office.

4. Establishment of a central purchasing system, providing for standardization of specifications, free competition, control over purchasing, contracting, delivery and storing of supplies, materials and equipment.

Fourteen separate departments do their own purchasing now, according to the commission, which believes that $3,000,000 a year could be saved through this consolidation. The commission says that nearly $3,000,000 more could be saved because of reduction of commodity prices.

5. Simplification of administrative and office methods and practices, and utilization of modern labor saving devices.

6. Improvement in examination methods, service ratings and employment plans to bring about more effective civil service administration.

7. Reclassification of civil service positions to assure like pay for like work.

Favors Reclassifying Now.

The finance committee has agreed to reclassify positions as they become vacant, but disapproved a suggestion to specify in the budget what positions should be reclassified.

8. Centralization of fiscal and accounting services under one department looking to effective financial control and simplified reporting on municipal services, costs and expenditures.

The finance committee is on record in favor of the consolidation of the building repair bureaus and the transfer of the city physician and ambulance service to the health department. It decided to retain the department of public welfare separate, and has deferred until today the other recommendations.

In the matter of centralized purchasing Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, who says his department now purchases 80 per cent of city supplies, has prepared a substitute ordinance which he will submit to the aldermen.

"The recommended ordinance," said Col. Sprague, "provides for a number of bureaus and adds $75,000 to the setup. I see no sense in that now. This department now purchases 80 per cent of city supplies and reports show our storekeeping system works satisfactorily."

WORK IN GARDEN TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Mrs. Robert Aber Clark (left) and Mrs. Malcolm Shroyer on their way to Mrs. Shroyer's garden near Barrington where vegetables will be raised by friends of the Arden Shore camp near Lake Bluff, where needy mothers and children are cared for in summer.

To Raise Vegetables

Residents of Barrington already are planning on dividing the produce of their vegetable gardens this summer with Arden Shore at Lake Bluff, as they did last year. The fresh vegetables from the plots set aside to aid the food supply for the 500 needy mothers and children vacationing there constitutes an aid to the operating plan of the camp.

The generous response of the previous summer to the work of raising these additional vegetables for the camp is being repeated this year. The committee that will have charge of collecting the vegetables and delivering them to Arden Shore includes Mrs. Malcolm Shroyer, Mrs. Schuyler Thurber, and Mrs. Robert Hilton, with Mrs. Robert Ober Clark as general chairman in Barrington. Among those who will have the Arden Shore plots in their gardens are Mrs. Sumner Mead, Mrs. William Horne Jr., Mrs. John Douglass, Mrs. Lafayette Markle, Mrs. Randolph Payson, Mrs. Sanford B. White, Mrs. Russell Pettengill, Mrs. Harlan Canby Jr., Mrs. Warren McCracken, Mrs. James R. Cardwell, Mrs. Sheldon Clark, and Mrs. Edwin L. Read.

FREEDOM FOR MISS LINDGREN UP TO MUELLER

Whether Miss Lavergne Lindgren, former cashier of the closed People's State Bank of Maywood, will be freed or whether she must face another trial on criminal charges rests with Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller.

Miss Lindgren was convicted, with Elmer P. Langguth, former president, of making false statements to bank examiners. Both were sentenced to prison for 1 to 10 years and Langguth is serving his sentence. Miss Lindgren, however, was given a new trial by the Illinois Supreme court, and when tried again was acquitted.

Today she is scheduled to appear before Judge John Prystalski on a charge of accepting deposits knowing the bank to be insolvent. Mueller has has said this would be a more difficult charge to prove because Miss Lindgren was a subordinate official; but he declared he would make no decision until the case is called in court.

GIRL IDENTIFIED AS EMISSARY OF HOLDUP GANG

Last Friday Jule Lebovitz, 1423 South Karlov avenue, attended the detective bureau showup and identified Albert Dinni, 21 years old, 2442 Marmora avenue, as the bandit who held him up in his home afte gaining entrance on the pretense of delivering a package. As he was leaving the building after the showup, a woman approached him and offered to return $10 which was taken from him if he would drop prosecution. Yesterday police arrested Betty Stone, 20 years old, 2342 Jackson boulevard, a taxi dancer, who was the sweetheart of Anthony Pamilo, 1404 Weldon street, arrested with Dinni, and Lebovitz identified her as the gang's emissary.

Shoots Boy and Captures Three in Burglary Attempt

Sergt. Henry McInerney of the Pekin Inn police shot one youth and captured him and three companions early yesterday after they attempted to break into an A. and P. store at 2424 Wentworth avenue. The wounded youth, John Bagnola, 216 West 24th street, was taken to the Bridewell hospital. The other prisoners were Vencent Alnie, 51 East 16th street; George Sceulin, 220 Wes. 24th street, and Charles Ciolnio, 247 West 24th street. Each is 17 years old.

NORMAN THOMAS RENOMINATED BY SOCIALIST PARTY

Milwaukee, Wis., May 22. — (AP) — Norman Thomas today was nominated as the party's candidate for President of the United States by the national Socialist party in convention here.

The prominent New York Socialist worker's nomination was unanimous by acclamation. His name was presented to the convention by Louis Waldman of New York, who declared Thomas to be a candidate who "would not cater to the extremes."

In the 1928 presidential election, Waldman said, Thomas lost the presidency but won international prestige.

The nomination of Mr. Thomas was seconded by Daniel W. Hoan [mayor of Milwaukee], Joseph W. Sharts of Ohio, and Oscar Ameringer of Oklahoma.

James H. Maurer of Pennsylvania was nominated for Vice President. Mrs. Victor L. Berger, widow of the Milwaukee Socialist publisher and congressman, was placed in nomination, but she withdrew.

JOB CAMPAIGN FINDS WORK FOR 6,923 IN CITY

Victor A. Olander, chairman of the committee which has conducted a reemployment campaign in Chicago during the last two months, said yesterday that the work had resulted in jobs for 6,147 men and 776 women.

"Most of the jobs pledged were temporary," he stated, "but 773 men and 314 women have been given regular work. We estimate that the expenditure on these jobs will reach $3,600,000."

Also, Mr. Olander said, five railroads will give 6,000 men an average of 120 days work each in the next six months.

WARNING FIRST STEP IN WAR ON NIGHT PARKING

Police Ready to Start Enforcing Ban.

Enforcement of the ordinance against all-night parking of automobiles on Chicago streets started at 2 o'clock this morning.

CAPT. MATTHEW ZIMMER.

No car owners were hauled out of bed for violating the ordinance, however, and until tomorrow no summonses will be served upon violators. Police were instructed last night that the first night's work was to consist merely of surveys of the situation, coupled with the posting of warnings that further violations will mean arrests.

Assigned to Each District.

Two men were assigned to the task in every police district in the city, and in some of the larger residential districts the details numbered six or eight men. The manner in which the drive is to be carried out was outlined Saturday to police captains' secretaries at a meeting conducted at the detective bureau by Capt. Matthew Zimmer, in charge of the stolen automobile bureau.

He instructed the secretaries that the campaign is to be conducted with the least annoyance possible to the public. The practice of towing parked cars to public garages, used under a former city administration, is banned.

The anti-parking ordinance, passed in 1927, provides that no automobile shall be parked on a public street between 2 and 6 a. m. for more than an hour. Police assigned to its enforcement were instructed to confine their efforts from 2 to 4 a. m. today to a survey of their districts, taking the license numbers of all parked cars.

They got specific instructions that any young men who may have pulled up in front of their girl friends' homes to bid their companions good night were not to be molested. At 4 a. m. the parking details were told to make a second round, affixing stickers to the windshields of all cars which they found parked before.

Tomorrow night police will leave summonses on the cars, ordering the owners to appear in court. The ordinance provides fines of $2, $3, and $5.

CHICAGO WOMAN KILLED, 2 INJURED IN AUTO SMASHUP

Mrs. Steve Truhan of Chicago was instantly killed and her husband and another man were critically injured yesterday when their automobile went into a ditch near Nokomis, Ill. They had been attending a wedding party at Witt, four miles from there. Truhan and Michael Chervinko of Witt, the other victim, were taken to a hospital at Pana.

Dr. Eugene B. Appleget, 65 years old, 4426 Berkeley avenue, a retired physician, walked into the side of an automobile driven by James Kesler, 1038 East 65th street, at 43d street and Cottage Grove avenue last night. He was taken to the Chicago hospital, where it was said he suffered a fracture of the skull.

The body of a man killed Saturday night at 14th street and Western avenue by an automobile was identified yesterday as that of Thomas Boras, 35 years old, 1725 South State street, a truck driver and a former policeman in Indiana Harbor, Ind. Orvin Holte, 2063 Congress street, driver of the car, was held for the inquest today.

Boras' death was the 420th motor fatality of the year in Cook county.

LONDON GREETS LONE ATLANTIC WOMAN FLYER

Mrs. Putnam Is Guest of U. S. Embassy.

considerable confusion during the reception when "muscle men" employed by the Newsreel company, which attempted to gain exclusive pictures, staged a few fist fights trying to prevent rivals from obtaining pictures during the official greeting by Ambassador Mellon, staged in front of the crowd on the steps of the Hanworth clubhouse.

"Do you think they mean it?" Ambassador Mellon asked Mrs. Putnam as a movie camera was knocked from an operator's hands and the photographer replied by grabbing the broken camera and cracking his attacker over the head.

Mrs. Putnam stepped from the plane into the rainstorm clad in her flying garments—long riding breeches and a leather jacket. Asked to pose in the leather coveralls which were in her flying kit, she quickly obliged, sheltering herself from the rain under a wing of the plane. She was handed a helmet with wires attached such as students use to receive instructions from pilots.

"No, no, that won't do; it's an obvious fake," she declared.

Mellon Congratulates Her.

As Ambassador Mellon welcomed Mrs. Putnam at the clubhouse he said:

"Every true American will be proud of Miss Earhart. I will say no more because I consider it her day and the cheers should be for her."

Then she was handed Prime Minister MacDonald's following message of welcome:

"Please give my friend, Miss Earhart my warmest congratulations on her splendid solo flight—the most outstanding solo flight of this nature ever made by a woman. Not only has Miss Earhart shown great courage, resource, and intelligence, but great skill as a pilot and navigator, and we are very proud of your distinguished guest."

Americans on Hand.

Other Americans to greet her at the clubhouse were Lieut. Col. Cortlandt Parker, military attaché; Lieut. Com. George D. Murray, assistant naval attaché. Great Britain was officially represented by the marquess of Londonderry, secretary of state for air.

After the reception, Mrs. Putnam was driven to the headquarters of the British Broadcasting corporation, where she talked to the United States.

Mrs. Putnam landed here "broke." The $20 her husband had given her on her departure was almost exhausted. Mr. Putnam has cabled her $500 which she will obtain tomorrow.

Two Killed Carrying Pictures.

Mrs. Putnam's ocean flight was marred by a tragedy today.

Two men met their death carrying pictures, of her landing in Ireland, to London. E. V. Barton, photographer of the London Daily Sketch, and Maj. Colin Clarke, pilot, crashed in the fogbound mountains of Scotland.

Mrs. Putnam sent her sympathy at the "death of two charming men" to their families. She expressed great sorrow that they had been killed because of her appearance in Great Britain.

RADIO TALK OVER W-G-N.

Ice forming on the wings of her plane and flames shooting from the exhaust manifold made her trans-Atlantic crossing "very interesting," Amelia Earhart Putnam said yesterday in a radio interview in London. The broadcast, over the Columbia network, was heard in Chicago over station W-G-N and interested thousands here where the aviatrix once lived. Mrs. Putnam was graduated from Hyde Park High school in 1915.

As candid as she is courageous, Mrs. Putnam confessed that her flight "means nothing to aviation." This admission strengthened the belief of Chicago friends that her major reason for making the flight was to vindicate her position of four years ago, when she went along, as she said then, only as "excess baggage."

ONE KILLED, ANOTHER SHOT AS RESULT OF BRAWL AT PARTY

ISAAC LIEBERMAN.

One man dead and another one wounded was the result yesterday of a west side party brawl late Saturday night. The slain man, Harold Topel, 30 years old, 1540 South Kostner avenue, was an innocent victim, his family said.

The fight occurred at 1424 South Kostner avenue, where Miss Sue Lieberman, 21 years old, was hostess to a group of friends in a third floor apartment. Eight unidentified rowdies broke into the place, starting a fight which carried down to the first floor, where Miss Lieberman's brother, Isaac, lives. He was roughly handled by the hoodlums and fired at them with a rifle as they ran in front of the house.

Topel was hit twice, dying shortly afterward. Paul Sieber, 21 years old, 1539 South Kenneth avenue, was struck in the right arm. He did not notify police and the fact he had been wounded did not reach their attention until noon yesterday. He denied being one of the rowdies. Topel, sole support of his father and six brothers and sisters, was walking homeward after visiting a friend when he was caught in the line of fire. Lieberman is being held for the inquest today.

DO-X LANDS IN SPAIN

VIGO, Spain, May 22.—(AP)—The 12 motored flying boat DO-X dropped here tonight at 7:40 p. m. [2:40 p. m. Chicago time] for an overnight stop on its flight from the United States to Lake Constance, Switzerland.

The German seaplane was greeted by huge Sunday crowds as it circled the city several times before alighting in the harbor. The ship made the fourth leg of its homeward flight from Horta, Azores, in 40 minutes less than twelve hours, having left there at 6:20 a. m., Azores time.

Many persons in small boats were permitted to inspect the craft as it lay in the harbor for the last projected leg of its flight. The 14 persons aboard were taken off for a banquet given by the German colony and later lodged in a hotel for the evening.

Rudy's Friends Fail to Meet Him at the Station

Rudy Vallee, the crooner, spent two hours yesterday morning in a high pique at the Dearborn street station, waiting for friends who failed to show up to take him to spend the day in the country. He arrived from Detroit with Mrs. Vallee on a special train which carried the company of George White's "Scandals" for its opening in Chicago.

Breaks Statue of Nude; Says Fiancee Was Model

MADRID, May 22.—(AP)—Juan Rodrigues Casanova was arrested today for breaking the statue of a nude woman shown at the national art exposition. He said he was infuriated because his fiancée had served as the model for the work. The statue was the work of Emilio Aladreu del Frojo.

MRS. PUTNAM'S OWN STORY OF ATLANTIC HOP

Landed in Ireland Because of Strained Motor.

(Amelia Earhart Putnam, in a statement to the Associated Press, gives her immediate plans and tells how she flew the Atlantic from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to Culmore, northern Ireland, in the record time of 14 hours and 54 minutes.)

BY AMELIA EARHART PUTNAM.

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

LONDON, May 22.—I will leave Europe for home about June 10 without going back to Ireland, where I landed yesterday after my flight from Harbor Grace, N. F.

I sort of hate to leave my plane up there, but there is a man here in whom I have faith to dismantle and pack it, so I am going to let him do it and ship it back to the United States for me.

So I won't go back to Ireland after all. But I am going to Rome, probably during this week.

Plans Shopping Trip.

First, I am going shopping early tomorrow morning. I had to borrow some clothes from friends at the American embassy, but I can't keep borrowing forever.

My start Friday from Newfoundland was delayed a little bit to have time to fix up all the customs requirements. They gave me clearance papers just as if I were captain of a ship and I filled a blank space saying I was going to Paris. I wasn't sure where I was going, but that did just as well as any other.

For the first four hours out I had beautiful weather and I could see the sky and ocean. Everything was lovely.

Then all of a sudden I ran into rain squalls and heavy wind. Then my exhaust manifold burned out and bright red flames began shooting out of the side.

Altimeter Goes Wrong.

I was not frightened, but it isn't any fun to have those flames so near you. If there were an oil or gas leak it might cause trouble.

Then my altimeter went wrong—the first time in my ten years of flying.

It was dark and cloudy and raining and there was nothing for me to do but start climbing. I fixed an easy gradient and kept it up for some time.

Then I discovered my tachometer had frozen, so I knew I was high enough.

Ice formed on my wings and I had to drop lower.

It was only twice after that I caught a glimpse of the ocean. I had no measure to tell how high the waves were, or how high I was above them—maybe 100 feet, maybe 300.

Catches Glimpse of Ocean.

When the morning of Saturday came I was flying between two blankets of clouds.

It was here that my eye caught the second glimpse of the ocean. I saw waves running before a northwest wind and thinking I was pretty far south, I turned due east. The result was that I hit Ireland in about the middle.

I had plenty of fuel and could have kept right on to Paris, maybe further, but my motor was straining so after sighting land, which I knew must be Ireland, that I decided to come down.

I could see peat bogs and thatched huts beneath me. I headed north along a railroad and after awhile flew over Londonderry at exactly 13 hours and 15 minutes, according to my time, after my departure. Fifteen minutes later I landed. [A careful computation of time on her flight made in London gives Mrs. Putnam's flying time at 14 hours and 54 minutes.]

ROBS GIRL IN HALLWAY.

Fillmore street police were notified yesterday that a bandit held up Miss Regina Cywan, 22 years old, in the hallway of her home at 3806 West 13th street, late Saturday night, and robbed her of $75.

PRESERVE LOSES THE 400 MILLION IT JUST 'FOUND'

Board Revises Controller Mulac's Proposal.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

EMMETT WHEALAN

The county board has turned thumbs down on the recommendation of Rudolph Mulac Jr., controller of the forest preserves, to add $404,233,632 in taxable property to the proposed budget of the preserves, it was revealed yesterday. This proposal in effect would have put the county commissioners in the position of estimating taxable property in Cook county at $4,000,000,000 last March 5 for the county budget and then a few months later of "finding" $400,000,000 of new property to tax in the forest preserve budget. But any such plan has been definitely discarded.

"I caught that as soon as the budget was presented," said President Emmett G. Whealan of the county board yesterday, "and ordered it reduced."

The same commissioners who adopted the county budget with its taxable property estimate of $4,000,000,000, are ex-officio commissioners of the forest preserve district. When Controller Mulac of the preserves presented his budget last week he recommended that the taxable property be valued at $4,404,233,632. It is exactly the same property in the same year.

Calls It Ridiculous.

"That would be ridiculous," commented President Whealan yesterday. "In addition to reducing the property valuation to four billion, I have recommended that the tax rate for the forest preserve corporate fund and for the zoölogical gardens be reduced from 1½ cents for each to 1 cent for each, in both 1931 and 1932.

"That is a cut of 33 1-3 per cent. Show another local government which has trimmed so much.

"On a four billion property valuation and an authorized tax rate of 1½ cents, we could levy $600,000 in taxes a year for the operating fund of the forest preserves and also the same amount for the zoölogical gardens. By cutting the rate to 1 cent, we will levy only $400,000 for each and that will be our policy for both 1931 and 1932. Instead of levying $2,400,000 for those two purposes, in the two years, we will ask only $1,600,000, a saving of $800,000.

"From another viewpoint, by eliminating that $800,000 we are saving the people a year's taxes for these two purposes in 1931 and 1932. Find that equivalent in another local government if you can."

Budget Being Revised.

Mr. Whealan said that the forest preserve budget is being revised in accordance with these instructions.

This practically discards the tax estimates of Controller Mulac. In addition to his ideas on taxable values, his budget shows some unusual theories on loss and cost of collecting taxes. Mr. Mulac estimates in his revenue figures that the loss and cost of collecting the 1930 taxes for operating expenses of the forest preserves will be 15 per cent. But the loss and cost of taxes for bonds and interest for the same year he estimates at only 12.5 per cent.

For 1931 he says the loss for operating expense will be 15 per cent, but for bonds and interest only 11.4 per cent; and for 1932 the loss for operating will be 15 per cent, but for bonds and interest will be 12.1 per cent.

Controller Mulac apparently reasons there is a considerable number of property owners who will insist upon paying taxes for bonds and interest but who will refuse to pay taxes for operating the forest preserves. This is in conflict with the view of all other local governments.

RADIO INDUSTRY RISKS MILLIONS ON TRADE UPTURN

Official Confident; Trade Show Opens Today.

The radio industry is so confident good times will return soon that it is risking $200,000,000 on its chances in 1932, according to J. Clarke Coit, president of the Radio Manufacturers' association, whose eighth annual convention and trade show opens today in the Stevens hotel.

A large part of this expenditure has been made in constructing new machinery and dies and retooling, and the remainder will go for raw materials, labor, and overhead expenses in the next few months, Mr. Coit declared.

CLARKE COIT.

"There are about 16,000,000 receiving sets in operation now," he said, "and many of them are obsolete. There should be a good volume of replacements. Besides, there are 13,500,000 American homes still not radio equipped. We believe that the record of last year, when 3,500,000 sets and 50,000,000 tubes were sold, will be bettered."

Prices of sets, Mr. Coit said, have been stabilized and are showing a tendency toward further strength.

The convention, which is expected to attract 15,000 executives, engineers and distributors, will continue for four days. Several special trains are to arrive this morning. The visitors who remain over until Friday will be taken on a tour of the Century of Progress buildings.

When the trade show opens this afternoon in the Stevens more than 100 manufacturers will have the latest model sets on exhibition. Included will be television sets. Several of the manufacturers also will display electric refrigerators and other appliances.

Allied organizations holding their conventions at the same time are the National Broadcasters' association, the Newspaper Radio Editors' association and the Institute of Radio Service Men.

Mayor Cermak is to deliver an address of welcome tomorrow morning, when a joint meeting of all the groups will be held.

HAWLEY TRAILS G. O. P. RIVAL IN OREGON PRIMARY

Portland, Ore., May 22.—(AP)—Defeat of Willis C. Hawley, veteran Republican representative in congress seeking renomination in Oregon's primary Friday, was apparent today as returns from all but a few scattering precincts showed James W. Mott, corporation commissioner, had outrun him by 700 votes.

The count stood: Mott, 30,753; Hawley, 30,020, with only 23 small precincts missing.

Hawley has represented Oregon twenty years. Mott will be opposed in November by Harvey Starkweather, who leads William Delzell for the Democratic nomination by less than 300.

Ex-Senator France, whose name was alone on the Republican presidential ticket, polled 62,026 votes; there were 24,516 write-ins for President Hoover. On the Democratic side Roosevelt received 44,342 votes and Murray got 10,689.

Walter Gleason, prohibition repeal candidate, is leading Elton Watkins, a dry, by 175 votes for the Democratic senatorial nomination. The winner will meet Senator Frederick Steiwer, Republican.

HORSE BUSINESS BOOMS AS FARM TRACTORS IDLE

Harness and Repair Orders Reach New Peak.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Sales to midwest farmers of harness, machinery, repair parts, and horse drawn equipment attachments for the first five months of 1932 will exceed those of any period in recent years, it was predicted yesterday by officials of mail order houses and wholesalers of farm equipment.

WAYNE DINSMORE.

Low farm commodity prices, which have made home grown feeds for horses more economical than the purchase of fuel for motor powered equipment, were given as the cause.

Horse Prices Higher.

"Manufacturers of horse harness such as halters, collars, hames, and other items have reported steadily mounting sales in recent months," declared Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse Association of America. "This is in line with reports from farmers in the good farming sections of the middle west that work horses and mules have been bringing higher prices at farm auctions than for several years."

In a four day survey of some of the best farming sections of Illinois and Iowa last week, Mr. Dinsmore reported there were 18 horses at field work for every tractor seen in operation. Interviews with farmers in the fields, veterinarians, harness dealers, blacksmiths, and small town bankers and business men indicated that fewer tractors and more horses are being used this year and that fully half of the tractors are not being used in field work, he said.

Horses Lead All Livestock.

"They also said that most farmers are using every available horse, and that horses and mules brought better prices proportionately than any other livestock on farms this year," stated Mr. Dinsmore. "This is in line with our earlier reports that farmers are raising more colts in the last two years than formerly, a condition which will continue for several years."

Ellis McFarland, secretary of the Percheron Horse association, said that purebreds, while selling at low prices, are bringing a premium over grade horses in farm sales. A cash price of $1,000 for a stallion and $300 for a purebred mare are considered about the top this year.

Gains in Colts Continue.

More purebred colts are being raised this year than last, and more were raised last year than in 1930, he said. The demand is for horses weighing 1,400 to 1,500 pounds, these weights bringing higher prices than the heavy 1,800 to 1,900 pound horses. No auctions are being held by breeders since private sales among farm buyers have disposed of surplus stock.

Blacksmiths who three years ago were ready to become garage owners are finding brisk business in repairs of machinery. Hundreds of farmers' orders for machine repairs are received in a single wholesale farm machinery plant daily, and have been coming in all spring, it was found.

TWO VETERANS POSTS UNITE IN GUN DEDICATION

A British howitzer was dedicated yesterday in Harrison park, 18th and Wood streets, by the members of the Kenneth M. Copley post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Woodrow Wilson post, Polish Legion of American Veterans.

Among the speakers were T. Buynowski, Police vice consul in Chicago; C. Hibner, vice president of the Polish National Alliance, and Stanley Hlaick, commander-in-chief of the Polish Legion of American Veterans.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars also held a memorial ceremony yesterday in Welles park, Montrose and Western avenues. Several hundred persons attended. Five bands participated.

Aviation Notes

The aviation committee of the Association of Commerce has appointed a committee of five to coöperate with officials of the Century of Progress, Chicago's 1933 World's Fair, on aviation matters. The committee includes George B. Foster, chairman; Paul M. Browne, Prof. Fred B. Fagg Jr., Henry L. Kellogg, and Lewis W. King.

Miss Margaret Guild, assistant secretary of the Illinois aeronautics commission, is learning to fly at Sky Harbor Flying club in Northbrook.

E. M. (Matty) Laird has completed the design of a new racing plane, the third in a series of "Solutions." The first Solution won the Thompson trophy race at the National Air Races here in 1930 piloted by the late Charles (Speed) Holman. The second Solution won the Bendix transcontinental dash last fall piloted by Maj. James H. Doolittle. Mr. Laird has proposed that air minded Chicagoans build the third Solution, to enter it in both the Thompson and Bendix races at the National Air Races this fall.

Western Air Express, which claims to have operated the first regular schedule air passenger lines, will celebrate the flying of 100,000,000 passenger miles today without serious or fatal injury to any of its 70,000 passengers. The company started carrying passengers between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City on May 23, 1926.

CRITICIZED FOR IDLENESS, SHOOTS EX-WIFE, COUSIN

Michael Gillette, 45 years old, shot his former wife, Mrs. Doris Kirby, and her cousin, Mrs. Leona Fisher, yesterday, following a quarrel in a rooming house at 3124 South Michigan avenue.

Both women were taken to Michael Reese hospital where it was said that their condition is serious. Mrs. Kirby had been caring for Gillette, who police were told is mentally defective. The quarrel started when she upbraided him for not getting out of bed and looking for work. Mrs. Fisher was shot when she went to the aid of her cousin. Gillette surrendered to police.

CITY TO REGAIN FASTEST PLANE POSTAL SERVICE

New Craft to Cut Coast Time Four Hours.

Chicago will regain its reputation for the fastest tronscontinental air mail service next September when United Air Lines begins to replace present equipment with sixty new type transport planes that will carry ten passengers and 500 pounds of mail and express, at a cruising speed of 155 miles an hour. P. G. Johnson, president of the United Air Lines, announced an order for the new transports Saturday.

On the first of the year Transcontinental and Western Air Lines, which operates from New York to Los Angeles on a southern route through Columbus, St. Louis, and Amarillo, Tex., put into effect a 24 hour transcontinental mail service. About 10 per cent of the volume of air mail carried by United Air Lines through Chicago was diverted to the faster service.

Time to Be Cut Four Hours.

With the new type transports, United Air Lines will provide both mail and passenger transcontinental service in 28 hours or less, and is expected to regain the lost 10 per cent of air mail volume and perhaps acquire more in addition. At present United Air Lines maintains a 27 hour service.

The passenger traffic of United Air Lines never has been threatened by the Transcontinental route. Although the latter system cut its mail schedule to 24 hours, its transcontinental passengers stay overnight in Kansas City, completing the trip from coast to coast in 36 hours. United Air Lines has continuous coast to coast passenger schedules that enable travelers to fly as fast as the mail.

Make Fewer Stops for Fuel.

United Air Lines carry nearly half the total volume of air mail in the United States and provide twice a day tri-motor passenger service from coast to coast, the only continuous night and day schedules between the two seaboards.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that the new type transports to be used on United Air Lines will be able to cruise 500 miles without refueling, making it possible to reduce stops for gasoline.

46 DUAL-GRID POWER OUTPUT—New attainments in tone quality. ¶ New fidelity range—Enormous reserve power handles sudden peaks without overloading, blasting or distortion. ¶ Tremendous power output—two '46's are capable of 25 watts maximum output—over six times the power output of two '45's ¶ Power to operate two speakers. ¶ New efficiency—Lower average plate drain than the '45 at similar outputs.

82 MERCURY-VAPOR RECTIFIER—Improved regulation—constant and lower voltage drop than type '80. ¶ Higher plate voltages increase receiver efficiency. ¶ Greater efficiency resulting from lower power loss. ¶ Greater flexibility in filter designs. ¶ Smaller bulb saves space.

56 SUPER-TRIODE AMPLIFIER—30% increase in sensitivity over the '27. ¶ Over 50% increase in amplification over the '27. ¶ 43% lower cathode power consumption than the '27. ¶ Reduced size and cost of power transformer. ¶ Saving in power costs. ¶ New quick heating cathode exceedingly quiet and hum-free. ¶ Special advantages in television and short wave circuits. ¶ Smaller bulb and base saves space.

57 TRIPLE-GRID AMPLIFIER—20% increase in mutual conductance over the '24. ¶ 50% increase in amplification. ¶ Twice the plate voltage swing of the '24 without distortion. ¶ 43% saving in power consumption through the use of the new 2.5 v. 1 amp. cathode. ¶ Quick heating cathode—quiet in operation. ¶ Better and more uniform volume control. ¶ Uniform detection. ¶ New circuit design possibilities. ¶ New mechanical structure of great strength and rigidity. ¶ Dome bulb and inverted screen resulting in lower inter-electrode capacities. ¶ Improved operation in television and short wave circuits. ¶ Adaptable to automatic volume control design.

58 TRIPLE-GRID SUPER-CONTROL AMPLIFIER—50% increase in mutual conductance over the '35. ¶ 75% increase in amplification and twice the plate impedance of the '35. ¶ Twice the plate voltage swing of the '35 without distortion. ¶ Quick heating cathode—quiet in operation. ¶ 43% saving in cathode current consumption. ¶ Less expensive power transformers. ¶ Saving in power consumption. ¶ Super-Control feature. ¶ New circuit design possibilities. ¶ Automatic Fidelity Control. ¶ New mechanical structure of great strength and rigidity. ¶ Smaller bulb and base saves space. ¶ Improved operation in television and short wave circuits.

BOGAN REVEALS SCHOOL PLAN FOR SAVING $49,790

Merging of Classes Part of Program.

Plans for effecting reductions and savings in school expenditures were announced yesterday by William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools. Some of his proposals have already been put in operation, while others await the sanction of the school board.

WM. J. BOGAN.

The projects which will be presented to the school board will bring about a saving of $49,790, according to Mr. Bogan. He outlined four plans.

The first suggestion is that six elementary schools, the enrollment in which has fallen to 550 pupils or fewer, be made branches of larger neighboring schools. This, Mr. Bogan declared, would bring a net saving of $22,000 a year. The names of the schools are withheld.

Would Combine Schools.

A second project would be to combine the Wells and Andersen elementary schools under one supervisory head to effect an $8,500 saving. Pupils of the Wells school have been housed in portables on the playground of the Andersen school at 1158 Newton street during the building of the Wells Junior High school.

Mr. Bogan advocates also the consolidation of the Medill Junior and Medill Senior High schools, housed in the same building at 1326 West 14th place, under one management for a saving of $11,270. At present each school has a separate principal, assistant principal and clerk.

A fourth project would be the closing of two elementary school branch buildings and sending the pupils to the main building, which would save in operation, maintenance and instructional expense about $8,020.

Mr. Bogan worked out the plans in conjunction with Don C. Rogers, director of research and building survey for the schools.

Acts on Economy Proposals.

The superintendent called attention to the fact that he has already started action on recommendations made by Dr. George D. Strayer and his staff from Columbia university.

These recommendations, expected to save approximately $500,000, will consist of: 1. Eliminating special teachers of manual training and household arts from 6th grade schools; 2. A program for elementary schools in which teachers of physical education will take the place of regular grade teachers; 3. In 8th grade elementary schools manual training and household arts teachers will teach full class programs all periods of the day.

Mr. Bogan said that $157,000 had been saved by consolidating twenty-two bureaus in the educational department administration offices into five divisions. The visual instruction section of the educational department will be moved to vacant space in the Kinzie elementary school at 150 West Ohio street. A saving of $6,500 in rent, which was formerly paid for the quarters at 460 South State street, will thus be made possible.

Money will be saved indirectly at the school enrollment next fall, the superintendent asserted, by diverting 2,600 9th grade pupils, who heretofore would have gone to senior high schools, to the various junior high schools. The school board has approved this plan.

Mr. Bogan will ask the board's approval of the establishment of a vocational high school in the Washburne continuation school building at 655 West 14th street in order to provide housing facilities for 500 students who might otherwise crowd into the already congested academic high schools. The superintendent pointed out that the Washburne school is one of the best equipped in the city.

MANY SEEK AID OF LEAGUE AS MARITAL GUIDE

New Service Is Explained by Dr. Yarros.

Inquiries are being received daily at the Illinois Social Hygiene league headquarters, 9 East Huron street, concerning the family consultation service under the supervision of the league which will be available to the public the first week in June. This consultation service will include premarital, marital, and parental information.

DR. RACHELLE YARROS.

Dr. Rachelle Yarros, a pioneer in this field, a professor of social hygiene of the University of Illinois, who, for 10 years has been making a practical study of the problems of married couples, will direct the work. A moderate fee will be charged to persons of average means, and it is the average, normal married persons and those contemplating marriage whom the service will aim to reach, Dr. Yarros said.

"Family Not Breaking Up."

"The institution of the family is not going to pieces," Dr. Yarros said yesterday in outlining what she hopes to accomplish in one of the first experiments of the kind undertaken in the United States. "It appears so to pedagogues and professors, but to me, a practical worker in social hygiene, there is change, but not destruction apparent. I see a great deal of idealism displayed, particularly by the younger generation. I see a desire on the part of both men and women to build finer, more honest and happier relations.

To Dr. Yarros romance and a scientific attitude are not incompatible. Therefore she proposes to give a basic knowledge of anatomy, biology, psychology, and sociology in relation to marriage, to young persons contemplating marriage. She will urge a follow-up consultation within three months after marriage, or at most a year. Included in what she calls "the sociology of marriage" she also will discuss economics with clients.

She Advises Parenthood.

"The spacing of children will be discussed, too," she said. "Nine out of ten young couples say they want children, and the tenth couple isn't sure. Now that parenthood can be made voluntary I find that women anticipate it with more happiness than they formerly did. I always advise a girl who says she and her fiance want children, to have her first child, preferably two children, before she's 30."

Although birth control information may in certain cases be a part of the general consultation service, such information will not be the primary aim, Dr. Yarros said.

Citing types of clients the service will have, Dr. Yarros said a mother and daughter came to her recently. The mother explained that the daughter was to be married. She said she hoped her daughter would be better fitted for marriage and motherhood than she had been.

"The sociology of marriage extends from discussion of the budget to the esthetics of love," Dr. Yarros continued. "Marriage is a contract and requires time and thought no less than a contract for a job. I shall ask the girl who is to be married what her occupation is to be.

"If she expects to be a housewife I warn her that if she is to be contented and to be worth something in her own mind she must have children, and must fit herself for that job. By having children she can attain a real status, social and economic."

Marriage requires consideration but not too much consideration, in Dr. Yarros' opinion. If one person is too considerate, she, or he, makes the other selfish, which the considerate one will begin to resent.

An important rule for newly married persons, Dr. Yarros said, is the opposite of the old rule that when an unpleasant thing occurs the wife should sulk, then forget it and never mention it. She advises: "When the anger wears off, talk it over, explain your side."

ROB COUPLE PARKING CAR.

Two men held up George Davidson, 2905 Seminary avenue, and his wife, Louise, early yesterday as they were putting their automobile in a garage behind their home, and robbed Davidson of $3.50 and his wife of jewelry valued at $200.

WOMAN MARKS 100TH BIRTHDAY, GUEST AT PARTY

Ten candles, each one marking a decade instead of a year, flickered bravely yesterday on the birthday cake tha marked the one hundredth anniversary of Miss Margaret Gorman. The centenarian, who was born in Ireland a hundred years ago yesterday, was the vortex around which eddied a constant stream of relatives and friends at the home of her nephew, William Gorman, 7440 Merrill avenue. There were about 100 guests for the reception held during the afternoon.

Miss Gorman was brought to America ninety-two years ago by her parents, the trip occupying twenty-three days. They came by train and by canal boat to Indiana, where they settled on a homestead in New Providence, Clark county. Hearing much about Chicago and its promising future in the years of the civil war, the Gorman family moved here in 1865, and built a house at 15th street and Racine avenue. For sixty years that dwelling was home to Miss Gorman. After the death of her sister, she devoted her life to raising the family of motherless children—six in all. She still retains good sight and hearing and is seldom ill.

MAIL PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX BILLS THIS WEEK

Jacobs Says New System Will Prevent "Fixing."

Assessor J. L. Jacobs yesterday announced that preparations for mailing of between 500,000 and 600,000 personal property schedules for the 1931 quadrennial revaluation will be started this morning. The schedules will be in the mail before the week is over, he said.

Each schedule will bear a registered number after the name of the person to whom it is sent, providing an easy and accurate method of record keeping. The system, it is said, also precludes the loss of schedules or the possible "fixing" of one by striking it from the files.

Trained Workers Ready.

The work of preparing the schedules, the envelopes, and the filing system, the assessor said, has been turned over to the women who are trained for such work in the machine section of the county clerk's office. Similar work was done by hand in the old assessor's office.

At the same time Assessor Jacobs revealed that approximately 20,000 special property schedules were mailed to banks and business concerns in Cook county late last week. These returns already are pouring into the office and experts are busy comparing them with known properties of the various companies.

Experts Fix Schedules.

The real estate technical committee, composed of 50 experts named by the Chicago Real Estate board, has prepared recommendations for land valuations and unit foot costs for various types of buildings. The committee will meet tomorrow evening with 100 representatives of every section of Chicago to discuss the figures.

Under the new acts passed by the legislature the personal property books are the first to be sent to the board of tax appeals. Just before the books are sent, or simultaneously, the personality assessments will be published and each taxpayers' assessment will be mailed out to him. If complaints are made every complaintant will be given a hearing. When these books finally are approved they will be sent to the county treasurer for extension of the taxes.

Real Estate Tax Procedure.

The real estate assessment books will be sent directly to the county clerk for extension and thence to the county treasurer for billing and collection. Afterward they will be returned to the board of tax appeals which then will hear complaints.

The 1931 taxes are to be extended in two installments under the new act. If changes are made in the assessment by the board these differences will be reflected in the second installment of the tax which will be varied to fit individual cases.

Stamp and Coin Collecting

Burglar Selects His Loot

A thief with discrimination entered the home of George E. Higgins at 5354 Iowa street yesterday. Higgins is a philatelist and dealer in old coins. The burglar picked out 4,000 foreign stamps which Higgins valued at $1,000, 300 foreign coins worth $300, 30 2½ dollar gold pieces, four $1 gold pieces, two revolvers, and two watches.

FIRE DESTROYS JAPANESE TROOP SHIP IN CHINA

Soldiers Periled by Munitions.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, May 23 (Monday).—The Japanese troop transport Bombay Maru, a 5,000 ton steamer, caught fire at 9 o'clock yesterday morning just as a part of the Japanese Ninth division started to go aboard to return to Japan.

Since the ship's hold was filled with gasoline and munitions, considerable excitement prevailed. The soldiers and crew hurriedly evacuated the vessel, after which the fire department cut the ship loose.

Explosion Prevented.

It floated downstream while the holds were pumped full of water which flooded the munitions and gasoline compartments and prevented explosions.

The ship was finally beached midway between Shanghai and Woosung. It was still burning and is thought to be a complete loss.

Japanese military or consular authorities did not issue a statement as to the cause of the fire, but Japanese newspaper men charged it was incendiary.

The ship was anchored alongside the wharf belonging to the South Manchuria railway here, which is closely guarded by Japanese military troops due to the presence of large stores of munitions.

The evacuation of the Ninth division, it was stated, will be delayed pending the arrival of another transport.

Jap Bank Bombed in Tientsin.

TIENTSIN, China, May 22.—(AP)—A bomb exploded in front of a bank on a main street in the Japanese concession at a busy marketing hour tonight, causing panic among the people. Two Chinese women were slightly injured and taken to a hospital.

FEDERAL AGENTS URGE INDUSTRIES TO AID CENSUS

A special force of ten federal census bureau agents will take the field this morning to complete the 1931 biennial census of manufacturers in Cook county. Approximately 65 per cent of the work has been completed by telephone. Unexpected difficulties have made the completion by personal calls a necessity.

The special force is working under the direction of H. L. Rockhill, chief special agent of the federal census bureau.

The questions on the schedules are in three major parts—wages, material costs, and value of manufactured products. A separate schedule is provided for each industry.

"If heads of industries would only realize," Mr. Rockhill said, "that completion of the census is vitally important to them and is utterly valueless until complete, I feel that we would get results much more quickly. Their coöperation at this time is of the utmost importance."

It is expected that thirty to sixty days will be needed for the completion of the survey. Final tabulations will be made and the results announced in Washington.

BAYONET VICTIM MAY DIE.

John J. Shakenmaer, 1528 Tell place, a painter, stabbed Adam Dorsh, 32 years old, of 1618 Division street, in the chest with a bayonet yesterday. At St. Mary's hospital it was said Dorsh may die. Shakenmaer told police Dorsh threatened him when he refused to do some painting on Sunday.

GRAVEL BYWAYS BECKON IN VAIN TO CITY DRIVERS

BY HAL FOUST.

Chicago's army of motorists, fleeing the familiar environment of congested residences, drove into the country yesterday but remained on crowded highways. The sunshine and blue skies attracted hundreds of thousands to the rural roads.

The city drivers, seeking diversion from the beaten path of daily routine, stayed with the herd on the marked and paved routes. Gravel byways through quiet woods and meadows, although just a mile or two from the main roads, were untraveled.

On the state highways there was a press of traffic demanding fast driving. The occasional slow driver was a menace as well as a nuisance, forcing others to pass him, sometimes with no little risk.

Drivers Miss Scenery.

So the city driver, with no objective, merely wanting a holiday from the flurry and stress of his working days, had to keep his mind on his driving, his eyes on the road, and his feet and hands on the controls.

Off the state highways, as shown by the map, are hundreds of miles of gravel within easy reach of the loop. THE TRIBUNE roadster left the holiday crowds yesterday and meandered over these byways at random, the driver occasionally consulting a map merely to identify a stream or to locate the general position of the car out of idle curiosity.

Traffic was so light that farmers looked up from their Sunday newspapers or from their weeding in flower gardens to watch an automobile pass. Lolling along at twenty or thirty miles an hour, the driver could watch cows grazing in pastures. There was no rush. There was time to ask the freckled faced boy with a bamboo fishing pole what luck he had had. The idling motor didn't drown the call of song birds.

Refuge for Slow Drivers.

It was dusty on these gravel roads but the dust was raised only by the passing of an infrequent car. There were few markers to tell where the byways were leading, but what's the difference when the main object of the drive was to be away from boulevards, street cars, apartment houses, skyscrapers, office desks and kitchen sinks?

The byways offer refuge for those who want to avoid the fast driving of the main highways.

CHICAGOLAND MAP.

The motoring season now is well under way. Add to its joys by getting a copy of the 1932 Chicagoland map. It's the most complete map of this territory. Every golf course, every forest preserve, every lake and river, every point of historical interest is accurately and plainly indicated. Twenty-five cents is the price at Chicago Tribune Public Service Offices—1 South Dearborn, Tribune Tower lobby, and 1101 East 63d street. Thirty cents will bring you a copy by mail.

MIKADO PICKS A SEA FIGHTER FOR HIS PREMIER

Admiral Saito, 75, Heads "Military" Cabinet.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, May 22.—Admiral Viscount Makoto Saito, a former governor of Corea, today received the command of the emperor of Japan to form a cabinet to replace the ministry which resigned after the assassination of Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai a week ago Emperor Hirohito acted on the advice of Prince Saioji, last of the elder statesmen, who was called upon to help solve the crisis.

Admiral Saito, who was Japan's assistant minister of navy during the Russo-Japanese war and who served as the chief delegate to the naval conference at Geneva in 1927, announced tonight after returning from the palace that he does not expect to submit the names of the ministers for a week.

This delay is not unprecedented, however, as in the case of a previous "coöperative" cabinet a month was required.

May Reappoint War Chief.

The new premier, who is 75 years old, was unable to give as yet any indication as to the personnel of his ministry, but it is presumed that Gen. Sadao Araki, resigned minister of war, or Lieut. Gen. Jinsaburo Mazaki, vice chief of the general staff, will become war minister and that Admiral Kiyotona Abo, naval minister in the last Minseito party cabinet, or Admiral Okada will occupy the navy portfolio.

Admiral Saito will call on Reijiro Wakatsuki, leader of the Minseito party and premier of the last Minseito cabinet, and Kisaburo Suzuki, president of the Seiyukai party [the party in power up until Inukai's assassination] tomorrow morning. It is believed in some circles that Wakatsuki may join the cabinet and that Suzuki will decline. It is certain, however, that the Seiyukai party will be represented in the ministry which, while not being a military dictatorship, will satisfy the military element.

Although Admiral Saito is known to be friendly with Baron Kijuro Shidehara, foreign minister in the last Minseito cabinet, with respect to his foreign policy, it is not considered likely that Shidehara will receive the foreign ministry, due to the opposition of the military.

Nation Approves Selection.

Observers disagree as to whether Kenkichi Yoshizawa, resigned Seiyukai party foreign minister, or Count Yasuga Uchida, both of whom are supported by the army and navy, will receive the foreign affairs portfolio.

Admiral Saito was born in Iwate prefecture in northern Japan in 1857. He won his greatest fame as governor general of Corea and is regarded as one of the finest men produced by the navy. His selection as premier has had immediate national approval. It is generally believed that Japan's relations with the United States and Great Britain will improve greatly, as he is credited with possessing a greater freedom of thought in relation to the two countries than any previous premier.

Except for his advanced age, there is no doubt in the minds of the people that he is best fitted to take the helm in the present crisis. He has never been a party man, although he has leaned slightly toward the Minseito.

Born of Poor Family.

He was born of a poor family. His first job was as an office boy in the prefectural government. He came to Tokio as a boy of 14 years and flunked his naval entrance examination, but entered a naval school as a substitute one year later.

After his graduation he rose rapidly despite the fact that he was not a "Satsuma clan" man. This attests greatly to his ability, for few outside the "Satsuma clan" ever rise as he did in the navy.

(The "Satsuma clan" takes its name from Satsuma, once a province of Japan. The greater portion of the higher officers in the Japanese navy come from Satsuma.)

He became vice minister under Admiral Count Gombei Yamamoto when he was only a captain and became naval minister under Prince Saionji, elder statesman, in 1906, serving in that post in five different cabinets.

Governor of Corea.

Later he was appointed governor general of Corea and held that position for eight years. Extremely democratic, Admiral Saito is greatly liked by his subordinates. His foreign policy is liberal. His one wish was to be able to die in Corea. This was denied him by the Seiyukai party cabinet after the Geneva naval conference, and it is understood that Admiral Saito has been bitter against those who maneuvered him out of his Corean post during his absence abroad.

He has been the target for bombs and pistols frequently, but has always taken the incidents lightly and courageously. Saito was welcomed to Corea as governor by an attempt on his life, but when he left he had acquired many Corean admirers.

Admiral Saito has been suffering from gallstones, causing him to retire from public life in the last four years. He has an unusually strong constitution, however, and despite his age and his illness is in better physical condition than most men of his age.

SUZUKI DISCARDED.

Army authorities had threatened to prevent the formation of any except a nonpartisan national cabinet by a boycott, which could be effective because the minister of war must be a general.

Leaders of the Seiyukai party had sought to compose the differences between them and the army in the hope of keeping control of the government by means of the cabinet predominantly of their party.

Kisaburo Suzuki, home minister in the Inukai cabinet, was elected president of the Seiyukai party to succeed the slain premier. According to custom that placed him in line for the premiership.

The army leaders demand economic reforms, including farm relief in the form of a moratorium on the debts of farmers, to subdue the serious agrarian unrest. Suzuki had indicated a willingness to support the army's program, but he apparently was discarded as a likely premier, at least for the time being.

TWO CROATS SWAP JOBS, WIVES AND 12 CHILDREN, TOO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, May 22.—The inhabitants of Petrovoselo village in Croatia were considerably shocked today when two of their oldest residents, Demeter Sandor, peasant, and Andreas Saraga, distiller, announced they had traded wives and children.

Peasant Sandor did not like farming, so he worked in the distillery of Saraga and became acquainted with the Saraga family, Mrs. Saraga and her six children, all of whom pleased him greatly. Saraga did not like the atmosphere of his distillery, so he worked on the farm of Sandor. There he met Mrs. Sandor and her six children. He liked them all.

"So, we just exchanged," explained Peasant Sandor and Distiller Saraga. Their exchanged wives smiled assent. The twelve children giggled. The mayor of the town filed formal complaint. The peasant and the distiller asked for a delay. As soon as they can save the money, they say, they will hire a lawyer and regularize their exchange by divorce and remarriage.

4 Year Guarantee on the Monitor Top

● Complicated, troublesome mechanism requiring service has no place in the home. That's why General Electric eliminated fans, belts, pulleys and stuffing boxes from the General Electric Refrigerator. Because of this, General Electric is able to guarantee the mechanism of its refrigerator—against any service costs whatever—for four full years. General Electric has set a new low record for refrigeration cost.

If the mechanism of your refrigerator fails you have no refrigeration. Failure of the mechanism means service expense and repair bills plus the inconvenience and waste of being without refrigeration. You actually never stop paying for "cheap" refrigeration.

Because of these facts, and because a General Electric has no exposed moving parts to tempt amateur mechanics, apartment house owners—who know costs—have replaced thousands of refrigerators of "prominent" makes with General Electrics.

With the unparalleled four year guarantee on the General Electric mechanism and its amazingly low operating cost, General Electric is positively the lowest cost refrigeration you can buy today. 20c a day pays for it. Phone Franklin 5720 and have the model that best meets your requirements placed in your home today.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

A POINT OF BUSINESS HONOR.

The senate's inquiry into Wall street methods has disclosed the fact that one participant in the Radio pool was Mrs. David Sarnoff, wife of the president of the Radio corporation, in whose stock the pool was operating. She appears to have bought 10,000 shares, to have made no deposit with the pool managers, and to have reaped a profit of $58,000. Under the circumstances Mr. Sarnoff is in duty bound to explain the transaction or resign.

For the purposes of this discussion it makes little difference whether Mrs. Sarnoff participated in the pool of her own volition or whether her name was borrowed with her consent. As long as Mr. Sarnoff was president of the corporation he stood in a fiduciary relationship to every stockholder. Neither he nor his wife under those circumstances could be morally free to engage in any such speculative excursion as was undertaken.

The law in such matters may lack something of clarity, but the moral issue is clear. Mr. Sarnoff, when he accepted the presidency of the corporation, assumed the duty of safeguarding the interests of all the company's stockholders. And when Mrs. Sarnoff married him she assumed the duty of conducting herself in a manner which would not compromise his good name. The $58,000 which Mrs. Sarnoff obtained was made at the expense of stockholders who either sold when the price was too low or bought when the price was too high. In either case the Sarnoffs profited at the expense of some of those persons whose interests Mr. Sarnoff was under obligations to guard.

It is perhaps expecting too much to demand that an officer or director of a corporation neither buy nor sell its securities during his term of office without notifying stockholders of his action in advance, though the highest standard of business conduct would demand precisely that procedure. But certainly it is not expecting too much of a corporation executive to demand that he and the members of his immediate family refrain from participating in any such speculative operations as have been disclosed by the senate committee.

It is doubtful if any law can put an end to such abuses and doubtful if the stock exchange itself can raise effective barriers against them. Perhaps the end can be achieved through placing restrictions in corporation bylaws on the speculative operations of officers and directors. No corporation executive or director worthy of the trust reposed in him could object reasonably to such a self-denying ordinance.

THE CALIFORNIA MITTS.

Boulder dam is getting bolder and riper. The metropolitan water district of southern California with Los Angeles as the nub contains the area for the benefit of which the United States went into the business of providing water for domestic use and new subdivisions and of developing electric power in competition with its taxpayers. In this enterprise the federal government is impounding the waters of the Colorado.

When the water supply is available, which according to estimate will be in six years, an aqueduct is required. The Californians, with Hiram Johnson as the principal go-getter, were successful in getting $167,000,000 for the dam, but had undertaken to build their own aqueduct, for which the California legislature authorized a two hundred million dollar bond issue in the water district. It may not greatly astonish any one that the bonds cannot be sold, but the Californians know what to do about it. They are bright.

It is proposed to sell the bonds to the Reconstruction Finance corporation. It seems that the authority of the corporation is not quite elastic enough for the occasion, but a little amendment to the incorporating act may take care of the difficulty. The Californians believe that circumstances will be persuasive in their behalf. The government is already in the Colorado river up to its ears and may be relied upon to follow the principle of throwing good money after bad.

The scheme needs an aqueduct and if the government does not want a duck pond on its hands California suggests that it provide the money to sluice the water to the land waiting for it. California is good at this sort of thing. When the government started subsidizing the dry wine business one of the companies had some bonds which were not so sweet in the opinion of the bank which held them. They were transferred to Uncle Sam. If no one else wants these water district bonds Uncle Sam will be cajoled to want them.

Morris Rosner, in telling how the underworld worked in the Lindbergh kidnaping, said:

"They [the friends of the family] didn't have to deal with the mitts. We handled all the chiselers ourselves and cooled them. I guess we busted up a dozen attempts to chisel in and hoist the ransom."

If Mr. Rosner and his chisel coolers are as good as they say they are there is a place for them in Washington.

SENATOR GLENN'S SOUND ADVICE.

Senator Glenn's speech of reproof to his colleagues for fiddling while Rome burned is one of the few common sense utterances which have been heard in Washington since the session opened last December.

Mr. Glenn has his eye on the ball. He is among that distinguished minority of senators who are conscious of the fact that as long as congress is in session there can be little hope of a business revival based upon confidence. Congress has two immensely important jobs to get through with. One is to reduce federal expenditures and the other is to pass a tax bill, the two measures together serving to balance the budget. Instead of pressing these measures to as quick a conclusion as possible both houses have wasted time and bedeviled the business interests of the country with threatening legislation. The result is that business which was slow before congress met is stagnant today and seems destined to remain stagnant until congress adjourns.

Mr. Glenn has not been in the senate so long that he thinks the country exists for the senate's purposes. He regards himself as the representative of his state and of the nation and not as a member of a debating society. He has not joined in the log rolling tactics which have characterized the efforts of many of his colleagues and he has had no part in the partisan maneuvering which has gone on in preparation for the national elections in November.

Mr. Glenn spoke against the tariffs on coal, oil, lumber, and copper. Whatever may be said for them—and it is not much—the fact remains that any sectional advantage which would flow from their enactment is negligible compared with the national advantage which would come from a prompt completion by congress of its work and an early adjournment.

The reproof which Mr. Glenn administered to his colleagues was unanswerable. Mr. Glenn's speech reflected credit upon him and the state which sent him to the senate.

IN THE BOLSHEVIK UTOPIA.

For our socialist minded intelligentsia, who have been pointing out an alleged contrast between the tribulations of capitalist America and conditions in Russia, news filtering into British and American newspapers lately must be disappointing if not illuminating. THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent at Riga says that American engineers passing through Riga confirm the report of the shutting down of factories and the cutting down of personnel in the Ural industrial district because of food shortage. Unemployment, which has well passed the million mark, is increasing. The Manchester Guardian of England, model newspaper of our American liberal minded, which is far from unfriendly to the soviet régime, hears from its Moscow correspondent that:

"The conspicuous failure of the soviet state cattle, pig, and chicken farms is exposed with withering frankness in a decree published under the signatures of Stalin, Molotoff, the president of the council of people's commissaries, and Yakovleff, the commissar for agriculture, which announces that the 35 worst offenders among the directors of these farms will be prosecuted, while 95 others will be summarily dismissed.

"The main points in the indictment which the decree brings against the state farms are 'completely unsatisfactory care of cattle, extraordinarily great mortality of young animals, exceptionally poor organization of labor, complete absence of business methods, and extremely unsatisfactory accounting.'"

Summarizing recent information on the general state of "scientific planning" in agricultural Russia, and referring to the decree mentioned by the Guardian's correspondent, the London Times says:

"The decree ordered a thorough reorganization of the giant state farms, which are to be split into smaller units. The press was instructed to publish the names of more than one hundred managers and other officials who are held responsible for the breakdown, and it is stated that some thirty of them have already been arrested and handed over to the 'Red tribunal' for exemplary punishment. In the Ukraine alone the commissar for agriculture has ordered the dismissal of 1,700 farm workers for 'unexampled neglect,' which has reduced a large proportion of the draft horses to the sorriest condition of unfitness just when they are needed for the spring plowing. A great effort is being made to retrieve the position by what are called 'shock tactics.' In the meantime the soviet newspapers point out that the root cause of the evil is 'depersonalization'—the absence of any sense of individual responsibility on the part of the peasants who have been deprived of their own holdings and incorporated into the collective system. As a climax to these revelations and apparently as a sop to popular discontent it is announced that the soviet government and the central committee of the communist party have ordered a 'radical purge of the entire administrative machinery on the ground that the state apparatus has become soullessly bureaucratic and has lost touch with the masses.'"

The notion that the state under communism could be soullessly bureaucratic and out of touch with the masses may be the malign invention of a capitalist editor, but the admirers of the bolshevik Utopia ought to correct such unfriendly publicity, if they can, by reference to the decree itself and to the soviet press. The picture presented does not harmonize with the one they hold up to our bourgeois eyes to confound our prejudices in favor of the capitalist, individualist order.

COUNTY SCHOOL SYSTEM COSTLY.

[Danville Commercial-News.]

Nowhere is there a more salient example of unnecessary expense than in the existing school system of Vermilion county. The roads of the entire county are dotted with district school buildings, reminiscent of the days when five miles was a long distance to drive to school. Last year's enrollment figures for these district schools disclose the interesting fact that of a total of 193 buildings, 124 of them housed less than 25 students.

The total average tax levy throughout the county is $2.90. Of this amount 41.5 per cent, or $1.62, is used for maintenance of the entire school system. The district schools are responsible for 77 cents of this amount.

A more detailed analysis of the enrollment of these district schools shows the following: Three schools each had an enrollment of four pupils, 22 had 10 pupils or less, 42 had 15 or less, 39 had 20 or less and 17 had between 20 and 25. Only fifteen district schools in the county had an enrollment of more than 100 pupils.

That the expense of operating these small schools is great is borne out by the fact that the average tax levy for the 124 schools having under 25 enrollments is 67 cents, or only 10 cents less than the average for the entire county.

Beyond the point of economy, the desirability of consolidation is further enhanced by the fact that educational standards would in most cases be raised rather than lowered by such action.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

By R. H. L.

SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT THIS!

"The depression wouldn't have happened," said a speaker before a Chicago club, "if it hadn't been for big financiers and brokers making suckers of us all." Ah, the federal and state laws compelling everybody to play the stock market should be rescinded. How sad it is to see the big financiers and brokers seizing upon innocent citizens as they walk along the street, knocking them down and dragging them by the hair into the brokers' offices, where at the point of the pistol they are compelled to buy shares in Tin Bathmitts, Limited, or Crocheted Waffles preferred.

And the use of the police in this nefarious work is shocking. Many a deserving man or woman on their way to buy a diamond ring or a sealskin coat for their starving child have we seen seized by the constabulary and made to spend their hard earned savings for Wall street stock. Something should be done about this. The laws should be changed so that in the future nobody would have to buy oil, railroad, or any other kind of stock unless he wanted to do so. The gangs from the big financiers and brokers' offices that roam the streets compelling us poor simple souls to buy shares on the stock exchange should be made to desist.

This thing has gone far enough. Change the laws. Write to your congressman today!

IMMORTALITY.

And there shall come a day . . . in Spring,
When death and winter
Loose their chill, white hold
Quite suddenly. A day of sunlit air
When winging birds return,
And earth her gentle bosoms bare
So that new, thirsty life
May nurture there.
That breathless hour . . .
So filled with warm, soft miracles
That faith is born anew.
On such a day . . .
I shall return to you!

You may not touch me . . . no,
For you have thought of me as dead.
But in the silence lift believing eyes
Toward the dear infinity
Of skies. And listen . . .
With your very soul held still . . .
For you will hear me on some little hill,
Advancing with the coming of the year.
Not far away . . . not dead . . .
Not even gone.

The day will suddenly be filled
With immortality and song,
And without stirring from your quiet place,
Your love will welcome mine . . .
Across the little space,

"TRACE $10,000 IN BUS FEES to Mayor Walker."—Headline. Which little item in the newspapers will set New York laughing ha ha all over the place and saying, "Pretty cute of little Jimmie." And when James bobs up for mayor again he'll probably roll up the biggest vote he ever received. And if ever he was accused of murder New York would reëlect Jimmie unanimously.

YOU SEE, IT'S LIKE THIS—

Mister: You see, it's like this: I get up in the morning feeling fine; then I read the newspaper, and that tones me down to normal. One morning I ignored the newspaper, and do you know what happened? I went downtown and bought a new suit and gave my wife ten dollars. My wife says, "Well, what's ailing you anyhow?" I said I didn't know, but, of course, I did know—I knew that I had gone without my morning tonic, and I had a feeling that I wasn't fit for the association of any one. On that same day I met a friend. My friends says, "Joe, what in the name of goodness is the matter with you—are you well?" I told him I didn't know what was the matter, but that I had had a good night's sleep and noticed that I felt a little on the up and up when I got out of bed. And then I said, "Let's go to the ball game." "Oh, now, calm yourself, Joe," said my friend; "you are probably feeling a little high in spirit and imagine a lot of stuff that isn't true. Why don't you let down and worry about things? Look at me: do I allow myself into a state of rambunctious exuberance because the flowers are in bloom and the birds sing? Why, say, this world is full of things to give you a pain in the neck if you only looked for them—have you read today's newspaper? Do you know our average in murder is up sixteen per cent? Do you know Russia prepares for war with Japan? Do you know the situation is blacker than it is painted?" Well, of course, I didn't know these things because I hadn't read the newspaper. My friend's information, however, had a seductive psychic effect. "I feel worse already," I said; "let's go over and jump in the lake." "I'd like to," he said sadly, "but I promised my wife I would play golf with her this afternoon."

SOME MILK SUBSTITUTES.

THERE are many substitutes that can be used with babies who cannot drink milk because it causes them to have scald scalp, or because they cannot digest it or show other evidence that it disagrees with them. Please understand that babies that can drink milk should do so and that milk substitutes should not be used if their use can be avoided.

Artificial milk—1 ounce of suet is chopped up and placed in a cheesecloth bag. This is put in a pint of cereal water, such as barley water, and boiled slowly for an hour. Since most mothers are young, as well as attractive, it may be best to add that boiling slowly means holding at a temperature barely above that of simmering—a few but not many bubbles are escaping. As the water boils, one-quarter ounce of gelatin and 1 teaspoonful of milk sugar are added. From time to time a little water is added to replace that which boils away until there is a part of water at the end, as there was at the beginning.

Twelve sweet almonds, preferably not blanched, have been well powdered and ground while the water was being boiled. Over these the mixture of hot water, suet and gelatin are poured, and the combination is thoroughly mixed. All larger particles are strained out, and a very little salt is added. The mixture is fed to the baby from a bottle as milk is.

Recently we gave another method for making an artificial milk.

The Chinese and Japanese have very few cows. When they are under the necessity of artificially feeding their babies they use a soy bean milk. One method of making soy bean milk is as follows:

Put 1 tablespoonful of soy bean flour and 2 of barley flour, or some other cereal flour, in 1 quart of water. Add a very little salt. Boil the mixture for thirty minutes, adding a little water to replace that lost in boiling. End with 1 quart of mixture.

It is customary in America to add 1 to 2 teaspoonfuls of sweetened condensed milk to the mixture. The amount of condensed milk added is not large enough to make the baby's eruption turn red and ooze unless the child is exceptionally sensitive.

More frequently these babies that handle milk poorly are fed on one of the albumin milks. One method of making an albumin milk is as follows:

Heat a quart of cow's milk to 100 degrees, and add the ferment, usually a junket tablet dissolved in cold water. Heat the mixture to 107 degrees and hold at that temperature for fifteen minutes. This curdled milk is put in a double cheesecloth bag and hung up for the whey to drain off. To this curd add one quart of buttermilk and 2 tablespoons of flour suspended in water. Mix well. Boil ten minutes. Stir well. End with 1 quart. Strain. In some instances a little sugar is added.

BE CAREFUL OF MOLE.

D. L. T. writes: I am approaching 60 years of age. For the past ten years I have had on my face a mole appearing first as a light colored freckle, gradually enlarging and darkening until it is almost black, so that it looks like a tea leaf or some foreign body on my face. It is not sore but rather disfiguring.

What would be safe to apply to remove or bleach it? I found your article on moles a relief to me.

REPLY.

As you say, I had an article several months ago in which a distinction was made between moles that threaten little danger of cancer and those with the contrary tendency.

The one you have appears to be of a reasonably safe type. However, let me advise you not to try to remove it, or to bleach it with chemicals. If you do anything—and moles are safer off than on—have this one removed by operation. Your surgeon can tell you then how much operation will be required and how much scar will be left. You can then weigh the advantages against the disadvantages.

Remember this: The kind of mole that is essentially cancer from the start is very malignant and anything done may make matters worse. Using chemicals is like pouring gasoline on a fire. The moles that are near the cancer border may be pushed over that line by the use of chemicals.

A NIGHT OF DREAMS.

C. L. S. writes:

1. I dream all night long and I would like to know if the cause of it is food, or what you think it is.

2. Does dreaming all night affect in any way one's physical or mental condition?

REPLY.

1. You are like everybody else. We call it thinking when we are awake, and dreaming when we are asleep. Eating indigestible foods often causes the dreams to be unpleasant. However, memories, anger, hate, envy, and worry are much more potent causes of unpleasant dreams.

2. No. However, the causes of wild dreams are apt to be otherwise harmful. Dreams that disturb rest may do harm in that way.

REDUCING WAISTLINE.

J. R. writes: Can you suggest some form of daily home exercise to help reduce the waistline? I am past 50.

REPLY.

Take any form of bending exercise. You can take such exercise standing, sitting, or lying down. Rowing is all right. So is spading.

Whatever you do, you must stick to the job for months.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

NATIONAL CONVENTIONS

DEMOCRATIC—1900.

Kansas City, July 5.—William Jennings Bryan was nominated for President by the Democratic national convention, held in the new $300,000 convention hall barely completed in time for the gathering. The platform declares that silver at 16 to 1 is still a Democratic doctrine, but at the same time pronounces imperialism and the Republican colonial policy to be paramount issues of the campaign. The development of complete harmony in the party within a few hours after the bitter fight in the resolutions committee over whether the specific ratio "16 to 1" should be mentioned in the platform was remarkable. The wildest demonstration of the convention came when Senator "Pitchfork" Ben Tillman of South Carolina thundered out that "imperialism is a paramount issue in this campaign."

Kansas City, July 7.—Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois was nominated for Vice President as the Democratic running mate of Mr. Bryan.

REPUBLICAN—1900.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 22.—William McKinley of Ohio was renominated for President and Theodore Roosevelt of New York for Vice President at the Republican national convention which began on June 19 in the Nation Export Exposition building in West Philadelphia. Both were nominated by a unanimous vote of the delegates on the first ballots. President McKinley was placed in nomination by Senator J. B. Foraker of Ohio and his nomination was seconded by Gov. Roosevelt. For days Roosevelt has been the outstanding figure in convention circles because of his stand that he would not accept the vice presidential nomination and when he rose to speak he was given a rousing welcome.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 23, 1916.

LONDON. — The French tri-color again floats over Fort Douaumont. After four months' possession the enemy has been forced from the wedge first driven into the Verdun defenses east of the Meuse. The final thunderbolt which the Germans sought to launch against Verdun has recoiled on themselves. From their offensive, the greatest ever undertaken in history, the pendulum of battle has swung back until tonight they stand on the defensive on practically the whole line. Trenches for over a mile on the west of Fort Douaumont are in the hands of the French. Lines at Le Mort Homme captured by the Germans again are theirs and positions at Hill No. 287, north of Hill 304, held by the Germans since May 18, have been retaken. At every point in the arc about Verdun the French counter attack has been irresistible.

OTHER WAR NEWS.—The Austrians continued their tremendous onslaught against the Italians in the Tyrol sector and drove a wedge into the enemy's lines. The Italian border has been crossed in various places and the entire position of the defenders of the Lavarone plateau is now in Austrian hands. The number of Italian prisoners has been increased to 23,833, according to the Austrian war statement. Rome reports that in the first three days of their offensive the Austrians lost 20,000 in killed, wounded and missing. A Paris dispatch says that the German emperor is soon to pay a visit to the Tyrolean front. Two Italian steamers, one Italian bark, one French steamer, and one Greek ship were submarine victims in the last 24 hours.

Every Man's University

Questions and answers prepared by members of the faculty of the University of Chicago outline what they consider a well educated person ought to know. Today's instructor, Arthur Pearson Scott, associate professor of history.

TODAY'S QUESTION:

What American contribution to literature and art have Europeans taken most seriously?

[This question will be repeated and answered in this space tomorrow.]

SATURDAY'S QUESTION:

What is the importance of Voltaire?

ANSWER:

Voltaire was an outstanding figure of the 18th century Enlightenment, or Age of Reason. Accepting the findings of science, particularly the discoveries of Newton, he joined the movement to make reason prevail also in politics and religion. His criticisms of tyrants, injustice and superstition were carried to all parts of Europe by his writings. Voltaire's God was the power and intelligence which created the universe and set it running according to unchanging laws. His attacks on orthodox Christianity, on the church as an organization, and on those features of autocratic government which seemed contrary to the current conception of natural right and justice all helped intensify the dissatisfaction with the old order in France. In that sense he helped prepare for the French revolution.

WINDOW SCREENS.

Chicago, May 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Knowing that you are willing, through your paper, to give information that is of benefit to the people, I would like to ask you this: Is there a law or can the board of health compel the owner of a flat to furnish screens for windows and doors in order to keep out flies?

C. W. C.

Sec. 2174 of the city code provides that "it shall be the duty of every . . . person owning or controlling . . . any place where persons are housed . . . and where foods are kept . . . to maintain on all . . . openings . . . from April 15 to Nov. 15 . . . screens . . . ." While this wording is equally applicable to landlord and tenant, we are informed that if an owner fails to provide screens a complaint with the department of health will insure action to that end.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NO VIOLATION FOUND.

Chicago, May 15.—[Friend of the People.]—At Stony Island near 59th street are some signs of an advertising company. This corner is very windy and on three different occasions these huge signs have been blown down, not only across the sidewalk, narrowly missing pedestrians, but twice have whole sections blown across the street and lodged in the trees. Among other things this causes live wires to be spread across the sidewalk and is a constant menace to children and pedestrians as well as for cars parked on either side of the street. As I write this men are putting these signs up for the third time. J. C. D.

A permit has been issued by this department for a billboard at the location mentioned and the board has been erected in a substantial manner. There is no violation of the ordinance, as this block is in a commercial zone. JOHN E. ERICSSON.

JUST ONE GOVERNMENT OFFICE.

Chicago, May 18.—I noticed in the Voice of the People this morning a letter from Mr. Charles F. Murray regarding your recent editorial, "Just One Government Office." I read that editorial with much interest and found practically nothing wrong with it. My experience with the patent office and knowledge of its workings led me to substantially the same conclusions as expressed in your editorial.

Certain it is that during recent years the number of applications for patents filed in our patent office has not increased materially, and yet the number of employés to handle these applications has been enormously increased, and their salaries very substantially increased. Also the fees to applicants have been very substantially increased—roughly about 50 per cent. Thus, to handle about the same number of applications the government is spending a very great deal more; and even with increased fees the office is steadily losing money, which it did not do until these recent years.

During the last ten years, as shown by annual reports I have received from our government, our patent office has lost some $3,000,000 or $4,000,000; that is, its expenses have exceeded its income by approximately that amount; whereas in the previous 75 years it made money steadily, accumulating a surplus of some $8,000,000 or $9,000,000.

During this same last ten years the Canadian patent office, as shown by annual reports I have received from the Canadian government, has made nearly $3,000,000, without any increase in fees to inventors and applicants. Since our patent office and the Canadian office are quite similar in general method and practice [the Canadian office, of course, handling a smaller amount of work], this difference in operating results suggests very strongly, if in fact it does not show conclusively, the assertions of your editorial regarding complicated procedure and red tape in our own office. In fact, it is common knowledge that the Canadian office practice is simple and straightaway, while our own is complicated and technical to an extreme.

We are very glad that Mr. Murray has asked the secretary of commerce to send you figures about our patent office and we hope he will do so promptly and that you will give the matter careful attention and let the public have the result of your investigations. The figures above outlined [which we believe you will confirm by figures from the department of commerce], the opposition of the secretary of commerce to economy measures in the patent office, for which he was recently criticized on the floor of the senate, and the threat now being made to further increase our patent office fees to inventors to maintain this expensive bit of bureaucracy, merit your investigation. We hope you will go into the matter and give it a thorough airing right now.

In connection with Mr. Murray's letter, it may be noted that Mr. Murray himself has not been satisfied with the workings of our patent office and has taken the matter up with the Chicago Patent Law association, an organization of patent lawyers here. At Mr. Murray's instance, and in his behalf, a proposal was submitted to that association at a meeting early this spring urging the appointment of a special committee of our association to act with committees of other patent law associations to investigate conditions in the patent office and make general recommendations for the improvement of the practice. This proposal of Mr. Murray was considered and voted on favorably by the association. This action of Mr. Murray in urging the appointment of this special investigating committee and the action of the Chicago association in voting to appoint it shows there are plenty of others around here dissatisfied with our patent office conditions and practice and trying to improve them, and Mr. Murray himself, being a leader in the movement, discounts quite a bit his tirade about the "baseless statements" of your editorial.

A. MILLER BELFIELD.

A SCULPTOR'S MODEL.

Chicago, May 15.—Upon opening THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of May 15 and turning to the sport section, I was startled by the unusual specimen of skillful photography evidently done by one of your staff cameramen.

His alertness in snapping Red Hargrave in this picturesque pose is an outstanding bit of photographic art.

While the complete composition is excellent, the distinctive feature of the picture is the figure of Catcher Hargrave, which might well be used by some worthy sculptor as a model to represent the "Spirit of Baseball."

AARON BODENWEISER.

AN ACTION PICTURE.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 16.—In the Sunday, May 15, issue of THE TRIBUNE, on the sports page, you had a full page width illustration of a play at the home plate, which is the most remarkable baseball action picture I have ever seen.

JOHN A. SCHNEIDER.

MODEL FOR A TROPHY.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 16.—I want to congratulate THE TRIBUNE and its photographer on the very remarkable action picture on the first page of part two of last Sunday's TRIBUNE. I should like very much to have a photograph of that picture, for possible use in designing a baseball trophy. I cannot imagine a better model for such purpose. The face and posture of Hargrave are classical. The entire picture is symbolic of baseball action and would make a mighty fine mural in any fieldhouse.

GEORGE A. CHAMBERLAIN.

WAITING FOR A PAPER.

Chicago, May 14.—All winter long, in bitter cold weather and in drizzling rain even, a long line of shabby but neat appearing men has stood at the corner of Madison and Wells awaiting gifts of newspapers from passersby. They have always been orderly and always I have marveled at their patience [sometimes the line stretched almost the entire block south of Madison], and it has hurt to imagine how poverty stricken they must be to wait that long for a 2 cent paper.

This morning I find no line but an extremely shipshape policeman standing in its place.

What has been done? Has some one with more money than I happen to have supplied the need of those men so that they no longer must stand and wait? Or has it been decided that visible evidence of poverty was a disgrace to our city?

M. M. S.

THE VANISHED HAND.

Chicago, May 19.—Mr. Orr's cartoons have been so great that one dislikes to express any exception. But the cartoon this morning, representing Uncle Sam as longing for a touch of the vanished hand of Roosevelt to lead him out of his troubles, overlooks the fact that there was the Roosevelt panic of 1907, of such extraordinary severity that the banks repudiated their obligations to pay and in lieu of money passed out scrip to the public. President Taft took from President Roosevelt a bankrupt treasury and left it filled, largely through the corporation tax, which he devised. This, lest we forget.

SOVIET RELENTS; OLD CZARISTS TO GET FOOD CARDS

Still Forbidden Bread, Meat, Butter and Sugar.

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

MOSCOW, May 23.—The soviet government today relaxed its unrelenting attitude toward survivors of the old czarist régime—the disenfranchised or "declassed" elements of the population.

Under a decree issued today these Russians, who comprise about 5 per cent of the whole population, will be eligible to membership and food cards in the consumers' coöperative stores, entitling them to buy food and manufactured goods at minimum prices. Heretofore only communists in good standing could buy there.

Includes Former Middle Class.

The "declassed" population, composed chiefly of former land owners, traders, clergymen, some sections of the intelligentsia, and the like, for various reasons have never been admitted to full soviet citizenship. This deprived them of many privileges.

The disenfranchised element was forced to patronize the government's "commercial" stores, where any one is permitted to buy at prices ranging from 10 to 9,100 per cent more than at the coöperatives, or trade in the exorbitantly high private markets.

The new decree does not mean that the "declassed" Russians have been given ration cards permitting them to buy restricted necessities, such as bread, meat, butter and sugar, but it is an appreciable concession by allowing them to buy other available commodities at minimum prices.

Must Wait Until Last.

The decree stipulates that goods shall be sold to them only after the wants of other members have been satisfied. At present they will be little better off because of the prevailing shortage of commodities, but the decree will work to their advantage when increased supplies of goods for home consumption are made available.

[This increase probably will not be far off. The government has issued two decrees in recent weeks permitting farmers to sell their goods direct to coöperative tradesmen after their obligations to the government have been fulfilled.]

The present effect is more psychological than real but the only other restrictions against "declassed" persons is that nonworkers must pay approximately 50 per cent more for their membership cards in the coöperative stores, amounting to about one full month's income. Workers among the "declassed" will be admitted on the same basis as others.

PASCHEN'S WITNESSES TO CONTINUE STORY OF HEAVY EXPENSES

Witnesses are expected to continue the story of large expenditures made in 1927 and 1928 by former Building Commissioner Chris Paschen this morning in Federal Judge Barnes' court. Paschen is attempting to show that most of his income in those years was eaten up by business expenses and therefore is not guilty of evading income tax, the charge on which he is being tried.

At the conclusion of court Saturday, Caasius Poust, defense attorney, had shown through the former manager of Paschen's building cleaning branch concern in Cleveland that the pay rolls there for 1927 and 1928 totaled $105,214. The witness, Robert Fica, then began the identification of scores of invoices and canceled checks showing expenditures at the branch in those years. Poust told reporters that the totals would show $78,522 for 1927 and $48,680 in 1928.

It was predicted that 100 or more witnesses would be called to show Paschen's expenditures. The trial, which ended its third week Saturday, may continue two weeks longer. The government spent thirteen days presenting its case.

ROOSEVELT ASKS A NEW DEAL FOR WORKERS IN U. S.

Demands More Equitable Wealth Distribution.

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

Atlanta, Ga., May 22.—(AP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, demanding a "wiser and more equitable" distribution of the national income, warned in a speech here tonight that "millions in want will not stand by silently forever while the things to satisfy their needs are within easy reach."

The New York executive responded in an address at the Oglethorpe university commencement to the entreaties of certain of his followers that he make a "fighting bid" for the nomination.

Fault of Economic System.

Roosevelt outlined no specific plan for redistribution of wealth, but he asked for "bold persistent experimentation."

"It is common sense to take a method and try it," he said. "If it fails, admit it frankly and try another, but above all try something."

The governor said "we need to prevent by drastic means if necessary the faults of our economic system from which we now suffer."

Roosevelt charged part of the responsibility for that situation to the Coolidge and Hoover administrations and ripped into "Wall street" as represented by investment bankers.

Accumulate Few Dollars.

Pointing to the difference in social conditions today and in 1928, he said that then "many of your elders discovered once they accumulated a few dollars they needed only to put them in the proper place and then sit back and read in comfort stock quotations and their wealth was mounting miraculously without any work or effort on their part.

"Many who call themselves the leaders of finance assured us of an eternal future for this easy mode of living. And, to the stimulation of belief in this dazzling chimera was lent not only the voices of some of our public men in high office, but their influence and the material aid of the very instruments of government which they controlled."

Thrusts at Wall Street.

Again thrusting at what has been termed the "Wall street group," Roosevelt said:

"We can not allow our economic life to be controlled by that small group of men whose chief outlook upon the social welfare is tinctured by the fact they can make huge profits from the lending of money and the marketing of securities—an outlook which deserves the adjectives 'selfish' and 'opportunist.'"

Proclaiming that the necessities of life should be insured, Roosevelt said, "in such a system the reward for the day's work will have to be greater, and the reward to capital, particularly capital which is specultaive, will have to be less."

HOLD UP LOOP RESTAURANT.

Three bandits took $50 early yesterday in a holdup of the Thompson's restaurant at 75 West Monroe street. Policeman Daniel Walsh of the central station emptied his revolver at their automobile as they fled, and shattered the rear window.

STOP TRAFFIC FOR DUCKS

A mother duck marshalling her ducklings as they step out like German soldiers doing the goosestep on their way across the street at Herne hill, near London, while a bobby affords protection against traffic. The duck strayed from the estate of Sir Spicer to hatch her brood in a garage. She is shown upon her triumphal return.

MAYOR WALKER TO TESTIFY AT GRAFT INQUIRY

Takes Stand Wednesday; Seabury Gathers Data.

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—With the investigation into Mayor James J. Walker's conduct in office scheduled to reach a climax Wednesday with the mayor on the witness stand, today was marked by unusual activity on the part of Samuel Seabury and his assistants.

In preparation for tomorrow's public hearing of the Hofstadter committee, at which evidence regarding the stock transactions of the mayor and his friends is expected to be produced, Mr. Seabury and the lawyers helping him spent the entire day at their headquarters.

The day was spent in studying briefs, consulting with accountants who have analyzed Mr. Walker's financial transactions and, it was reported, questioning witnesses in private, in connection with important new evidence that has come into their possession within the last fortnight. In the evening a member of Mr. Seabury's staff was sent to Princeton, N. J., to obtain a statement from Dr. Herbert Adams Gibbons, the author and lecturer, whom the late Rodman Wanamaker selected to show the mayor and his party the sights when they went abroad in the summer of 1927.

SLEEP MEDICINE FATAL.

Mrs. Emily Genge, 29 years old, of 2138 North Kilbourn avenue, died yesterday in the Keystone hospital of an overdose of sleeping medicine which she had been taking for several years because of illness.

CHARGES FOES PLOT TO DEFEAT GOV. ROOSEVELT

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—An "unworthy conspiracy," entered into by those opposing the nomination of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for President, is on foot to throw the Democratic national convention next month into a prolonged deadlock, according to Homer S. Cummings, former chairman of the Democratic national committee and one of the chief lieutenants of Roosevelt in his quest for the nomination.

The charge was made by Mr. Cummings in a letter to Thomas L. Chadbourne, prominent Democrat who, in 1924, was a supporter of William G. McAdoo for the presidency.

Mr. Cummings said in his letter that those intent upon the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt are well aware that the forces bent upon "destroying" the governor are neither Democratic nor Republican, nor are they acting upon any party principle. They are merely determined to continue "an overlordship of special interests" which has been in the saddle since 1921, and is largely responsible for the present economic condition of the country."

Free Suspect in Holdup Shooting on Golf Course

Police yesterday released Vance Free of Hammond, who was arrested Saturday as a suspect in the holdup and shooting of Dr. Daniel E. Murphy, 500 Barry avenue, Saturday, at the Bunker Hill Country club. Free had a revolver in his car, which later proved to be an old one that could not be fired. Dr. Murphy, after viewing him from his bed in Alexian Brothers' hospital, said he was not one of the bandits.

ENDS LIFE WITH POISON.

Melvin Tunstall, 23 years old, colored, ended his life yesterday by swallowing poison in his home at 4526 South Park avenue following a quarrel with his wife.

NOWADAYS, when so many people are talking about purity . . . pure food, pure milk, pure water . . . it's worth a minute to tell you something about the purity of Chesterfield cigarettes.

All the materials that go into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes are tested again and again by expert research chemists. Just like the things you eat and drink.

The tobacco is pure—the right kinds, Domestic and Turkish both, mild, sweet, ripe. The paper is pure—clean, white, the best cigarette paper that money can buy. There is purity in every ingredient and cleanliness in every operation.

You can know, when you light a Chesterfield, that it is as pure as science can make a cigarette. And your taste will tell you it's milder, it tastes better.

WHEAT GOING UP, STONE REPLY TO BOARD OF TRADE

Defends Farm Board with Counter Attack.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—An attack on the farm board yesterday by Peter B. Carey president of the Chicago Board of Trade, drew a reply today from Chairman James C. Stone of the board that was at once a defense and a counter-attack.

JAMES C. STONE. [Acme Photo.]

Mr. Stone called the Chicago grain traders market manipulators, who, perceiving that wheat is due to go up, are maneuvering to acquire supplies of the grain at bargain prices. He challenged the "grain gamblers," as he called them, to explain how it is that wheat has been held from 5 to 15 cents a bushel above the world market, which, according to Mr. Stone, is the result of farm board policies.

Questions Board's Motives.

"Newspaper reports of statements of Mr. Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, in regard to methods of disposal of the stocks of the Grain Stabilization corporation, indicate an attitude towards liquidation of these stocks strictly in conformity with the long established viewpoint of board of trade members," said Mr. Stone.

"They look upon themselves as middlemen, entitled by custom to take a heavy toll from American wheat producers for so-called services, which consist chiefly in the pocketing by themselves of the largest possible share of the consumer's dollar. Every suggestion so far made in the present depressed situation to this board for their assistance has contained as its chief element personal profit to those tendering aid either by buying at prices ridiculously below the market or for commissions on huge volume.

Calls Liquidation Orderly.

"Liquidation of the stocks of the Grain Stabilization corporation under the plan announced on June 30, 1891, has proceeded in such a manner that American wheat prices have been maintained at substantially 5 to 15 cents a bushel higher than world market price parity in the face of the most trying marketing conditions known to any living man. Let the grain gambling critics explain to the public how and why this happened.

"The crop outlook today leads qualified observers to conclude that brighter days are in prospect for our wheat producers. Winter wheat reports indicate low production. Spring areas do not promise excess supplies. No wonder the speculatively inclined seek wheat stocks on the bargain counter. The Grain Stabilization corporation has none to offer on that basis.

Predicts Upward Swing.

"Wheat is the only great major commodity which for the last five months has shown a definite upward tendency. Its influence under the present favorable statistical position may well lead other commodities to higher ground. That opportunity will not be risked in the hands of people in a group representing those who have grown rich from the profits gained by market manipulation. The recent disclosures as to the operations of brother speculators in stocks does not encourtge the placing of great power in such hands. The orderly method of distributing as demand arises will be continued.

"The public should not be fooled by such attacks on the farm board as those of Mr. Carey. Their purpose is not to help in the present situation but to prevent the farmer organizing his business so that he, in a measure, can control the method under which his products are sold."

BRITAIN BUILDS 2 TREATY CRUISERS; 'INVISIBLE' TYPE

Makes Better Fighters of 'A' Class Ships.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 22.—Strict adherence to the terms of the Washington and London naval treaties is being observed in the design of two new British "A" class cruisers now under construction, it has been learned on good authority.

Marine engineers, however, have found opportunities to introduce sensational improvements to increase the effectiveness far beyond that of older types.

The height of the superstructure from the waterline is twenty feet less than in other cruisers of that class. This innovation gives the ships a strange appearance, especially when combined with other more revolutionary departures from conventional design. The new cruisers are given a submarine bow and stern, offering the smallest target to torpedoes.

Made Floating Fortress.

The superstructure is completely incased in a shell and bomb proof turret running the entire length of the ship and converting it into a floating fortress.

Funnels on the new cruisers disappear. They are replaced by an exhaust well astern, with another exhaust for smoke screening under the foremast.

The ships below waterline have an anti-torpedo bulge, filled with crude oil and ballast, lined with asbestos and triple shellproof sheeting. The bridge and controls are situated in a low turret and offer no target from the air or to broadsides.

Are Hard to See.

The unique quality of the warships is their invisibility, due to their lying so low in the water. Chances of direct hits have been reduced by 37 per cent, the admiralty estimates.

It is reported that the new design will be used for capital ships in the future. Since armaments are controlled by international agreement, the guns of the new cruisers will be of the usual type on cruisers of this class.

BOY AMBITIOUS TO BE LIFEGUARD; NOW WALES' OWN

LONDON, May 22.—(AP)—Peter Garvie, a little boy who wanted to be a life guard, was told by a nurse, as h was having several stitches taken out of a wound, that "life guards don't cry."

"Perhaps if you won't cry the prince of Wales will make you one of his life guards," she said. The prince visited the hospital a few days later and the little fellow called out: "I want to be a life guard." The nurse told the prince how brave the boy had been.

Two days later a little life guard's uniform, complete in every detail, was sent to Peter Garvie with a card: "From the prince of Wales."

TURKS SUE ENTIRE PRESS FOR USING KREUGER SUICIDE

ISTANBUL, May 22.—(AP)—The Turkish government is bringing suit against the entire press of Istanbul for having published the news of the suicide of Ivar Kreuger, Swedish "match king," in Paris on March 12, and photographs of him.

Suicides increased so alarmingly in Turkey, owing to moral and social upheavals, that the Nationalist government passed a law forbidding newspapers to give any publicity to any suicide. But every newspaper forgot the law when it came to the Kreuger tragedy.

Heavy fines are the penalty for violation of the law.

Hanshel Schiff, 75, Dies from Fall in Home

Hanshel Schiff, 75 years old, retired Roosevelt road furniture dealer, died yesterday in Presbyterian hospital of injuries suffered a week ago when he fell from a stepladder in his home at 1433 South Sawyer avenue while hanging a picture. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this lowed by services at Anshe Sholem synagogue. Burial will be in Oakwoods cemetery.

Cuban Society Writer, a Man, Dies in Havana

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, May 22.—Enrique Fontanills, popularly known as the "master and teacher of Cuban society writers," died yesterday, following a long illness. He was the most colorful writer of local Spanish language newspapers and was society editor of Diario de la Marina. He is survived by his wife and two daughters.

MUSSOLINI OPENS WORLD MEETING OF OCEAN FLYERS

Five U. S. Pilots Attend First Convention.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, May 22.—Predicting scheduled commercial flights across the ocean in the near future, Premier Mussolini today formally and impressively opened the first international convention of trans-oceanic flyers.

In welcoming fifty-one famed ocean conquerors, including five Americans, the Italian leader suggested sending a message of sympathy to Col. Lindbergh for the tragic loss of his son. Col. Lindbergh, he said, had intended to come to Rome for the meeting. Il duce greeted the airmen as an aviator in his own right.

SIR ARTHUR BROWN. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

"The aviators who dared to attempt the ocean without luck are with us in spirit," he continued. "Their sacrifice has not been in vain. Every human conquest demands the supreme sacrifice. Soon we shall have regular transoceanic service."

Aid Friendly Relations.

Transatlantic flights, he said, are contributing to the establishment of friendly relations among peoples by more closely joining continents and countries.

Sir Arthur Brown, the Briton who flew the Atlantic with Sir John Alcock in 1919, replied to Mussolini's address for the aviators.

The first session of the convention, which is sponsored by the Italian Aero club, was tinged with sadness due to the death of the two Hungarian aviators, Capt. George Endres and Capt. Julius Bittay, in a crash at the Littorio airport yesterday. Capt. Endres flew with Capt. Alexander Magyar from Newfoundland to Budapest in 1931.

Send Message of Sympathy.

Many of today's inaugural ceremonies were postponed until after the funeral services for the two men which will be held tomorrow. Messages of sympathy were dispatched today to the Hungarian government.

Mussolini's cabinet ministers and military officials flanked him as the congress opened. Gen. Italo Balbo minister of aviation, who led the Italian flying squadron across the south Atlantic, sat by the premier's side while nineteen members of that squadron sat nearby.

Pool Experiences.

At the convention which ends next Thursday, the trans-Atlantic pilots will pool their experiences and contribute new data on air routes or bases, meteorological conditions and radio as means for establishing trans-oceanic travel.

The American ocean flyers attending are Harold Gatty, Albert Hegenberger, Holden Richardson, George Haldeman, and Hugh Herndon.

INFECTION FATAL TO DAUGHTER OF F. P. CHOATE

Maxine Choate, 19 years old, daughter of a wealthy merchandising executive, died yesterday in St. Francis' hospital in Evanston of an infection. She was thought to be recovering from an operation performed May 3 in Los Angeles.

The girl returned to her home at 1125 Sheridan road, Wilmette, a week ago with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Choate. They had spent a three months' holiday on the Pacific coast.

Miss Choate became ill last Tuesday and her parents summoned Dr. Floyd L. McGrath of Wilmette. He reported the case to the authorities. The girl's mother has been in poor health and was prostrated by her daughter's death.

J. M. Smely, Once Gardener for Potter Palmers, Dead

Joseph M. Smely, 60 years old, once head gardener at the Potter Palmer home, now owned by Vincent Bendix, died of pneumonia yesterday at his home, 516 South 4th street, Aurora. For the last thirty years Mr. Smely had operated greenhouses in Aurora. He is survived by his widow, a son, and three daughters. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. today in Aurora.

2,000 ATTEND CHOIR RECITAL IN SO. SIDE CHURCH

Prof. J. Wesley Jones, who will be one of the Negro choral directors at the third Chicagoland Music Festival Aug. 20, in Soldiers' field, sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, and his Metropolitan church choir of 250 voices, delighted an audience of 2,000 persons last night at the church at 4100 South Park way. Charles Wakefield Cadman, pianist and composer, was the special guest of the evening.

Daniel Protheroe, Chicago composer and choral director, was introduced by Dr. Joseph M. Evans, pastor, and chairman of the recital. The composer's daughter, Miss Helen Protheroe, sang three numbers by Mr. Cadman: "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," "Far Off I Hear a Lover's Flute" and "The Moon Drops Low."

Others who took solo parts were William Myricks, who directed the Federal Glee club; Constance Eberhart, of the Civic Opera company; Magnolia N. Lewis, C. Wilbur Hardison, Lula Cayce, Dr. Andrew E. Dobson, John Ella, Gay Williams, Ned Seymour, and Corinne Payton. Carl Mader accompanied at the piano.

RECALL FOUNDING OF B'NAI B'RITH LODGE IN 1857

Speakers Praise Work of Ramah Chapter.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Ramah lodge of the B'nai B'rith, the oldest Jewish fraternal organization in Chicago, was celebrated last night in the Hotel Sherman. Speakers reviewed the philanthropic and civic work of the organization in the city, country, and world.

The lodge was founded in 1857 by a prominent group of Jews. In 1859 it founded the United Hebrew Relief society, the forerunner of the present Associated Jewish Charities. At the outbreak of the civil war the Ramah lodge organized a company of Jewish volunteers which served as part of the 82d regiment.

The lodge founded the first hospital maintained by Jews in Chicago and after the fire of 1871 raised money for the relief of the destitute. Today it is one of the largest B'nai B'rith lodges in the world, with more than 1,000 members.

Lucius L. Solomons, San Francisco attorney and first vice president of the Constitution Grand lodge, delivered an address on the aims and ideals of B'nai B'rith. Other speakers were Louis T. Herson, president of Ramah lodge, and Joseph F. Grossman, second vice president.

Mr. Solomons pointed to the cultural, social, relief, and educational activities of B'nai B'rith. He made a plea for justice for Jews from other races and continuance of work of the founders of the order, which is 93 years old.

KEMPER AND MEYER FAMILIES.

Is he offering you all or just a part of the PHILADELPHIA MARKET?

WHEN a representative calls to discuss newspaper advertising in Philadelphia, does he offer you all — or just a part — of this, America's third market?

There are two sides to the Philadelphia sales picture.

On one side is A. B. C. Philadelphia, in which there are 470,378 families—2,069,661 people.

On the other side is Philadelphia's A. B. C. suburban area, in which there are 372,689 families—1,639,832 people—more people than live in the suburbs of any other American city with the single exception of New York.

It is this side of the picture that so many manufacturers overlook, yet it may easily stand between success and failure in this market. No one Philadelphia newspaper affords better than 38% coverage of this huge and concentrated suburban market. To miss the other 62% is to miss more people than live in the cities of Milwaukee and Indianapolis combined—and is equivalent to withholding your sales story from almost a million potential purchasers in the suburbs alone.

When a representative of the Curtis-Martin Newspaper group calls, he offers you complete market coverage—his newspapers cover A. B. C. Philadelphia and Philadelphia's A. B. C. suburbs 100%—they are the key to maximum sales—without them it is impossible to even approach adequate advertising contact with this rich slice of America's buying power.

Before you okay another newspaper advertising schedule in Philadelphia, make sure you are getting all — and not just part — of the business that awaits you here.

"LOOKING BACK TO 1932"

(No. 8 of a Series—Conversations in the Future)

"Betty, that was a great idea you had in '32"

"When I think of your achievements in shopping back in 1932 . . . my enthusiasm really runs wild! You certainly 'cashed in' on those good old bargain days.

"Our silverware is superb . . . and I hope you realize that we possess much finer silverware than we could afford to own at present prices.

"Our china and glassware, too, are the envy of every guest! It must be a great source of satisfaction to you to know that your sets of china and glassware are complete . . . and that at the prices you paid in '32 . . . we couldn't duplicate the quality nor the quantity today.

"Just recently I was poking about in the pantry and I was amazed at the full stock of your kitchen utensils . . . and as I remember . . . they, too, are brilliant examples of your shopping prowess back in '32.

"I'm also satisfied that we're not going to want for bedding, blankets, or linens for a good long time . . . and that's more credit to you and your activities in the good old bargain days of 1932."

The West, Wild and Beautiful, Told in Books

New Volumes Offer Much Material.

FOR readers who are interested in the west, old and new, and its striking figures, lawless but with a law of their own, and brave and reckless, there are three recent books. One of which is "Death Valley Men" by Bourke Lee [Macmillan]. The author is well qualified to write of the famous and fascinating Death valley [in fact he did write a book devoted exclusively to that section called "Death Valley"]. He has traveled over and lived in that part of the country, has met and become intimately acquainted with many of its famous characters.

BOURKE LEE.

Bourke Lee has concentrated on the figure of Death Valley Scotty who has stirred the imagination of the public for many years until his adventures and exploits are now almost legendary. The author pulls aside the veil of mystery that has enshrouded Death Valley Scotty and reveals to us the real man. Besides being an excellent and honest biography of this almost mythical figure, "Death Valley Men" also includes tales of the valley itself told by the men who live there. Other figures cross the pages, other madcap adventures crowd through the narrative, and underneath the exciting story lies the personality of Death valley itself, as mysterious and wildly beautiful as some unknown land in a fairy-tale.

"Lead and Likker," by Owen P. White [Minton-Balch], is another record of the west, but it is the southwest that interests this author. He was born on the present site of El Paso and knows with intimacy and thoroughness the section about which he writes. "Lead and Likker" deals with the bold, bad pioneer days in Texas. Such men as Pat Garrett, the killer of Billy the Kid; John Wesley Hardin, an unerring gunman; John Selman, who killed Hardin, and George Scarborough, who killed Selman. And so it goes. Lead and likker was poured out, or in, with little discrimination and much fanfare. These were lusty, hearty days, and Owen White never misses a thrill.

"Fighting Men of the West."

Dane Coolidge, author of western stories, gives a first hand account of the men who made the west in "Fighting Men of the West" [Dutton]. The book contains a great list of heroes within and without the law. The short biographies include portraits of Col. Charles Goodnight, trail-maker; Clay Allison, Southern Man Killer, Commodore Perry Owens, Death Valley Scotty, and others whose names appear whenever there is talk of the flamboyant days of the west. Each story is authentic and dramatic, based on documents and interviews and personal research. The book has also an excellent collection of illustrations. High adventure and romance are here. And again indisputable truth on every page.

And there are likewise three recent books of description of the west.

Julius F. Stone has spent forty active years studying the Grand cañon, one of the earth's most fascinating spots. The result is "Canyon Country" [Putnam]. Practically everything you want to know, from pure description to sound geological explanation, is in this book. The descriptive text is to a large extent in diary form. The scientific material which makes up about a half of the book is clear and interesting. Each explanation is carefully illustrated with beautiful and fascinating pictures of cañon scenes.

Two Books of Travel.

"Trails Through the Golden West," by Robert Frothingham [McBride], describes and explains, as far as it is possible, the great natural wonders of the west. The author has traveled extensively as fisher, tramper, hunter, and motorist through the west over a period of thirty-three years. He escorts the reader through the well known spots of beauty and also through those little known to the tourist. He visits Rainbow bridge, the Giant cactus forests, Carlsbad cavern, rambles through the romantic Hispanic southwest, stops for a while at Tombstone and Death valley, goes through the famous national parks and rests in awe at the Grand cañon. If any one can resist these descriptions, these simple scientific explanations of the fascinating spots visited, he has never known and never will know what wanderlust means.

"Footloose in the West," by Charles J. Finger [Morrow], is a book for both the armchair traveler and the real traveler. Mr. Finger and his children set out on a trip that was to be but a short holiday from work. It turned out to be a vacation that lasted two months. They covered most of Colorado, a good part of Arizona, part of California, Oregon, Washington, Vancouver, Canada, Montana, and Wyoming. Their trip was a charming sort of vagabondage, informal and impulsive. Besides the lovely descriptions of all the places and sights seen the book contains many practical hints on travel and expense. Selecting Your Bridal Things Is Greatest Shopping Thrill

BY RHEA SEEGER.

IF you are one of the many maids who with a lofty disregard of prudence are taking themselves out of circulation via the middle aisle of a church, this last week of freedom in the merry month of May will no doubt be spent in a jittery state of contemplation over your wedding gown.

However, due to a lot of optimistic buyers who were certain that as soon as June hovered around the horizon and silver yellow spring moons appeared in the night skies the usual company of June brides would suddenly begin that most thrilling search . . . shopping for bridal loveliness . . . many selections are now ready for your capricious approval.

Even though you have fully decided that for once in your life you will shop and not care or even count the cost, you, who are most extravagant will be glad to know that wedding finery is price-marked encouragingly low, maybe as a consoling gesture to try and make you believe that old exploded myth that two can fend off starvation less expensively than one.

But whatever you believe, whatever you decide to wear for that faltering last walk in possession of your own mind, one thing is perfectly obvious even to the most dreamy eyed one, wedding gowns, divinely perfect creations, are so low in price that in spite of the "change" depression or what-have-you, you'll buy one and drag your swain to the altar, if necessary, by force.

You may be skeptical, you may be disinterested, disillusioned, you may be a wise cracking cynic, but if you weaken long enough to view these lusciously lovely snares to clothe you while you promise to do a lot of things you never thought you would . . . the chances are ten to one that you will be permanently softened into a sentimental slant on this giving and taking the marriage lines.

There isn't a man hater alive who could successfully resist the lure of gleaming ivory satin, especially in a wedding gown made with long tight sleeves that fit in long points over the hand. The gown itself is simple, but a deceptive simplicity achieved with yards of supple satin intricately cut in sections that cling closely to the figure . . . nothing mars this silvery slender perfection, but you may encounter a few minutes of indecision over the final choice. For these satin sheaths may be purchased with various yoke motifs.

One superlatively beautiful combination shows what genius can do with a shallow, shoulder covering net yoke strung with tiny pearl beads . . . another cuts a back yoke deeply into the creamy satin and then veils this with cobwebby real lace . . . while yet another uses a fragile lace yoke appliqued on the satin gown with a band of seed pearls.

This summer you can look like a story book princess in a long clinging wedding robe of lace . . . a gown of still serene beauty with a regal length of lace for the train and long, tight fitting sleeves . . . carry six calla lilies and cover your face with a tiny cloud of white tulle, demurely bend your head down the aisle but walk like a ruling empress in all your bridal beauty when you march back to face the envious femininity of the audience.

There is a particularly lovely dress for the petite bride . . . fashioned of wedding ring, shining, white satin . . . the tiny sleeves are puffed and reach high above the elbow . . . the dress is an exquisite miniature of a high waisted Empress Josephine gown with a lovely, soul satisfying train that magically adds inches and inches to your modest five feet of shortness . . . with this you can carry a small bouquet or new flower muff.

There are all kinds of wedding gowns, frilly be-ruffled net models, delightful new ideas made with the new sheer crêpes and crêpe roma . . . statuesque affairs of clinging silk crêpes that make you look as beautiful as an angel . . . and for modest budgets that simply must be listened to about the prettiest garden weddings to be seen are the ones where every one, including the bride, flutters in organdy.

Fine French organdy can be made as cleverly, as intricately seamed as the gowns of silk or satin . . . the bride can be as ethereal as an elusive dream . . . the bridesmaids as dewily colorful as garden flowers, and all the bridal party lives happily afterward with frocks that can be used again and again for all summer festivities.

Declares Children of Porto Rico Are Periled by Disease

"To conquer the worst condition in public health now under the American flag," the congregation of the new First Congregational church at Washington boulevard and Ashland avenue was informed yesterday by John W. Mace, "it is simply imperative to nourish the bodies of semi-starved children in Porto Rico. All medical measures will otherwise fail. To quit now is unthinkable, for the salvation of Porto Rico depends upon this service."

Mace is national field director of the Porto Rico child feeding committee, which combats the ravages of tuberculosis and other diseases imperiling the population of the island. Chicagoans who are members of the local branch include Jane Addams, Frank J. Loesch, Dean John H. Wigmore of Northwestern university; Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Cardinal Mundelein, and Bishop George Craig Stewart.

'Scandals' at Opera House; Happy Audience Sets Record

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The latest edition of Mr. White's "Scandals," on tour in the full panoply of its Broadway decorations, was revealed last night in the magnificent environment of the Civic Opera house —the first entertainment of its kind that has been performed in that capacious temple of the higher musical arts. An audience of almost 3,000 theatergoers assembled for the revels; a new box office record for song-and-dance shows in Chicago was established; and as far as I could ascertain, every one was extremely satisfied with the arrangement.

The waves of applause that followed the numbers seemed to start in the back rows and roll forward, which would suggest that the acoustics were playing no favorites. An engineering device helped the "Scandals" to communicate its message to the farthest corners of the auditorium without any of the hollow mockery of sound amplification.

This is a show that runs true to Mr. White's tradition; it is handsome and gay, casual and brisk, dapper and diverting. Its program is well balanced, and the personalities with which its company is spangled have decided value as entertainers. It does not abandon itself to the grosser and more fleshly forms of contemporary Broadway mirth, and as long as I saw with it, I failed to find a single example of the bawdy skits technically called "black-outs." This "Scandals" contrives to be worldly without renouncing its self-respect.

Here are my program notes on the six leading celebrants of this merry ritual:

Rudy Vallee: The young man whose prowess over the radio is regarded as responsible for the development of the "crooner" species. He has an easy, graceful way with a song; he seems at home on the stage, and his contributions to the show are winning and unpretentious. There is no swank about Rudy; he seems unconscious of his fame as a prince charming of the broadcasting chains. His singing is decidedly pleasant, especially in the number called "This Is the Missus," which gives him the background of Mr. White's good looking girls, in full array.

Everett Marshall: He serves as liaison officer between the "Scandals" and the musical traditions of the opera house. He is a baritone who would grace any opera company, no matter how splendidly civic; and he is now having his first fling in a revue after four years with the Metropolitan. Mr. Marshall chants a fine song, "That's Why Darkies Are Born," in a triumphant manner, and with it brings down the curtain on the first half of "Scandals" to prodigious applause. His other numbers are "The Thrill Is Gone," which is romantic, and "The Song of the Foreign Legion," which is martial. His singing is the best that has been heard by theatergoers in Chicago since Jules Bledsoe gave us "Old Man River" in "Show Boat."

Willie and Eugene Howard: A familiar brother act of the revues, doing their stuff with zeal and humor. Willie is extremely funny in a sketch which deals with the woes of a client whose lawyer never lost a case. In this fantasy, in a bickering with the law over a $2 fine, Willie ends up under sentence of death, while his attorney is still confident of the outcome.

Ray Bolger: An eccentric dancing comedian who has inherited a share of the mantle of the late Jack Donahue. To me a new and decidedly enjoyable performer; and a complete hit with his audience.

Ethel Barrymore Colt: The great Ethel's comely daughter, who serves as a wholesome heroine in the sketches. Her voice will remind you, now and then, of her mother.

The Gale Quadruplets: Decidedly pretty girls who sing, dance, and turn cartwheels, as children of plural birth are wont to do when they take to the stage. They are gifted damsels, but I am suspicious of their quadruplicity.

Then, among the minor principals, there are Joan Abbott, who starts off the show's theme song, "Life Is Just a Bowl of Cherries"; Barbara Blair, the Loomis sisters, and Helen Gordon, all pleasing to the eye; and also several dozen of the chorus girls in whom Mr. White takes a justifiable pride. They bear out the Broadway reputation of "Scandals."

Garden Club of Lake Forest Issues Invitations for Show

Any Grower May Enter Flowers in Exhibit; New Class Are Announced.

BY JUDITH CASS.

LAKE FORESTERS are planning to do without a lot of things this summer which they used to enjoy in more prosperous years, but the annual flower show, thank heavens, is one event which can't be affected by the bothersome economic situation.

The Lake Forest Garden club has sent out invitations to its annual exhibit, and a glance at the schedule is enough to lure any proud gardener into the competition for prizes in what should be one of the outstanding shows of the season.

The show is to be held on Saturday and Sunday, June 11 and 12, in the service buildings of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's Lake Forest estate. It would be difficult to imagine a lovelier setting than the rose gardens, smooth shaded lawns and splashing fountains surrounding these buildings which Mrs. McCormick has loaned to the show committee for several years.

The flower show is not limited to Garden club members. The committee not only invites but urges all who are interested in gardens and flowers to exhibit in any of its four sections. The North Shore Horticultural society, composed of gardeners and superintendents of estates, will have an additional show of one section for its own members.

One of the new classes this year which is arousing a lot of interest is outdoor window box planting for a child's room. The committee will furnish a setup of window frame, sash, box, and white curtains for this section, which will be limited to six series. Mrs. Stephen Y. Hord is in charge of this division.

Special Class For Bay Windows.

Another intriguing innovation will be a class for inside arrangement of bay windows, about which information may be obtained from Mrs. Thomas C. Dennehy Jr. Only seven entries will be allowed in this class.

In the six classes which make up the section of flower arrangements in containers there is also an idea which has never been attempted before in the Lake Forest shows—an arrangement of any flowers in a transparent glass container—with the arrangements of stems in water to count in the judging. Mrs. William McCormick Blair, chairman of the show, saw an exhibit of this kind in the New York flower show and was responsible for including it in the schedule here. The other five classes in this section will be judged on the following points: Individuality, 10 per cent; color harmony, 30 per cent; relationship of plant material to containers, 30 per cent; arrangement of bloom, 30 per cent.

All entries must reach Mrs. Blair not later than June 1. In all sections but the one for table arrangements exhibitors must find some one to substitute for them if they are unable for any reason to exhibit, in order to preserve uniformity. Another rule prevents the possibility of faded beauty on the second day of the show by requesting exhibitors to replenish their exhibits on Sunday if necessary.

Race Parties This Afternoon.

The opening of Washington Park track this afternoon means that the racing season is starting in earnest for those fashionable turf fans who find at the nearby tracks the most exciting summertime diversion Chicago has to offer. Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody and Howard F. Gillette have invited half a hundred of their friends to be their guests at lunch in the little private dining room of the clubhouse before the first race. There will be special trains going out for those people who don't care to motor.

Evanstonians are prepared to entertain a lot of company this week before and after the five concerts of the twenty-fourth annual Chicago-North Shore music festival in Patten gymnasium of Northwestern university. The first concert will be given tonight before an audience that will include music lovers who have been faithful attendants at the festival for many years. Among the boxholders are Mr. and Mrs. James Scott Kemper, Lyman F. Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Gault, George Olmsted, Theodore W. Robinson, Mrs. William Sherman Hay, Mrs. James A. Patten, William A. Dyche, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Hardy.

Benefit Lecture for Cradle Society.

Mrs. Augustus W. Eddy will open her residence at 1246 North State street this afternoon for a tea and lecture by Dr. Horace J. Bridges on "The Psychology of Parenthood." Proceeds will benefit the Cradle society, of which Mrs. Eddy is Chicago auxiliary chairman.

The woman's committee of the South Shore Country club horse show will meet at a luncheon today to discuss plans for the series of entertainments to be given during the week of June 7, when the annual equestrian exhibit will bring throngs of visitors to the club.

Mrs. Joseph Leiter and her daughter, Miss Nancy Leiter, are at the Homestead at Hot Springs, Va., which is always a gay and popular resort during the spring season. Mrs. Leiter's mother, Mrs. John R. Williams, and Mrs. Leland Harrison of Washington, D. C., are to arrive in Hot Springs this week.

Nancy Leiter, who is a member of the Aiken Hunt, rides daily over the mountain trails around Hot Springs and makes picnic excursions with other young people of the colony to Fassifern farm and the Cascades club.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Belden, who went to Hot Springs a fortnight ago, and Joseph Belden Jr., who joined his parents for a short vacation last week, returned to Lake Forest Thursday.

Mrs. William McCormick Blair and her children will go to Bar Harbor July 1 for the summer.

Mrs. Coleman May Go West.

Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Strobel, are thinking of going to California next month, although their plans are not definitely decided as yet. They may ride west in a new air cooled Pullman which will make its maiden trip on the Golden State Limited on June 13. Mrs. Coleman usually spends the summer and early fall at her Santa Barbara residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Rawson of 1550 State parkway returned yesterday from a week's trip to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Forgan of 1500 Lake Shore drive have returned from a short stay in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Bunting and their children have returned to Lake Forest after having spent the winter at Charleston, S. C. Miss Elizabeth Bunting is to be graduated in June from the Holton Arms school in Washington, D. C.

Solomon B. Smith and the former Barbara Neff, who declined to reveal where they were going for their honeymoon after their wedding a week ago Saturday, went to White Sulphur Springs, where Mr. Smith attended the annual May meeting of the board of governors of the Investment Bankers' association. From White Sulphur the couple will go to New York to board a boat for Bermuda.

Among other Chicagoans at White Sulphur for the convention were Mr. and Mrs. Alden H. Little, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Barnhart, James A. Cathcart, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Osborn Jr., Joseph A. Rushton, and Robert A. Gardiner, the former amateur golf champion, who played a fine game in the bankers' golf tournament.

Mrs. Ralph H. Poole, who went to Baltimore about two weeks ago when her daughter, Miss Barbara Poole, was rushed to a hospital for an appendectomy, is expected to return to Lake Forest this week. Miss Barbara will travel homeward by train, and her mother will motor back a few days later. Mrs. Poole visited her son, Ralph Jr., at Princeton and also drove to Catonsville, Md., to see her younger daughter, Nancy, at St. Timothy's school.

Westmoreland, the lovely summer estate of the Albert Blake Dicks in Lake Forest, has been opened and made ready for the return of Mr. and Mrs. Dick from their annual winter stay in Florida. They have been in the south since January, spending most of their time cruising on their yacht, Chieftain. At present they are in New York for a few days before returning to Lake Forest.

Wed

MRS. EDWARD WACHS.

Dr. and Mrs. N. C. Hamilton of Kokomo, Ind., announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Constance Ann, to Edward Wachs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wachs of Winnetka. The couple are to reside at Sault Ste. Marie, Canada.

Sudden Love

By
ELISABETH SANXAY HOLDING

SYNOPSIS.

Esmee Sully spends her forlorn young life between the office, where she is an inefficient typist, and a dismal home. Mrs. Sully loves her three children blindly, but doesn't know how to take care of their spiritual or physical needs. Cynthia, the oldest, has been deserted by her husband. Lew, a year older than Esmee, has gotten into serious trouble. Esmee can barely remember the days before her father's death, when they had had a cheerful home. Jimmy Consadine forces Lew to introduce him to Esmee. Lew warns Esmee she'll make trouble unless she keeps away from Jimmy. She is fascinated by Jimmy's grand manner, but finds him an unmanageable lover. Lew gets in a jam and asks Esmee to get him money. She's afraid to ask Jimmy. She meets Arthur Twining at the home of a former woman employer. He is attentive to Esmee, impressed by her beauty and guilelessness. In her anguish she tells him her troubles and he offers to help. Arthur's roommate is Michael Marriott, a dissipated young playwright imbued with the futility of life. When Esmee meets him it's love at first sight. Esmee understands his need of her is real. Jimmy finds the money which Twining has loaned Esmee in her possession and threatens trouble.

INSTALLMENT VII.

DESOLATION.

"You have?" Lew asked, incredulously. "The whole fifty? Get it from your office?"

"Yes," Esmee answered, promptly.

She was a poor liar. As he took the envelope he glanced narrowly at her and she looked back at him with unconvincing steadfastness.

"See here!" he said. "If you got this from Consadine—"

"Well, I didn't!" she cried hotly. "You shouldn't—"

He was looking at the envelope. There was something scribbled faintly in pencil on the corner.

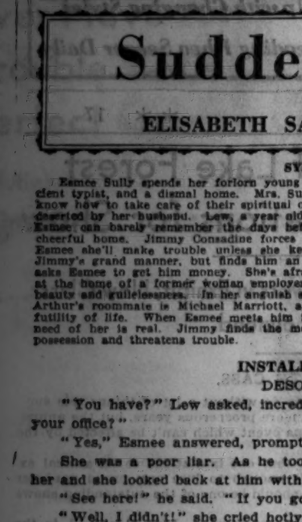
"Marriott. Be sure to call up Helen," he read aloud. "Now, see here! This didn't come from your office. I want to know—"

"Well, it's none of your business!" she cried, stung to unwonted anger by the sound of Marriott's name. "I've got it for you, and that's enough. You ought to know it's all right."

"I don't," he said. "You're such a little idiot."

"Shut up!" said Esmee.

They glared at each other for a moment; then Esmee began to laugh. So did he. It was so much like the quarrels of their childhood. From the kitchen Mrs. Sully heard their young laughter, and she smiled to herself. After all, she thought, things weren't so bad. She began to fry an egg in slightly rancid fat for her daughter, and felt happy.



"He says there's a dick there waiting for me now."

Lew was always the first to leave in the morning: in pallid summer dawn, in the blackness of winter mornings. Mrs. Sully got up, put on her wrapper, and cooked his breakfast. It was always an ill-cooked breakfast, but there was plenty of strong coffee, and she would sit across the kitchen table from him, smiling her wonderful warm smile and watching her son and imagining for him a brilliant future—a success which he had no possible chance of attaining.

She got up as usual this morning. When Lew came into the kitchen the coffee had just boiled over on the stove. The door bell rang.

"If it's that man from the gas company," said Mrs. Sully, "I'll fry you an egg, darling, before I open the door. Because he'll probably turn off the gas."

"Never mind an egg," said Lew, and, rising, went to the door himself. Mrs. Sully heard him speak to some one and then go out of the flat, closing the door behind him.

"Perhaps he can manage the man," she thought. "If he can just be put off until Saturday——"

It seemed a long time before Lew came back, and she thought he looked a little queer. He swallowed another cup of coffee, standing, then he said:

"I've got to see Esmee. Tell her to come here, will you?"

"Anything I can do, dear?"

"No," he said, and suddenly kissed her on the temple, where her rich, dark hair was turning gray.

She went into the cubicle where her daughters lay, side by side. She waked Esmee cautiously.

"Lew wants to speak to you before he goes, pet."

Esmee came into the kitchen, dazed with sleep.

"Come into my room," said Lew, and closed the door.

She looked at his face and she thought that at last the nameless terror she had so long dreaded had come.

"Lew—?"

"I've been framed," he said. "The foreman told me that if I'd make good today it'd be all right. But Harrigan was just here. He was working the night shift, and he says there's a dick there waiting for me now."

"But if you've got the money—?"

"I tell you I've been framed. Some one's got it in for me, and if I show up I'll take the rap. So I'm going—"

"Going where, Lew?"

"I'd better not tell you," he said. "You'd better not know, in case you're asked. I've got this fifty, thank God, and that'll take care of me."

"Lew . . ." she said. Her teeth were chattering in a sort of nervous chill; her hands felt like ice.

"I've got to go—quick," he said.

"They've—really got something on you? Lew, you know I don't care, my darling Lew—only I want to know."

"Yes," he said. "I took some tools and pawned them. I thought I could get them out before they were missed, and I wanted the money. For a damned little —— of a girl."

He used a word she had never heard before, yet she understood it well enough. She could, without knowledge, understand all that had happened to Lew, all his angry misery and rebellion, his craving for something upon which his youth might feed.

He began to speak; his thin face had the austere beauty of a young archangel while he spoke of his own shameful happiness.

"I can't stand it," he said. "I work all day—and I don't get a damn thing out of it. I'm supposed to pay mother a certain sum. That's all right. But every week there's something new—some bill . . . She acts as if they'd fallen out of the sky—"

"I know . . ." said Esmee.

"Yes, you know, all right," he said. "It happens to you, too. All your salary gets taken . . . but you're—good, and I'm not. Cyn's never going to help . . . I never have a cent . . . I didn't ever have decent clothes . . . I could have got them. I had a chance to get in right with a push who knew where the money was . . . And . . ." He paused for a moment, his narrow blue eyes strangely alight. "Well, what's the sense in living like I do? Working like a dog—and coming home to his pigsty . . . ? I guess I need excitement. The way I look at it a guy's got a right to take what he can get. That's the—the law of existence or something . . ."

She said nothing. Her glance had fallen upon his hands. They were scarred, rough, the nails engrimed, yet they had something of the fragile beauty of her own.

"I passed up chance after chance to get in on something good," he went on. "I've never done anything—before this about the tools. I did that because I had to have a dinner jacket—to keep up with the crowd."

"Lew," she said, "can't I go with you, Lew darling?"

"No," he said.

"Will you—ever come back, my Lew?"

"I'll come back to you, sometime," he said. "Maybe I'll write . . . You'll look after mother, won't you?"

She took his hand and laid it against her cheek that was wet with tears; she patted it softly.

"Yes, I will, Lew . . . Lew, what shall I tell her?"

"O, any lie," he said. "She'll believe it. Say I've gone out west to look for a better job . . . Now, good-by, Esmee . . ."

"Good-by, my darling Lew . . ."

He was gone. The door had closed after him. Lew, in his khaki shirt and trousers, had gone out into the world.

It seemed to her that she would never shed another tear in her life. This desolation was too vast, too overwhelming. She was pale, silent; she could eat no breakfast, but Mrs. Sully had seen her like that before.

"You must eat an extra nice lunch, pet," she said.

"Yes, I will, mother."

She was not late at the office that morning; she dared not be. She thought:

"There isn't any one but me now . . ."

Then suddenly she remembered Marriott, and warmth came back to her.

"He'd understand," she thought.

At noon, when she went out to lunch, she telephoned him.

"They don't answer," said the operator.

She had a cup of coffee and then rang again. This time a voice shouted "Who the hell is it?"

"It's Esmee," she said.

"O, Esmee!" he said. "I'm sorry, dear. I was asleep. Come right along down, will you?"

"I have to work until five."

"Do you have to, dear? Then look here! Hop a taxi at five and come down and we'll have dinner together."

"All right, Michael."

Kindness to Your Hands Is Well Repaid

Skin Improves with Use of Olive Oil.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The washing out of one's gloves has my personal vote for the most pesky of jobs, and in this, I believe, I have many sympathizers. Not even the joy of having a fresh, clean pair for every occasion mitigates the peskiness of this wash basin duty. So, many of us will be welcoming the coming of the season that promises temporary relief.

But there'll be the hands to look to. No gloves behind which to hide the defective tips, if defective they should become through carelessness. Warm weather in itself is an asset to hands. There is no chapping. Wind and cold redness is gone. And the natural oils lubricate more easily in the warm season.

There's a labor saving device that has won the gratitude of housewives and mothers and the business girl who has to keep her gloves and undies and stockings clean and fresh every day. I refer to the soap flakes now commonly used in dishwashing duties, washing out of children's clothes and grownups' things, too. Some of the flakes have less skin drying tendency than others.

Some are markedly drying. Yet, because they are cheap and make dish and clothes washing comparatively easy tasks, they should be used. BUT—over the kitchen sink there should be some sort of lubricating lotion to be used immediately after the hands are rinsed and dried of dish or clothes water. I recommend the oversink place for the lotion because when left until one cleans up for the day or night the hand lotion duty is too often forgotten.

A woman can get into the habit of using her hand lotion right after the household duty just as easily as she can get into the habit of folding up her apron and putting it away. And it is this constantly protective measure that tells on hand skin beauty. An oily preparation such as olive oil is advised. A packet of cleansing tissue could be kept on hand to wipe the surplus oil off.

Recently there have appeared on the market some excellent hand creams that are quick drying, beautifying, and protective. I believe more enjoyment of housework would be claimed were hands not the sufferers. Yet they need not be if women would just get this habit of lubricating the skin after hot water and soap or soap flake use.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

NANCY: STOP WORRYING ABOUT your height. There are many women 5 feet 8 inches. Instead of feeling discriminated against in a pictorial way, the smart ones are accenting their height. Some of our most popular models are tall.

GRACE: DON'T START WETTING your hair like that at fourteen. Hair specialists are agreed that it is the daily wetting of the hair, without immediate drying, that contributes to hair loss later.

K. N.: YES, MEN ARE WELCOME here, too! I don't see why the electrolysis treatment wouldn't be just as effective on the masculine skin as on the feminine.

Eight Women Writers Give OpinionsofMen

Too Many Like to Be Fed, They Say.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

In a book just off the English press, eight women novelists tell what they think of men. What these women think and say about men is not the most pleasing reading in the world for the attacked sex. Among other things they say is: "The reign of man is ending; he cannot stand the strain of the modern world as well as woman can; he is visibly dwindling in an age where muscle does not count." The notion that men are the strong, silent beings is scoffed at.

"Once man gets started on the subject of his own ego," laments Miss G. B. Stern, "there is no silence. Amazing strength, though!"

"And further," says Miss Storm Jameson accusingly, "men are quite ready to let their wives support them. . . . The normal tendency of the male is toward being supported. . . . The normal man finds it easy and natural to rely on the greater energy and competence of a woman in confronting the increased strain of modern life."

How does this accusation apply to the American man? We would like to dismiss the theme as a peculiar trend of the foreign male and not in any way applicable to our American husbands, but we cannot. We can only admit that there is no such thing as Man with a capital M with an ordained set of characteristics. Men and women are separate human beings and as such must be judged.

Yet, with this concession, the fact remains that some of our men are exhibiting the tendency of enjoying being supported. And more are relishing the idea of a woman taking over a large share of the financial responsibility. No more evidence of this fact is needed than greets me here day after day in this confessional of mine. I hold, however, that women have little right to complain since they, themselves, have been largely responsible for bringing about their present chaotic position. They've done the spoiling.

Mrs. S., for example, is married to a man who earns $60 a week. She worked in a business of her own for four years after marriage. Then she gave up her business. The husband is furious; calls her a quitter; accuses her and threatens to leave. His own sixty per he wants for spending money. Behind which, of course, there is the story of fours years of spoiling by the woman.

Mrs. S. is only one case of many that have come to my attention. If women are going to resent the male they've taught to lean on them—they'd better not marry, or, marrying, withdraw from the earning game at first sight of male dependence.

Would Welcome Old Organ.

"Our church, which is a country church, cannot afford to buy everything it needs and we are most anxious to have an organ for the children. We don't mind how old it is as long as it is in condition to use. Do you think you could get one for us through your column? MRS. A. M."

This request comes to us from a small town in a neighboring state. Perhaps some school or church which has been able to replace its old organ recently could fill the need here.

Do you know what is the matter when your cake goes on a rampage and, with no warning or explanation to its maker—

Cracks open in the middle?
Has a smooth, bready crust?
Falls or runs over the pan?
Burns at the corners and is doughy in the center?
Is full of holes and tunnels?
Is dry or rubbery?

Even the best of cooks is bound to have difficulty to explain failures sometimes, but if we once dig out the whys and wherefores which lie behind these failures we'll discover that each one may be remedied in one or more of four different ways. Either the proportions of the recipe we are using are wrong, the ingredients are not adapted to the recipe, the baking temperature is incorrect or our method of mixing is at fault.

First, about the kind of ingredients. Pastry flour seems to give the most satisfactory texture and lightness. Of the fats, I like butter best mainly because of the delicious flavor it adds. A finely, rather than a coarsely, granulated sugar gives the most satisfactory texture. Eggs are best fresh, though not necessarily what are called "strictly fresh."

As for recipes, there are thousands available. But virtually all butter cakes are based upon one standard formula—with countless pleasing variations, of course. The following recipe and method is one which has been found most successful in regulated laboratory experiments and in the home kitchen:

FOUNDATION RECIPE FOR SIMPLE BUTTER CAKE.

½ cup butter or other fat
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
2 cups flour
1 cup milk
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon flavoring

Experiments have shown that if we want to make the most perfect of velvety cakes we must be prepared to spend at least fifteen minutes of actual work in putting it together. For cakes, like mayonnaise, will stay combined only if they have been properly put together. Otherwise, the ingredients have a tendency to "separate" during or after baking, and thus to destroy the velvety texture. Here is the method—and remember—don't skimp on the mixing!

Cream the butter and work in the sugar and salt. Add the egg yolks, which have been well beaten, and about a half cup of the flour. And now—stir! Experts find that between the creaming of the sugar and fat and the addition of the first portion of milk we should have used about 200 stirring strokes with the spoon. You will learn to time this, but just to check up on yourself, why not count your strokes next time? When this stirring is completed, add the milk and flour alternately, ending with the flour, which last portion contains the sifted baking powder. Beat well for a minute and then stir in the flavoring and fold in the beaten whites. Be gentle about this, but be sure the whites are thoroughly blended with the ingredients, otherwise the cake will be porous. Bake in a moderately hot oven [355-375 degrees F.] forty-five to sixty minutes for loaf cakes.

The cake is done when it shrinks from the sides of the pan and a smooth toothpick comes out clean and dry when inserted in the center of the cake. Loosen the edges of the cake and invert the pan over a cake rack. After a few minutes turn right side up and cool well before frosting.

And now to answer those questions I asked a few paragraphs back.

[This first one is for Mrs. H. C., who wants to know why her loaf cake cracks open in the center and is doughy inside. And, Mrs. H. C., I suggest you check your oven thermometer with some friend's reliable oven regulator. Three hundred fifty degrees F. is moderate temperature. Cake temperatures may be slightly higher.]

Cracks come from too much flour or too hot an oven.

Cakes have bready crusts because of too much flour or too long beating after the flour has been added.

Cakes may fall because of jarring during baking, underbaking, too much shortening, or too little flour.

Burnt edges and doughy centers are the result of too high baking temperatures.

Tunnels and heavy streaks come from insufficient and incorrect mixing of materials.

Heavy cakes may also be caused by too much sugar or the escape of too much leavening gas before baking.

Dry, rubbery cake texture may be caused by insufficient fat or too much flour, while stickiness comes from excess sugar.

French Chorus in Best Work of Its Career

Presents Music of Many Styles and Periods.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Under the title of "An Afternoon in France," La Chorale Francaise de Chicago appeared in Kimball hall yesterday afternoon under the direction of Educard Dufresne, incidentally doing the best singing in the history of the organization.

French composers of many periods were represented on the program and were of as many styles and moods as periods. There were songs of the ancients, choral excerpts from operas of the nineteenth century, grave pieces, gay pieces, all sung in a way that showed excellent training and firm discipline on the part of Conductor Dufresne.

William Phillips, baritone, was the guest artist, at first adding to the French atmosphere by singing in his best manner a group by Duparc, Debussy, Szulc, and Fourdrain, later turning to Chicago with a group of songs by such notables as Eleanor Everest Freer, Jeanne Joyd, Phyllis Fergus, and Frank Waller. The concert was under the patronage of M. René Weiller, consul general of France.

More interesting music of Africa was presented by Prince Modupe Paris and his World's Fair Afro-American Male Jubilee singers at Fullerton hall yesterday afternoon. As on the former appearance of this group, the program was designed to show the development of Negro music in Africa and the United States, differing, however, by containing fewer spiritual and more African tribal songs. The director and his chorus are an alert organization in matters of song, if somewhat less so in getting under way with them and in stage settings. Never were ten chairs arranged and rearranged in so many ways before the desired effect, a straight row, was reached. But the actual performance justified itself. They are good singers with some astonishing basses among them, the group is well balanced and contains some first class soloists, of whom the director is one.

Child Patterns His Manners from Parents

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Question: "One day I went to a certain favorite shop with my children and apologized to the owner of the store, as I thought their manners were a little too offhand. She said, 'I don't see anything the matter with their manners. I don't like to see people too strict with their children's manners. You'll never be ashamed of them if the grown people they live with are polite and considerate to them and to each other.

"What do you think?"

Answer: I'm inclined to agree with the woman you quote. I believe children need occasional suggestions, but I think it more important that general ideas of considerateness and hospitality be instilled than that forms be emphasized. The latter sprout rather naturally if the foundation and the example are good.

I know several children who have been criticized by certain grownups for a lack of marionette manners, yet those children in their homes show a spontaneous and natural courtesy to their parents when no outsider is present which is delightful to see. One has to work this out for himself and not be guided by books of etiquette or by what other people say.

Question: "I missed the Sunday article on books for young nature lovers. Have you a leaflet containing those names?"

Answer: Yes; it is called the "Young Naturalist's Booklist" and contains many more books than were mentioned in the Sunday article you refer to. It is for boys and girls of various ages and is on various subjects of outdoor interest. It might be well to mention here that this is not the same list of books as the one given last spring called "Books of the Outdoor World."

Printed Silk Suit Paris Suggestion for Summer Travel

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — If you are starting off for a trip in hot weather, Paris suggests that you take along one of the smart printed silk suits of which she has made many models this summer.

The best of the printed silk suits for the globe trotter are those that are made of silks having tiny checked patterns or fine stripes. The checked flamenga silks of Bianchini are perfect, as this material does not wrinkle, and is the only silk that hasn't this vice. Checks like the shepherd plaids for which sporting gentlemen have such a fondness are the kind that the Paris dressmakers use to make their tailored silk suits. The suit from Bernard et Cie, sketched today, is made of flamenga having this pattern. The checks are so tiny as to give an effect of an indefinite mixture a short distance away.

The cut of this tailleur is strict and boyish. The hip length jacket has tailored revers and a flat collar. It buttons down the center front and has straight sleeves fastened above the wrists with three bone buttons. The skirt is straight, without plaits or circular movement, and has a very high top, that is covered by the red crêpe marocain vest that is worn with it in place of a blouse. This double breasted vest is notched in the center at the waistline.

'Night Court' Has a Punch in Every Reel

Exciting Melodrama Stirs Audience.

"NIGHT COURT."
Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
Directed by W. S. Van Dyke.
Presented at the Oriental.

THE CAST.

Mike Thomas	Phillips Holmes
Judge Moffett	Walter Huston
Mary Thomas	Anita Page
Judge Osgood	Lewis Stone
Elizabeth Osgood	Mary Carlisle
Crawford	John Miljan
Janitor	Jean Hersholt
Grogan	Tully Marshall
Lil Baker	Noel Francis

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

"Crooked as a dog's hind leg!" sez you to you after watching one Judge Moffett in action for about two minutes.

And right you are! There is no good in the man—that anybody can discover—from one end of the picture to the other!

When you meet hizzoner, the evil that he has done is just about to catch up with him. A committee of honorable hizzoners has been appointed to clean up the city. As much of the stench that attacks their civic nostrils appears to come from the night court presided over by Judge Moffett, these gentlemen set out to find where the body is hidden. . . .

To cover his tracks Judge Moffett stops at nothing and the slimy snake of his activities slithers across a cozy home nest, bringing fear and sorrow to the [figuratively speaking] father, mother and baby bird, who, up to its appearance had been living such happy and, apparently, safe lives.

The judge has a sweetie, and the judge has lieutenants, and any and all of these are devoted and loyal—but there comes a day when the father bird aforementioned flies in hizzoner's eyes, and flutters and pecks the truth out of him.

Here's a melodrama pointing the moral that if citizens WANT their city to be clean they can make it so.

The film is swift-moving and credible for the most part, springs a number of surprises and has a punch to every reel.

Walter Huston plays the undesirable justice in his usual brilliant and discerning fashion. What an actor, what an actor! Noel Francis is slick and pretty as his girl friend. Tully Marshall as the bencher's aid and John Miljan as a conscienceless attorney in cahoots with him are excellent. Anita Page is sweet as the mother bird and Phillips Holmes puts more pep than I ever dreamed he possessed into his portrayal of her taxi-driving husband. The baby is cunning. Subsidiary rôles—especially that of Judge Osgood as played by Lewis Stone—are in the hands of able craftspeople.

The picture has been shrewdly directed and the dialogue is convincing.

The audience of which I was one got quite excited over "Night Court."

Wishing you the same . . . !

See you tomorrow!

NOW WHITEN YOUR TEETH 3 shades in 3 days

If you think yellow, stained, unsightly-looking teeth are natural, start using Kolynos—a half-inch on a dry brush twice daily. In 3 days you'll see your mistake. Your teeth will look 3 shades whiter!

Kolynos—unlike any preparation you've ever used—contains two important ingredients that clean and whiten teeth remarkably. One—the finest cleansing agent known—erases stain and tartar, foams into every tiny fissure and washes away decay-causing debris. While the other ingredient kills the millions of germs that cause most tooth and gum troubles and helps to make teeth absolutely clean.

Thus Kolynos gently cleans teeth right down to the natural white enamel and soon makes them more attractive than ever. It refreshes the mouth and stimulates the gums. Buy a tube of Kolynos today.

SOX UPSET TIGERS TWICE IN NINTH, 3-2, 8-7

REDS' 4 TO 3 VICTORY LOOSENS CUBS' GRIP ON LEAD

SUPPORT FAILS ROOT; BATTERS NO RIOT EITHER

Herman and Jurges Make Misplays.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., May 22.—The Cubs had another brainstorm today with disastrous results. The kid infielders, who have been known to render valuable service, kicked a couple of runs into the hands of the enemy and that was all the roughhousing Reds needed to make it three out of four in the series. The score was 4 to 3, and this combined with the day's doings at Boston puts the Chicagoans on the verge of eviction from the National league's first place apartment.

ERNEST LOMBARDI

As is usually the case when some of the Cubs get beyond bounds in their fielding manners, Charley Root was the victim. The leading citizen of Middletown, O., had only himself to blame for the going over he suffered in the first inning. Two runs came out of that legitimate assault, but thereafter he was a vastly different workman. He was hit in a few spots but would have conquered each situation with ease if Billy Herman hadn't dropped the easiest kind of a throw in the fifth and if bewildered Bill Jurges hadn't tossed to the wrong base after a fumble in the eighth.

Nothing to Cheer About.

There was another thing about the Cubs that wasn't exactly as Manager Hornsby would wish to have it. The same old weakness at bat was painfully evident. For five innings their deeds on offense were represented by two hits off Ray Kolp. In the sixth they did a bit better. Riggs Stephenson tuned in with a single in the wake of two others and a couple of runs were promulgated, but then the attack went back to sleep and wasn't heard from again until the ninth, when a belated rally was shut off after one man had scooted home and the tying run was on base.

Root's first inning started as if he never would retire a man. Douthit set things in motion by singling to left and Root helped by walking Grantham. Babe Herman boomed a hit over short, scoring Douthit. Root tried to throw a scare into Hafey by dusting him off, but inadvertently plunked the bespectacled athlete in the ribs, filling the bases. Then Root began to get hold of himself. Lombardi boosted a fly into Moore's hands and Grantham scored after the catch. The next two fellows also were disposed of on high flies to the outfield.

More Distress for Root.

Root did well to get by with only one run against him in the fifth. Kolp led off with a single to center. Douthit bunted to Root, who made an easy toss to first base, but Billy Herman, who was covering, muffed the ball. Kolp went to third on the error. Grantham lined a single to right. Kolp scored, but Douthit was thrown out at third. The hit, however, grazed Umpire Pfirman, so Kolp had to return to third. Douthit to second and Grantham remained on first. Kolp finally got home to stay on Babe Herman's force out of Grantham. Then Hafey hit one like a bullet toward third, but English smothered it and started a double play.

Before they got around to the point of scoring a couple of runs for themselves in the sixth, the Cubs hadn't done enough on attack to let anybody know they were actually on the premises. In five innings, they put only four men on base, two of them on hits. English walked after two were out in the first and Moore forced him. Babe Herman's funny sun dodging gave Stephenson a double to start the second, but he didn't get any

LEFTY GROVE AND A'S 3 HOME RUNS BEAT YANKS, 4-2

Foxx Hits No. 14; Cochrane, Simmons Connect.

New York, May 22.—(AP)—Some of Lefty Grove's best pitching and three home runs, including Jimmie Foxx's 14th of the season gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 4 to 2 victory over the Yankees before a crowd of 40,000 today. It was the Athletics' seventh consecutive triumph.

Grove outpitched Henry Johnson by a small margin in a close duel. He allowed only six hits and had a shutout up to the ninth inning. Johnson yielded five hits and struck out seven in the eight innings he pitched before giving way to a pinch hitter and Walter Brown, who took the mound in final session.

All the A's runs came through homers. In the fourth inning Al Simmons walloped one out of the lot with Cochrane on base. In the sixth, Mickey Cochrane hit a homer and immediately afterward, Foxx clouted number 14.

Cleveland, O., May 22.—(AP)—Clint Brown weakened in the fifth inning today and the St. Louis Browns pounded him for four hits and as many runs to beat Cleveland, 4 to 2, making it two out of three for the series. Until the fifth, Brown had allowed one hit.

Three of the Browns' four hits were for extra bases, and included two baggers by Ferrell, Burns, and Schulte. Myatt allowed another run when he dropped the ball on a throw to the plate from Cissell. The defeat dropped the Tribe to fifth place below the winning Athletics.

SENATORS, 7; RED SOX, 1.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—(AP)—The Washington Senators pounded out a 7 to 1 victory off four Boston Red Sox pitchers today to gain a full game in the league standing, as the New York Yankees lost to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Weaver, pitching for Washington, yielded four hits. A streak of wildness in the fourth inning, which gave two men bases on balls, coupled with an error by Cronin, put Pickering across the plate with the sole Boston tally.

Don Leon Choice Today in Washington Park Handicap

BY FRENCH LANE.

When the curtain goes down after the opening program of Chicago's metropolitan racing season at Washington Park this afternoon, the heroes, according to overnight betting, will be Red Whisk, a 2 year old from old Kentucky, and Don Leon, a 4 year old from the same section of the Blue Grass country.

For Don Leon ruled as the 4 to 1 favorite to win the Washington handicap at six furlongs, it being the fifth running of this $5,000 stake and Red Whisk was an overwhelming choice to capture the Blue Island purse, which engaged most of the stylish western juveniles. The Blue Island is a dash at five furlongs.

Race fans were gathering in Chicago last night from many parts of the country for the opening of the Washington Park season and as the folks from Kentucky, Maryland, Chicago, California and all points east, west, north and south rubbed elbows in the loop it was very evident that Red Whisk and Don Leon were to be the most talked about horses on the opening program.

Plenty of Rivals for Don Leon.

But Don Leon has his work cut out for him to win the Washington handicap. Californians were backing Polydorus which has won five races in a row very handily at Tanforan, yet they didn't have much money to wager or the overnight odds against him would not have been 10 to 1. But there was quite a lot of eastern backing here for the Greentree stable entry of Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney, which included the good stake horse, Surf Board, of last season and Justinian. Trainer Jack Middleton brought the Greentree pair here for the opening engagement and each horse is reported to be as sharp as a tack.

Old Silverdale also had his supporters in the handicap, and with Tannery, another Kentucky campaigner, was the second choice in the betting at 6 to 1. Tannery raced to a sensational victory at Aurora a few days ago, proving that he is in fine condition. There was also some shouting for the 3 year old Indian Runner, which races in the silks of Hal Price Headley.

Flag Bearer, If It Is Muddy.

Indian Runner early in the season was considered a dangerous Kentucky Derby threat. He trained off before filling his Derby engagement, but since the Derby has rolled up two easy victories at Churchill Downs. He is in the Washington handicap with the featherlike impost of 105 pounds, which is very much in his favor.

Others who had their followers in the Washington handicap were Pansy Walker, Betty Derr, Burning Up, Manta, Gold Step, Camp Boss, Ladder, Prince Atheling Higher, and Flag Bearer. If rain should come up and the track would get sloppy Flag Bearer could show 'em all his heels.

It is the most open Washington handicap ever run and if the track remains fast 16 or 18 of the overnight field of 24 may parade to the post.

The Washington was run for the first time in 1926 and Smiling Gus, trained by Boots Durnell, was a surprise winner. Durnell also produced the 1927 winner in Girl Scout, which triumphed at long odds. The race was not renewed in 1928, but in 1929 and 1930 Misstep was the victor. Last year Tannery accounted for it.

Expect Crowd of 15,000.

Washington Park is spic and span for the opening and there is every prospect that some 15,000 will be on hand when the first call of bugle is heard at 15 minutes after 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Attendance at Aurora and Sportsman's Park was very high during the early days of the Illinois season and with but one track operating now the belief prevails that Washington Park will day after day attract the greatest crowds that have ever gathered there.

The betting most likely will be below the wagering of other years. There has been a shrinkage in the amount of money wagered at all other tracks in the country this season. Chicago may be an exception, but Col. Matt J. Winn and his associates in Washington Park hardly expect it to be.

There are seven well balanced races on the opening program. Horses from here, there and everywhere will be coming together. It promises to be the kind of racing Chicagoans have been waiting to see.

BRAVES DIVIDE BEFORE 51,331; BOSTON RECORD

Beat Phils, 4-2, for 7 in Row, Then Lose, 5-3.

Boston, Mass., May 22.—(AP)—The largest crowd that ever assembled for a major league game in Boston today saw the Boston Braves split a double header with Philadelphia. The official count was 51,331.

With Ed Brandt pitching, the Braves took the opener, 4 to 2. Philadelphia bunched three singles in the tenth for a 5 to 3 victory in the second game. Brandt held the Phillies to five hits as he pitched the Braves into their seventh straight win. In the second game Harry Seibold pitched well for the Braves until the eighth when the Phillies tied the score with three runs. Fred Frankhouse relieved Seibold and in the tenth Klein and Hurst singled and George Davis scored them with a long drive. Scores:

TIGERS? JUST KITTENS NOW

"Yer out!" Frank Grube, White Sox catcher, finishes a circus slide into the plate in third inning of first game with Detroit yesterday, but is called out. Grube had walked and gone to third on Sam Jones' double and tried for home when Elias Funk grounded to Pitcher Wyatt. Wyatt snapped the ball back to Catcher Muddy Ruel in time to nip Grube. HOSE SCORE 5 IN LAST INNING OF SECOND BATTLE

Kress, Hodapp Hit Homers in Opener.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Swallow all those mean words you've said about the White Sox during their troubles and tribulations. Hail them as stronghearted men. They won two games from the Detroit Tigers yesterday, which would be a lot under routine processes. But, my goodness, neighbors, put on your specs and read carefully how they did it.

CLARENCE FIEBER.

The score of the first game was 3 to 2. Red Kress blotted out a 2 to 0 disadvantage in the sixth inning when he knocked a homer with one on, and then along came Johnny Hodapp, just made an outfielder after all these years. Johnny busted out another homer to end the game.

The score for the second game was 8 to 7. It was sweeter and more dramatic than the first, for in the seventh the Sox were trailing 7 to 1, after having seen Ted Lyons driven to cover. Red Kress drove in two runs with a double in the eighth. But what were two runs?

Extra! All About the Ninth!

Appling and Grube singled to start the ninth. Whatever cheer these smacks might have brought was sunk when Rothrock and Funk fanned. Then Selph was hit with a pitched ball. The bases were full, but the Sox still were four runs behind and only a putout to go.

Well, Seeds walked and in came Appling with a run. Kress grounded to Rogell. Those of the crowd of 20,000 who had lingered started for the exits. They came back when Rogell fumbled just long enough to let Seeds beat his toss to second. This permitted Grube to score.

So the bases were full, with two runs needed to tie and three needed to win when Lu Blue came to bat. Lu liked the second ball that Herring threw to him, and he slammed a triple to left center. Three runners scampered home. The contest was over.

Gregory, Fieber Winning Pitchers.

And who were the winning pitchers in this day of amazing success? In the first game, Paul Gregory, rookie from Atlanta, who had allowed the Tigers but one hit after relieving Sam Jones, a spike victim with two out in the fifth. And the winner of the second game was Clarence Fieber, 18 year old collegian who had held the Tigers hitless in two innings. It was the first American league decision for Gregory and the first decision for Fieber in organized baseball.

FIRST GAME

The first third of the first game was played with each team petering out in one rally and otherwise behaving quite peaceably.

In the Tiger second inning White rammed a single through the pitcher's box with one out. Johnson fouled to Grube, but Richardson singled to left and White went to third. Then Ruel lined to Kress to halt the doings.

The Sox had a better chance to start production in the third. Grube walked, with one out, and stopped at third when Jones doubled to right. Funk grounded to Wyatt and Grube was out at the plate, Wyatt to Ruel, Jones reaching third and Funk second. Rogell threw out Selph.

Tigers Pick Up Two.

The Tigers came through in the fourth, and, considering they made four hits, the Sox probably were glad to hold them to two runs. Stone opened up with a single toward right

Sparta Beats Olympia, 3-1, for Peel Cup

The Sparta Soccer club yesterday won the Peter Peel cup, emblematic of the city soccer championship, for the fifth consecutive time when it defeated the Olympia team, 3 to 1. Sparta's fifth straight victory establishes a new record for consecutive city soccer titles. The old record of four was set by the Pullman club and tied last year by the Spartas.

As the 24th Peel cup final opened Sparta won the choice of ends and with a strong wind and the sun behind them had the better of the opening exchanges. Olympia, however, scored first when Keberla rocketed a shot past Baer, Sparta goalie.

Sparta returned to the play with renewed vigor and in four minutes Matus tied the score with a close in shot.

Olympia drew the wind in the second period, but failed to score despite concerted rushing of play by their forwards. With the period 17 minutes gone, Vidano captured a perfect cross from Turik and scored to give Sparta the lead. With only five minutes remaining Stevenson headed in a cross from Vlick. Summary:

OLYMPIA.		SPARTA.
G. Nudera	Goal	Baer
Thomson	R. B.	Fencil
Chovsky	L. B.	Rezak
Vondersak	R. H.	Vidano
Clark	C. H.	Nudera

Substitutions: Olympia—Schriber for Pely. Sparta—Stevenson for Matus. Goals—Keberla, Matus, Vidano, Stevenson.

German Davis Cup Team Eliminates Austria, 3 to 2

VIENNA, May 22.—(AP)—Germany's Davis Cup tennis team eliminated Austria today, three matches to two. Leading two matches to one after the first two days' play, Germany split even in the final two singles matches. Gottfried von Cramm decided the series in Germany's favor when he defeated Franz Matejka, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2, 5-7, 8-6. Daniel Prenn was beaten by Herman Artens of Austria, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

Heine Meine Signs with Pirates; Last of Holdouts

St. Louis, Mo., May 22.—(AP)—Heine Meine, Pirate pitcher, and the last of the season's holdouts, signed a contract today. The salary terms finally agreed upon were not divulged, but it is believed a compromise of approximately $11,500 was reached.

Chicago Cricket Club Wins from Internationals, 104-87

The Chicago Cricket club defeated the International team, 104 to 87, yesterday. Other scores were: Washington Park, 90; Melbourne, 47; Winnetka, 71; Argyle, 42, and Lincoln, 33; Pickwick, 29.

JACK AGAR WINS MIDLOTHIAN GOLF DERBY WITH 144

H. B. Maguire's 153 Is Best Gross Score.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Jack Agar, who used to play football at the University of Chicago before he made golf his game, rallied in the stretch yesterday to win the 28th annual Derby of the Midlothian Country club. Jack's 36 hole card for the two days play was 174—30—144, five strokes better than Howard B. Maguire of Flossmoor and V. H. Bartholomew of Ridge, each of whom dashed by the judges' stand with 149s.

Agar ran a well judged race to win the Derby. He was off the pace in the early running Saturday, reaching the half way mark with 90—15—75. He closed with a rush yesterday, however, traveling the last 18 in 84—15—69.

Maguire's 153 Best Gross.

It was Shorty Maguire who ran the best race, however, for his 153 was the low 36 hole gross effort of the tournament. He shot a 79 Saturday but returned yesterday with the following score:

Par—Out	434	444	534—35
Par—In	443	543	544—36—71
Maguire—Out	444	454	554—39
Maguire—In	553	542	443—35—74

He might have finished under par if he hadn't three putted the second, 10th and 11th. He was over par on the fifth where he overshot the green and wound up in a trap.

Gets Into Trap on Eighth.

On the eighth his second shot found a trap and he was 2 over par. He birdied the 15th with a five foot putt and missed a 12 footer for an eagle on the 16th, but sank a 20 footer for a birdie on the home green.

The winning low foursome for yesterday's 18 hole was composed of R. A. Born, Midlothian, 86—13—73; A. C. Drury, Euclid Hills, 89—11—78; G. C. Clifford, Casa del Mar, 88—11—77, and Willis Schoff, Midlothian, 83—11—72. Their net total was 300.

Maguire's 74—2—72 won low net for the last 18 holes, while E. F. Chambless of Sunset Ridge, won the prize for fewest number of putts with 28.

The complete Derby chart follows:

Czech Prince Killed When Racers Crash

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 22.—Prince George Lubkowitz was killed in an international motor race over the Avus motor track today. The 25 year old Czech prince was competing in a contest for large cars against the most famous drivers of six other nations.

Seeking to pass another driver on the first curve, Prince Lubkowitz's car apparently touched the other and a tire was torn off. The car turned off the track and capsized, flinging the prince over the fence onto a neighboring railway line. His skull was fractured.

Three hundred thousand spectators, including the former crown prince of Germany, lined the twelve mile course. The race evolved into a duel between the streamlined Mercedes-Benz driven by Manfred von Brauchitsch of Berlin, and an Alfa Romeo driven by Germany's famous racer, Rudolf Caracciola.

Better Don's Records.

Over 184 miles they roared almost wheel to wheel. Caracciola was just ahead nearly the entire distance, but in the last round Brauchitsch swept to the front and snatched victory. He averaged 121¼ miles an hour.

The Frenchman, Bouriat, driving a Bugatti, bettered Kaye Don's three year old world record for 50 kilometers and 50 miles, averaging 125.37 and 125.68 miles an hour, respectively.

Earl Howe of England won easily in a 123 mile race for medium cars. His Delage reeled off round after round with clockwork regularity at 110 miles an hour, and he finished over two rounds or twenty-four miles ahead of his nearest rival, Rudolf Steinweg of Munich, driving an Amilcar.

Campbell Forced Out.

The world speed king, Sir Malcolm Campbell, was eliminated in the first round by a broken oil pipe. The only woman competitor, Frau Beatrice Gilka, also dropped out in the first round due to gear trouble.

Two English baby Austin cars finished first and second in the smaller car division. The first was driven by James Barnes and averaged 88 miles an hour.

Before the races, Germany's champion motorcyclist, Ernst Henne, set a new world record for a five kilometers flying start. Riding a 500 cubic centimeter machine, Henne recorded 123.84 miles an hour, which is 3.39 miles better than the record set by the Briton, Handley, two years ago.

WOOD, MANGIN WIN AS FRENCH TOURNEY STARTS

AUTEUIL, France, May 22.—(AP)—The French hard court tennis championships opened in Roland Garros Stadium today and presented Sidney B. Wood of New York and Gregory S. Mangin of Newark, N. J., an opportunity to win their first match in the men's doubles in straight sets. Wood and Mangin disposed of the French combination of Bernie Berthet and Jean Couiteas, 7-5, 6-2, 6-1.

A scattering few other matches were played but the only other American involved was Elizabeth Ryan, veteran Californian who has made her home in England for many years. Miss Ryan and Jacques Brugnen of France won an easy match form Hedwiga Rudowska and Jean Goldryn of Poland.

Helen Wills Moody, overwhelming favorite to win the women's singles title, was to have partnered Wood in a mixed doubles test against Doris Cauters of Holland and Herman Matejka of Austria, but the match was postponed.

Tilden Beats Nusslein Decisively, 6-1, 6-0

Long Beach, L. I., May 22.—[Special.]—William Tilden, world's professional tennis champion, scored the most decisive victory of his many meetings with Hans Nusslein of Germany today at the Lido Country club. The youthful German champion salvaged only one game from the match, which went at 6-1, 6-0.

Who's Who in Women's Golf

Betty Eckersall

[This is the twelfth of a series of articles on prominent women golfers in the Chicago district.]

MRS. ROSE MARSHALL.

MRS. ROSE MARSHALL.

Mrs. Rose Marshall of Marquette park is one of the outstanding golfers competing in the Chicago district. She has been in active competition for seven years and holds the city championship, which she won last year by defeating Mrs. Daniel Meany of Cog Hill at Marquette park, 6 and 4. Mrs. Barshall also won the city title in 1929.

Mrs. Marshall has attended the opening of several clubs this season and competed with her customary success. Her putting with the new ball has been more accurate and her drives, which were always consistently straight and long, have gained more yardage, she says.

Mrs. Marshall does two things equally well—housekeeping and playing golf.

"I do all my own housework in the morning and always find time for a round of golf in the afternoon," she said. "It gives a woman an interest in life if she has some outside hobby. My husband is entirely in sympathy with my golf and often gives me valuable advice concerning my game."

It is said Mrs. Marshall usually wins the family golf tournaments, too.

Mrs. Marshall will defend her Marquette Park and city titles this year. She also contemplates entering other Chicago district and western tournaments.

Hey, Fishers! Trout Biting in Michigan

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Blaney, Mich., May 22.—The trout streams here in the upper peninsula never looked more inviting than at this time of the year, when marsh marigolds flash their golden color along the streams, and the migrating birds give the fisherman occasional bursts of music from the alder thickets and the cedars along the banks. Although the streams still are a little high from recent rains and the crafty and capricious brook trout are well fed, it has been possible to fool them with rod, line, and lure, so visiting fishermen cannot complain about their days in the open.

With four impatient anglers in our party, the automobile that leaves Blaney each morning and carries us to the fishing country behaves much like a milk train that stops at every crossing. Each fisherman must have an undisturbed stretch of water to fish, where he will have no competition from other members of the party, so the car travels a short distance over the twisting sand road that crosses the sand plains near the big and little Fox rivers before stopping to disgorge a fisherman who is decorated in all his finery.

Little Fox Is First Stop.

The other day the "fisherman's special" stopped first on the Little Fox, a dandy little trout stream, to let out Norwood Bard, Chicago sportsman. Then the automobile hurried to the Big Fox and here Carroll Gray Jr., La Salle street banker, stalked off to the river to fish downstream for several miles. Then old Alex, the fishing veteran of the village of Germfask who sets as chauffeur, drove us over to the Driggs river and there the two of us donned waders and started downstream.

We were supposed to return to the Big Fox for lunch around 3 o'clock, but the trout of the Driggs caused us to forget appointments, so it was around 6:30 when Alex drove us back over the sand plains to find the other irate passengers. Everybody had fish, with Gray's 14 inch trout from the Big Fox the biggest red spotted trout of the day.

Fish Found in Deep Holes.

Although the water still is above normal in these streams so that trout can roam over any part of them, we found our fish in the deep holes next to snags and logs or in the bends of the stream.

Food is plentiful, so much so that nearly every trout that we examined had plenty of fat.

PAULINO, WALKER BOUT THURSDAY IS WEEK'S BEST

Paul Meets Pena for Battalino's Title.

New York, May 22.—(AP)—Heavyweights in Madison Square Garden and featherweights in Detroit headline the national boxing schedule this week.

In the Garden Thursday night, Mickey Walker meets Paulino Uzcudun in a ten round bout. Walker will be favored to win, but he may find Paulino a difficult opponent. The Basque has seen his best days, but he still is a hard man to beat, being apparently impervious to punishment.

At Detroit the same night, Tommy Paul of Buffalo and Johnny Pena of New York box the 15 round final of the National Boxing association's featherweight championship tournament. The winner will receive N. B. A. recognition as successor to Christopher [Bat] Battalino, who vacated the throne several months ago. Bouts on the national schedule include:

MONDAY.

At San Francisco—Gaston Lecadre vs. Charley Cobb, welterweights, and Tommy Grogan vs. Goldie Hess, lightweights, each 10.

At Boston—Joe Knight vs. Charlie Belanger, light heavyweights, 10.

TUESDAY.

At Los Angeles—Joey Goodman vs. Ceferino Garcia, welterweights, 10.

At Portland, Ore.—Fred Steele vs. Frank Stetson, welterweights, 6.

WEDNESDAY.

At Philadelphia—Benny Bass vs. Harry Dublinsky, Tony Falco vs. Pat Igoe, and Eddie Cool vs. Joey Costa, all lightweights, each 10.

At Seattle—Young Jack Thompson vs. Leonard Bennett, welterweights, 6.

At San Francisco—Kenny Austin vs. Madison Dix, welterweights, 8.

THURSDAY.

At New York—Paulino Uzcudun vs. Mickey Walker, heavyweights, 10; Ralph Fiecuccello vs. Vicente Parille and Nate Brown vs. Arthur Huttick, heavyweights, each 8; Johnny Oakie vs. Enzo Fiermonte, middleweights, 8.

At Detroit—Tommy Paul vs. Johnny Pena, featherweights, 15.

At Spokane—Sidney Brent vs. Hank Vogt, welterweights, 6.

At Tacoma—Jimmy Britt vs. Jimmy Harrison, welterweights, 6.

FRIDAY.

At San Francisco—Andy Divodi vs. Jimmy Evans, welterweights, 10.

CLARK'S PITCHING WINS 2 TO 1 DUEL FOR BROOKLYN

Holds Giants to 5 Hits, Shades Schumacher.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 22.—(AP)—Bill Clark held the Giants to five hits in a pitching duel against Hal Schumacher today and the Dodgers won the series final from their rivals from across the river, 2 to 1.

Schumacher opposed Clark for seven innings, yielding nine hits and fanning eight, but he was found for the winning run in the sixth. Tony Cuccinello walked, took third on Wright's single and worked the squeeze play perfectly to score on Al Lopez's safe bunt. Lopez also drove in the other run, sending Wright home with a double. BOZEMAN BULGER, SPORTS WRITER, DIES SUDDENLY

Lynbrook, L. I., May 22.—[Special.]—Lieut. Col. Bozeman Bulger, sports writer, columnist, playwright, and soldier, died suddenly this morning following a heart attack. He was in his 55th year. When word of his death went out the flags at Yankee stadium and at Ebbets field were placed at half staff.

Bozeman Bulger was one of the pioneers in baseball reporting, famous for his wit as well as for his thorough knowledge of the sport. He acted as official scorer for teams in both the National and American leagues, traveled extensively with the New York Giants, the Yankees, and Brooklyn, and wrote volumes about the big figures in baseball.

He was born Nov. 22, 1877, in Dadeville, Ala. He frankly admitted, later in life, that as a youth he was not a good baseball player—never got beyond a place on the village team—but he loved the sport. He was graduated from the University of Alabama with a law degree and worked for a time in the office of his father, William Bulger, a prominent attorney in Birmingham. Later he was secretary to Representative Oscar Underwood of Alabama, later a senator. He quit the law for newspaper work.

Johnson singled over second, Stone scoring and White stopping at second. Richardson flied to Funk and then Johnson stole third. Ruel ran the count to three balls and two strikes, then singled to left, White scoring and Johnson stopping at second. Wyatt flied to Funk.

The fifth witnessed the retirement of Jones. Davis was thrown out by Appling. Rogell gained first on Blue's fumble. Stone grounded to Blue, who threw to Kress and forced Rogell. Jones covered first in the hope of completing a double play and was spiked by Stone. After the game was resumed, with Gregory pitching, Stone reached second on a wild pitch, but Gehringer fouled to Grube.

Wham! Kress Knocks Homer.

The second hit off Wyatt tied the score in the sixth. Selph started things with a walk. He paused while Seeds fouled to Ruel, and then Kress knocked his homer, a handsome drive into the left field grandstand, scoring Selph ahead of him. Blue singled to right, but was doubled when he got the funny notion he could go to third while Richardson was throwing out Hodapp.

It was in the eighth that Stone pulled one for the book. Jonathan led off the session with a triple to center. The young man arose from his slide, stepped off the bag to take a kick at it for luck or something, and, as he drew back his boot, Selph, who had just received the ball, tagged him. Gehringer and White furnished the other two outs in a hurry.

Blue started the ninth with a fly to White. Then Hodapp slammed his homer well into the left field lower stand, giving the Sox their first 1932 victory over the Tigers at Comiskey park.

SECOND GAME

The first inning of the second game was all for the pitchers. Davis, Rogell and Stone couldn't get the ball out of the infield for the Tigers, and Bridges fanned Funk, made Selph pop to Gehringer and fanned Seeds.

Gehringer opened the second inning with a single to left, but was doubled when Blue reached out with one hand and grabbed White's drive an inch from the ground and got to first before Charley could get back. Appling threw out Johnson.

The Tigers again in the second game selected the fourth as the inning in which to launch production. Rogell open with a single to center and went to third on Stone's single to right. Stone stole second and after Seeds had caught Gehringer's foul, Rogell scored and Stone took third. White grounded to Appling and Stone was out at the plate, Appling to Grube. Johnson ended it with a fly to Funk.

The first hit off Bridges was the single with which Funk launched the Sox fourth. Selph walked. Seeds bunted and forced Funk at third. Bridges to Richardson. Kress singled to left, Selph scoring the tying run and Seeds stopping at second. Bridges diverted Blue's smash to Gehringer, who proceeded with a double play which was recorded Bridges to Gehringer to Rogell to Davis.

Richardson pushed off the fifth with a single to center and stopped at third when Hayworth doubled along the left foul line. Bridges lined to Seeds and Richardson made no effort to score until Seeds' throw evaded Grube. Then he walked home and Hayworth reached third. Davis fled to Funk and Hayworth scored after the catch.

Grube walked with two out in the fifth and stopped at second on Lyons' single to center. Funk walked, filling the bases, but the bubble burst when Selph knocked the first pitch for a nice fly to Johnson.

Escape Trouble in Sixth.

Gehringer beat out a shot off Lyons' bare hand to start the sixth, but was forced by White. Johnson put White on third with a single to right and got to second when Grube picked up Richardson's dud in front of the plate and got the putout at first. Hayworth was given an intentional pass to fill the bases, and then Bridges fanned after running the count to three balls and two strikes.

Davis walked at the outset of the seventh. Rogell bunted and beat it out, but in a desperate effort to scoop the ball to Blue, Lyons drew an error. Davis reached third and Rogell second. Stone doubled along the right foul line, scoring Davis and Rogell. Gehringer grounded to Selph, who tagged Stone going into third. White fanned, but Johnson put Gehringer on third with a single through Selph and took second when the ball was thrown to third. Richardson singled to right, scoring Gehringer and Johnson, and proceeded to third on the throw in. Lyons withdrew at this point and Faber came in. Selph threw out Hayworth.

Appling and Grube made the fourth and fifth hits off Bridges in the seventh, but Fothergill batted for Faber and there was a double play.

The Sox had some fun in the eighth. Funk and Selph walked and Seeds forced Selph. Kress doubled to the scoreboard in left center, scoring the two runners. Herring relieved Bridges and walked Blue, but Hodapp hit into a double play, Richardson to Gehringer to Davis.

Shaw, Aspen Qualify Cars at Indianapolis

Indianapolis, Ind., May 22.—(AP)—Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis and Carl Aspen of Philadelphia today qualified their cars for the annual 500 mile automobile race to be run here May 30.

Shaw pushed his eight cylinder rear drive car around the course at an average speed of 114.326 miles per hour. Aspen, driving an eight cylinder near stock car, averaged 108.008 miles per hour.

Twenty-three drivers have qualified to date. Lou Moore of Hollywood, Cal., with an average of 117 miles per hour, clinched the pole position yesterday. Forty cars will be permitted to start and qualification trials will continue every day this week.

Three minor accidents occurred today but no driver or riding mechanic was injured. Fred Merzmey of Denver, Colo., crashed into the wall on the first turn in a practice spin in a four wheel drive car. The machine was so severely damaged it was said to be out of the race.

Arthur Tyson of Detroit also lost control of his car in the first turn during a practice spin. The frame of the car was damaged, but Tulio Guiotta of Kansas City, the owner, said it would be back on the course by Tuesday.

Leon Duray's two cycle speedster caught fire on the back stretch while being warmed up, but the flames were extinguished before much harm was done. Duray was uninjured.

Rejuvenated Sox Count on Gaston Today

Whatever happens this afternoon, the Cleveland Indians will be up against a more peppery team than they have seen in White Sox garments in the last seven games between the two clubs. Gaston is slated to oppose Hudlin in the opener of the three game Indian series.

Jones was cut down by Stone in the fifth inning while attempting to cover first in a prospective double play. He got a bad slash on his right heel. Later in the afternoon when Stone made a rough slide into Grube at the plate, many of the fans seemed to think Jonathan tried to give Frankie the steel also. Undoubtedly an unfair implication.

For several seasons the Sox have played their best games before the smallest crowds and their worst before the biggest gatherings. None of the 20,000 who braved overcoat weather yesterday asked for his money back.

Kress has been breaking out with the hives waiting for the spots he found yesterday. His admirers are hoping that yesterday's successes will send him on one of his well known slugging sprees.

This is Hodapp's ninth year in organized baseball, and although the records list him for every infield position he received his outfielder card only yesterday.

The Tigers made eleven hits off Lyons in the last four innings he worked. Ted never would kick about the weather, but it was a bit too chilly for him to get the best results with the arm that has caused him so much concern during the last 14 months.

Fieber was sent in as a gesture of surrender, but the big kid worked a cross fire shot with all the vigor he may display some day in a world series.

WANER BOOSTS BIG SIX MARK; CRITZ IN AGAIN

Paul Waner escaped the common affliction of falling averages among the major league batting leaders yesterday and showed the only real hitting. He went to bat eight times in a double header and hit safely the first four to add 9 points to his mark, bringing it up to .387.

Hughey Critz came back into the big six, replacing Bill Terry as third man in the National league when he hit two out of four while Terry and all the other contenders were losing points. The standing:

Cubs Idle Today; Open Cardinal Set Tomorrow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., May 22.—The Cubs rolled away tonight in the direction of St. Louis, where they'll loaf tomorrow. They open a two game series with the champion Cardinals on Tuesday. Guy Bush will do the pitching in the first battle and probably Lon Warneke in the second.

Sidney Weil, the Reds' president, is making a regular circus out of the national pastime. Today he had a 300 piece brass band on hand to furnish pre-game entertainment.

Bob Newsom, the big right-hander who couldn't report to the Cubs for spring training because a mule stepped on his leg, is gradually getting to the point where he can walk without a noticeable limp, but he still has a perfect impression of a mule shoe on his left shin.

The attendance today was highly satisfactory for the Red management, which has been operating in that color for some time. The paid gate was close to 24,000, all of whom are quite certain that their favorites will be in the next world series.

Charley Root is having about the worst stretch suffered by him since he became a Cub. He hasn't won a game since April 28, when he relieved Bob Smith with a tie score. On May 5 he lost a hard luck 2 to 1 decision to Brooklyn. On May 12 the Braves whipped him, 8 to 3. He tried to pitch the ninth for Grimes May 14 against Boston, and two runs cost him the game. On May 17 he was relieved by Tinning, but the Cubs nosed out the Phillies and Tinning was credited with the verdict.

WEST SIDE STAR CLUB TEAM WINS HOUR BIKE RACE

A crowd of 4,000 saw Art Cumming and Ed Triest, representing the West Side Star Cycle club, win the one hour team race sponsored by the Amateur Bicycle League of America at Humboldt Park yesterday. Cumming and Triest scored 28 points.

Andy Cajet and Fred Guth, the Belgium Henry team, were second with 26 points, while Henry Stolle and Jerry Rodman, the Belgium Barrett team, were third with 21 points.

The two mile novice event was won by Wilbur Casper of the South Chicago Wheelman.

On June 5 the league will hold a 62 mile unpaced race, in which the winner and runnerup will be sent to California to compete in the Olympic trials.

Lavergne Cardinals Beat Chicago Roamers, 9 to 4

Cubs Lose 3d in Row; Errors Costly to Root

farther than third. Root scratched a single to short to open the third, but a double play blasted this chance. Grimm was the fourth runner to survive. Gilbert muffed his pop up after one was deposed in the fifth. Two more pop ups closed the matter.

Cubs Get Going.

Business began to pick up from a Chicago standpoint when Richbourg lined a single over Grantham as the opening incident of the sixth. Billy Herman poked a slow bounding hit between first and second. Both advanced on a bunt by English, who came mighty close to beating it for a hit. Moore popped out, thereby putting the responsibility on Stephenson. The old hoss of Alabam fouled off a few and then pumped a single into left. Billy Herman followed Richbourg across the plate before Hafey's return throw could reach Lombardi. The inning ended with Hemsley bouncing to Gilbert.

Cincinnati's Herman singled over short with one out in the eighth, and Jurges immediately gave the Reds the assistance needed to convert the hit into a run. Hafey bounced to short and Jurges fumbled momentarily. After recovering he still had time to toss to Billy Herman for a forceout, but he didn't think of trying it. Instead he let go with a peg to first, and Hafey beat it easily. Giant Man Lombardi then singled to right, scoring the Babe and putting Hafey on third. A speedy double play started by Jurges cut the rally short.

Futile Bid for Tie.

Then the Cubs put in their futile bid for a tie. Moore stepped up in the ninth with a line single on which Hafey tried a shoestring catch. Stephenson was retired on a roller to Grantham. Gudat swung in Hemsley's place and planted a single in center, Moore going only to third, whence he scored on Grimm's fly to Douthit.

BUSINESS PART OF TOWER BLOCK IS RENTED 100%

Title and Trust Reports on Property.

BY AL CHASE.

A cash balance of $69,571 is reported on hand by the Chicago Title and Trust company, which is managing the Woodlawn Tower Business block, on East 63d street, between Blackstone and Harper avenue. This is a Greenebaum Sons Investment company first mortgage 6½ per cent bond issue of $1,500,000, of which $1,332,000 is now outstanding. The Title and Trust company also reports that eighty-five of the 110 available apartments are occupied, or 77.3 per cent. All of the seventeen stores are rented and the theater is leased.

GEN. ABEL DAVIS.

The statement of cash receipts and disbursements for the period from Jan. 1, 1931, to March 31, 1932, made by the Chicago Title and Trust company, show:

Gross receipts	$230,414
Disbursements, operating expenses	56,190
Net receipts	$174,224
Interest on bonds	$ 88,311
Other disbursements	40,784
Total	$129,095
Excess of receipts over disbursements	$ 45,129
Balance at beginning of period	24,442
Cash balance March 31, 1932	$ 69,571

Gen. Abel Davis is chairman of the bondholders' protective committee. The other members are B. M. Winston, E. V. R. Thayer, Howard Loeb, John P. Olsen, Murray Wolbach, and M. E. Greenebaum. A bill to foreclose the trust deed securing the first mortgage bonds is being filed.

Hollywood-Kenmore Apartments.

The occupancy of the Hollywood-Kenmore apartments, at the southwest corner of Kenmore and Hollywood avenues on May 9, 1932, was 89.17 per cent, according to the Chicago Title and Trust company, receiver, in a statement just issued. This was a Madison and Kedzie State bank first mortgage bond issue of $850,000 at 7 per cent. It has been paid down to $812,500.

In a statement of receipts and disbursements from June 7, 1930, to April 30, 1932, the receiver shows the following:

Receipts—
Gross income	$207,360
Disbursements—
Operating expenses	$137,056
Insurance premiums	1,075
Purchase of furniture and carpets	6,358
1928 general taxes	12,079
1929 general taxes	13,929
Fees of attorneys for receiver	5,000
Fees of receiver	9,500
Total disbursements	$184,997
Cash in receiver's hands April 30, 1932	$ 22,363

The bonds of this issue were called on April 8, 1930 for deposit with the Chicago Title and Trust company. Abel Davis is chairman of the bondholders' protective committee. Walter C. Palmer is secretary.

Versailles Apartments.

A decree of sale has been entered in the foreclosure suit of the Versailles apartments, at 5234 Dorchester avenue, according to a statement of C. J. Olsen, secretary of the bondholders' protective committee, but a date has not yet been set for the foreclosure sale. This was a Greenebaum Sons Investment company 6% first mortgage bond issue of $475,000, since reduced to $285,000.

The Chicago Title and Trust company, receiver for the property, makes the following statement of cash receipts and expenditures from Jan. 1, 1931 to March 31, 1932.

Receipts	$ 79,927
Disbursements for operating expenses	59,013
Net receipts after Operating expenses	$ 20,914
Other receipts—Return insurance premium	20
Total	$ 20,943
Other disbursements	17,199
Excess of Receipts over disbursements	$ 3,744
Cash balance beginning of period	12,169
Cash balance March 31, 1932	$ 15,913

The receiver also reports that on Feb. 29, 1932, 64.23 per cent of the ninety-one apartments were occupied. Of 154 rooms, 77.92 per cent were rented.

John Zwiefka, receiver for the Apfelbach apartments at 3022 Palmer square, reports $92 cash on hand on March 31, 1932. He states that receipts from Jan. 11, 1932, to March 31, 1932, were $556. Operating expense was $426 and insurance $38, leaving a cash balance of $92. This was a 6 per cent bond issue of $65,000 underwritten by the Atlas Exchange National bank. It has been paid down to $56,000.

WHEAT PRICES SEEN AS HEADED TO HIGHER MARK

Prospects for Spring Grain Bright.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Late action in the wheat market points to an upward trend in values which trade leaders here and in the east take as the forerunner of a real bull market based on crop damage reports.

Wheat prices are low, and all agricultural products are selling at the lowest levels in years. There has been a long period of depression, but with bankers said to be becoming more desirous of bringing about trade revival and the government also aiding in that direction, better conditions are expected.

An advance in commodity markets should bring about better times in helping farmers and bring employment to a large army of idle men. Those confident of a trade revival are said to be taking hold of the wheat market as the basis of an advance in other grains and commodities in general.

Crop Conditions Improve.

Crop conditions in the southwest have deteriorated sharply within the last week, and unless rain comes at once further losses are predicted. From present indications the hard winter wheat crop of the southwest, where the exportable surplus is raised, promises to be the smallest in years due to drought, the March freeze, and other factors.

Expectations are that the June crop reports may show a further reduction in winter wheat estimates carrying them down near to around the 400,000,000 bu mark.

Present prospects for spring wheat are the best in recent years. Allowing for a crop of 400,000,000 bu winter and 750,000,000 bu spring wheat, there would be 850,000,000 bu for the United States, sufficient for all home requirements. With a carryover of 300,000,000 bu on July 1 there would be 950,000,000 bu of wheat for the coming season, leaving an ample exportable surplus.

Expect Russian Shortage.

Traders who take a conservative view of the situation say that it is not wise for American wheat prices to advance above a world's export level, as it is likely to cut off export business and help other exporting countries. At the same time there is another factor seen in the form of small reserves of wheat in Europe where there are moderate crop prospects, and above all, indications are for a shortage in the Russian crop, meaning limited exports from that country.

Cash wheat markets have strengthened, and the farm board has made large sales for export and to millers particularly in the southwest.

The American visible is steadily decreasing. The farm board is said to have around 25,000,000 bu of futures and 95,000,000 bu cash wheat, and is now considered less of a factor than at any time since its origin.

Wheat futures in Chicago have advanced 4¾@6¼c in the last three weeks, of which 3¾@4¾c was in the last week, May leading the upturn. Closing trades on May were 58¾c; July, 59¾@59¾c; September, 61¾@61½c, and December, 64¾c for old style deliveries. Prices for the week follow:

Modest Gains in Corn.

Specialists in corn are more friendly to the buying side on breaks, but they are getting no help from the outside; have not had any for a year. The cash situation is fairly healthy with liberal shipments for the week. Country holders have been too busy with corn planting to make large sales, but with a sharp advance expectations are that they will sell more freely. Should wheat prices continue to advance, corn specialists say corn will follow to a moderate extent. Spreaders who were short corn and long wheat are said to have greatly reduced their lines, taking their profits, largely in wheat. Indications are that there will be an increased corn acreage planted throughout leading states with the work finished this week and the crop getting a good start.

Net gains for the week were 1@1⅝c, with May closing at 31c; July, 33¾@33⅝c; September, 35¼c, and December, 35⅝c. Prices for the week follow:

Oat Receipts Liberal.

Country holders of oats are marketing them freely, as indicated by increased receipts, presumably to fill sales for May delivery, as arrivals exceeded last year's. Shipments, while large, were not as heavy as a year ago. Crop prospects are favorable.

Speculation was light and price closed unchanged to ⅝c higher for the week, May being 22⅝@22¾c, July and September 22⅝c, and December 24⅝c.

New York Banks Show Decrease in Deposits

New York, May 22.—(AP)—The weekly statement of the New York clearing house shows: Total net demand deposits (average) $15,366,000 (decrease); time deposits (average) $8,388,000 (decrease); clearings week ending today, $2,856,787,921; clearings week ending May 7, $2,864,712,308.

Pennsy Plans Cool Sleepers This Summer

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 23.—Every sleeping car on the Pennsylvania railroad will be cooled before departure this summer, the company announced yesterday. In addition, dining cars on principal trains will be equipped with continuously operating cooling equipment. About 1,000 cars, including sleeping and parlor cars and thirty-eight dining cars, are involved in the operation. Pre-cooling consists in blowing cold air through the cars by machinery at terminals.

This step by the Pennsylvania follows a wide extension of the application of the new comfort to railway travel which began this summer when the Chesapeake and Ohio lines placed the first order for air-cooled and conditioned sleeping cars for use on its George Washington train, a new one operating west from Washington. On this train mechanical equipment cools and purifies the air in the cars at all times.

Extends Cooling Systems.

The Baltimore and Ohio, which equipped the Columbian, a day train between here and Washington, with mechanical cooling, and also precooled its sleeping cars last summer, has equipped its National Limited and Capitol Limited, which are night trains, with mechanical devices. The Columbian, started last summer by the B & O. as the pioneer mechanically air-cooled day train, and another B. & O. day train between here and Washington will have this feature this summer.

The Pennsylvania, which put air-cooled dining cars in service between here and Washington last summer, will this summer use them on the Broadway Limited between here and Chicago, on the Cincinnati Limited, on the Colonial Express, on the Senator between Boston and Washington, on the Montrealer, and on other trains.

New York Central's Plans.

The New York Central is considering the use of pre-cooled sleeping cars and mechanically cooled dining cars between New York and Chicago this summer.

The railroads are employing several air-cooling methods. On the Pennsylvania air will be circulated continuously through the dining cars after having been blown through coils through which ice water is pumped. The Baltimore and Ohio and the Chesapeake and Ohio use different devices, which utilize mechanical refrigeration. The devices on the Pennsylvania cars may be adapted to mechanical operation.

$205,000,000 SPENT IN NEWSPAPERS ON NATIONAL ADS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 22.—The total investment in newspaper space of national advertisers was $205,000,000 last year, according to a report released for publication today by the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' association. The investment for 1930 was $235,000,000. The average expenditure per advertiser was slightly higher in 1931 than in the preceding year.

The decrease in the 1931 expenditures was due largely to a decline in two main classifications: Automotive and radio sets and appliances. Eighteen automobile manufacturers cut their newspaper advertising expense from $33,535,000 in 1930 to $23,665,000 in 1931 and seven tire companies showed a drop from $5,915,000 to $2,910,000. Radio and phonograph companies decreased their advertising by more than $4,000,000, dropping from an expenditure of $7,035,000 in 1930 to $2,995,000 last year.

Despite these decreases in expenditure for advertising space in newspapers there were several bright spots in last year's picture. One of them, described by the bureau as "distinctly" encouraging, showed that thirteen tobacco companies expended more for newspaper advertising last year than in any previous year, the expenditures increasing to $28,620,000, as compared with $23,885,000 in 1930.

"In the publishing group six concerns increased their outlay from $1,425,000 to $1,695,000 last year," the bureau reported, "while expenditures of twelve wearing apparel concerns increased from $2,535,000 to $3,480,000."

N. Y. Hide Exchange Votes Saturday, May 28, Holiday

New York, May 22.—(AP)—The board of governors of the New York Hide exchange today voted to close the exchange on May 28, the Saturday preceding Memorial day. Values on the exchange moved irregularly but generally downward during the last week, showing losses ranging from 5 to 20 points. Traders were disinclined to extend commitments pending stimulating developments in the hide and leather situation.

Expect Some Advance in Youngstown Operations

It is expected that steel mills in the Youngstown district this week will operate at an average of 26 per cent of capacity, a fractional improvement over the week just ended. Manufacturers are understood to be looking for some further gain in automobile buying. Also, prices so far have held up against the 15 per cent wage reduction, although consumption volume has perhaps been too light to test them thoroughly.

Minnesota Bonds Offered by Chase, Harris, Forbes

The Chase-Harris-Forbes corporation and a banking syndicate are offering a $10,000,000 issue of state of Minnesota highway 4 per cent and 4¼ per cent serial bonds at prices yielding 3.50 to 4.10 per cent.

ILLINOIS IS FIFTH AMONG STATES IN 1931 EXPORTS

Foreign Trade Put at $141,008,291.

Illinois, despite general business depression, made a good showing in exports for 1931, ranking fifth among all the states, according to a report issued yesterday by C. E. Herrick, chairman of the foreign trade committee of the Illinois Manufacturers' association. Mr. Herrick's report follows:

"The total foreign trade by Illinois, recently reported by the United States department of commerce, was $141,008,291. This was a decrease of only 29.8 per cent compared with 1930, but New York, the principal exporting state, had a decrease of 38.9 per cent.

"Texas, the second exporting state in the value of products, showed a decrease of 35.9 per cent. California, 29.8 per cent, and Pennsylvania, 34.1 per cent, ranking third and fourth in the value of exports.

"The entire country showed a decrease in exports amounting to 37.1 per cent.

Some Comparative Figures.

"If we compare 1931 with the flourishing year of 1929, Illinois dropped off 40.9 per cent, but the decreased percentage of New York exports during the two year period amounted to 55.4 per cent.

"It should not be overlooked that Illinois exports millions of dollars' worth of goods which are not credited in the governmental statistics for the reason that they are forwarded by agents from various ports.

"It is distinctly encouraging to note also that the export departments of Illinois manufacturers in the main have been kept intact.

"The export managers are the ones who bring in the business. They know where to get it—they know what countries are able to pay their bills. As an example of enterprise in that direction, I recently heard of one export manager who has flooded the climatically wet countries of northern Europe with Illinois raincoats, although up to two and a half years ago no American raincoats were sold in Europe. He had to make some of them to order. In one country, for example, where there are many bicycle riders, the buyers of American raincoats insist upon wide skirts so they will slip conveniently over the bicycles.

Farm Machinery Exports.

"Wheel tractors constitute the chief export from Illinois as they did the previous year. They go all over the world, especially to Russia, and account largely for increased agricultural production overseas. Most of them are manufactured in Chicago, Moline, Rock Island or Peoria. Illinois' exports of wheel tractors for 1931 amounted to $23,692,728, compared with $20,702,824, a gain of 15 per cent. Other leading exports from Illinois were:

Lard	$13,788,719
Trackslaying tractors and parts	6,816,298
Wheat	6,250,965
Combines [reaper-threshers]	5,088,678
Other industrial mach. and pts.	4,171,155
Radio apparatus	4,020,962
Cured hams and shoulders	3,291,788
Canned meats	3,111,530

"There were other important and diversified exports, including beef and veal, fresh pork, bacon, oleo oil, milk and cream, hides and skins, leather footwear, undressed furs, malt, corn, rubber tires, vegetable oils, corn starch, unmanufactured cotton, veneers, wood manufactures, paper and its various manufactures, gasoline, lubricating oil, glass and its products, structural iron and steel, railway track material, metal furniture and fixtures, bauxite, copper and its manufactures, telephone apparatus, engines, printing presses, horse and power plows, planters, motor trucks, passenger cars, soap, dental creams, motion picture sound equipment, musical instruments, books and pamphlets, maps and pictures and household effects were included among the diversified products sent from the state to foreign countries during the year.

U. S. Leads the World.

"The United States led the world in exports in 1931 with a total of $2,377,981,786, while Germany, which displaced the United Kingdom in second rank, had exports valued at $2,192,850,000. Exports from the United Kingdom were only $2,069,823,000. France, in fourth place, attained a value of only $1,192,516,000 in exports.

"It seems Illinois manufacturers can aid their export business as well as the foreign trade of this country in general by disabusing the minds of their overseas customers of the effect of the American tariff. The United States tariff is not nearly so high as many of the tariffs of other nations. Through our tariff commission unjust tariff rates can be adjusted or equalized.

Get Plants in Canada.

"The Illinois Manufacturers' association recently has received inquiries from manufacturers from our state who contemplate establishing branches in Canada on account of the tariff situation, which is forcing them to such action to retain their Canadian business. Between April, 1930, and April, 1932, it is reported, 144 American industries established factories in Canada to obtain preferential treatment with regard to the British tariff and dominion tariffs.

"American meats, particularly ham and bacon, are threatened with insurmountable tariff barriers by Great Britain. Meat packing interests of the British dominions, who will meet in Ottawa in July, have under consideration a proposition that aims at the exclusion of all foreign meat from the United Kingdom, giving preference to meat from the dominions. If that plan is adopted it will deliver a severe blow to the great packing interests of Illinois and other states of the middle west.

"Foreign trade is essential to the prosperity of Illinois and the nation. As pointed out recently by President Hoover, about 10 per cent of the American production is exported, that volume supporting about 2,400,000 families."

COLOMBIA TELLS WHY IT GAVE UP SCRIP PROPOSAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 22. — The government of the republic of Colombia, in a statement transmitted yesterday to its bankers here, explained its reasons for having abandoned its plan to issue scrip in lieu of the unpaid coupons on the dollar obligations of its political subdivisions. Some of the departmental assemblies and municipal councils failed to ratify the scrip agreement, it said.

The text of the statement follows:

"By decree of Sept. 24, 1931, the government of Colombia, in order to protect the gold reserves and the stability of the currency, established a board of exchange control with wide powers to supervise transactions in foreign exchange. It was expected that through this precautionary measure full service of the external debt, not only of the republic but also of the departments and municipalities could be maintained. However, because of the continued loss of gold, which was threatening to deplete the metallic reserves, the board, with the approval of the government, was obliged to veto the transfer for service of the external debt of the departments and municipalities.

"Subsequently the government submitted to the latter a proposal to issue its own certificates of indebtedness (scrip) bearing interest at 6 per cent per annum in lieu of the unpaid coupons of the departmental and municipal dollar obligations. It was provided that the debtor entities should deposit the equivalent of their external interest obligations in pesos until such time as the foreign exchange reserves of Colombia would again permit the resumption of free transfers.

"In view of the failure on the part of certain of the departmental assemblies and municipal councils to ratify the scrip agreement, the government has decided to abandon its plan to issue national scrip on behalf of its subordinate governments."

Ford Motor of Germany Reports Deficit for 1931

COLOGNE, Germany, May 22.—(AP)—The report of the Ford Motor company of Germany disclosed today that the 1931 business year ended with a deficit of 1,686,000 marks [currently about $404,000], which was balanced, however, by a profit in 1930 and extraordinary reserves. Business transactions were unsatisfactory at the beginning of the year, the report said, the economic situation having reduced sales. The new Ford factory at Cologne was used to a small extent.

General Real Estate Bond Committee Formed in N. Y.

New York, May 22.—(AP)—At the request of a number of holders of real estate bonds now in default, a general committee has been formed to protect the interests of these and other bond owners similarly situated, it was announced today. It will be known as the "protective committee for defaulted real estate bonds," with Edward C. Delafield, vice president of the City Bank Farmers' Trust company, as chairman.

STRUCTURAL STEEL DEMAND IS BETTER; FORD LEADS AUTOS

Structural steel requirements have expanded measurably, both in orders and active inquiry, lending needed reenforcement to the automobile industry in its almost single-handed support of the steel markets, states the magazine Steel.

Including 12,000 tons for Long Island railroad grade crossing eliminations, last week's structural awards totaled 19,798 tons, largest since late March. Its loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation will enable the Pennsylvania railroad to release about 50,000 tons for its eastern electrification.

Over 10,000 tons for various projects should be placed this week in the New York district. Three federal projects up for bids at Washington in June call for 35,000 tons. The largest river barge award in months at Pittsburgh is for 12, requiring 2,200 to 2,400 tons of plates and shapes.

In the aggregate steel needs of the automobile industry continue to gain. This is largely due to Ford, expected to close this week on material for a June schedule which will be substantially larger than the May one. Detroit and northern Ohio mills thus far have been the chief beneficiaries of Ford business; other districts may now share it.

GENERAL TRADE REPORTED BETTER IN CHICAGO AREA

An improved sentiment in general trade conditions, with close to an average seasonal distribution of merchandise by wholesalers and retailers, featured the past week in Chicago, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Retail trade displayed a noticeable pickup, with house furnishings, women's ready-to-wear, and drapery items selling well. Wholesale lines showed some improvement over the levels of the preceding week, though the usual seasonal decline in manufacturing items which starts about this time was a detriment to any marked change.

Brighter news was provided by the steel industry, with makers of low priced automobiles furnishing a large tonnage for material. Railroads are also taking more interest, particularly in track accessories, since more men have been put to work, and around three thousand have been given employment during the last few weeks on repair work. Ability of steel makers to maintain prices following the recent wage cut was regarded with satisfaction.

Mail order house sales showed a sharp gain in sales volume with the report that the sales of farm implements during the past few weeks were larger than those for the same period in 1931.

To holders of

East Coast Utilities Company

Six Per Cent Convertible Gold Debentures, Series A

Dated November 1, 1938

Due to a default in the payment of the interest due May 1st, and to the appointment of a Receiver of the EAST COAST UTILITIES COMPANY, a Debentureholders' Protective Committee has been organized by the bankers identified with the original financing and distribution of these securities with the sole object of conserving every possible asset as security for your debentures.

The undersigned Committee is not identified with any other committee and does not approve of the plan of reorganization of the East Coast Utilities Company sponsored by interests not identified with the original distribution of these debentures. This Committee is not associated with that committee in any way but is devoting its entire energies solely to the protection of your interests.

Forms of letters for deposit can be secured from the Central Republic Bank and Trust Company, Chicago, Depositary, Boatmen's National Bank, St. Louis, Sub-Depositary, or Secretary of the Committee, 115 West Adams Street, Chicago.

Start Action to Rehabilitate Insull Utility Unit in East

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 22.—The foundation has been laid for the rehabilitation of the National Electric Power system and the paying off of bank loans of the parent company and its subsidiaries as a result of active negotiations conducted over a period of ten days by executives of the company, New York bankers, and the receivers of the Middle West Utilities company, which controls the National Electric Power company.

The basis for an agreement on what procedure should be followed was reached following conversations here between Charles A. McCulloch and Edward N. Hurley, who, with Samuel Insull, are receivers for Middle West Utilities company and representatives of the leading banks.

Tells Bankers of Needs.

Mr. McCulloch, who informed the bankers of the necessity of safeguarding to the fullest degree Middle West Utilities company's $40,000,000 stake in National Electric Power, learned in return of the full willingness of the banks to coöperate with Harry Reid, president of National Electric Power, in putting the entire group on a sound financial basis.

National Electric Power, which heads the grouping of all Insull properties in eastern states, particularly along the seaboard from Maine to Florida, is faced with heavy bank loans on its own account and with respect to a number of its subsidiaries, incurred as a result of repeated acquisitions of properties throughout the first two depression years.

The feeling of the banking institutions with respect to the elimination of the heavy bank debts, which has already resulted in the passing of dividends by top holding companies, is understood to be that it will be preferable to have full authority concentrated in the responsible New York executives of the group. The New York banks, further, have shown an unwillingness to share in Chicago developments affecting other Insull companies.

Easterners to Control.

In other words, while the investment of Middle West Utilities in National Electric Power is respected and will not be disturbed, the handling of the problems of the eastern group of properties is to be vested largely in eastern interests closer to the sphere of operations and in close contact with eastern bankers.

At the outset the program to be followed will be one of strict economy, it is said, and drastic reduction of indebtedness of the holding companies in the National Electric Power group. Expenditures will be confined to operating and maintaining the properties and to undertaking only such construction as may be necessary to expand distributing systems in the territories served.

The elimination of intermediary holding companies is not a factor at this juncture, but will be recommended as soon as the present objectives have been attained in a satisfactory manner.

STOCKS OF OIL CONCERNS GAIN ON NEW YORK CURB

New York, May 22.—(AP)—Oils advanced, specialties reacted, and utilities were irregular on the Curb market last week.

Petroleum shares attracted considerable speculative attention. The Supreme court decision on Oklahoma proration, the international marketing conference here, and optimistic reports by a few company executives contributed to the upward trend. Gains were not fully retained, but the group's undertone had a firm appearance.

Weakest spots among industrials were mostly stocks which had recently been under pressure. Thus Singer Manufacturing and A. O. Smith broke sharply, while some selling was noted in Great Atlantic and Pacific, presumably because of the decrease in sales. Woolworth, Ltd., had a relatively sharp reaction in early markets, but rallied. Ford of Canada "A," Consolidated Mining and Smelting, and a number of inactives were heavy. Swift stocks were steady to firm.

In the utilities Electric Bond and Share common dipped to a new low at 9 prior to the dividend meeting, at which the rate previously paid on the old shares was applied to the new. Regular payments were authorized for the preferreds. Columbia Gas preferred and Commonwealth Edison had sinking spells. American Gas was rather erratic.

Tin Futures Recover on National Metal Exchange

New York, May 22.—(AP)—Tin futures on the National Metal exchange experienced a sharp recovery during the week in sympathy with advances in the London tin market, on expectations that the international tin committee will approve a revised restriction program.

GUARDIAN GROUP FORMED FOR UTILITY CONCERN

Formation of a protective committee, by interests identified with the original financing, for holders of the 6 per cent convertible gold debentures, series A, dated Nov. 1, 1938, of East Coast Utilities company, which defaulted on interest payments May 1, is announced yesterday by H. L. Harker, chairman of the committee. H. L. Ruppert and C. T. Williams Jr., are the other members.

Forms of letters for deposit may be secured from the Central Republic Bank and Trust company in Chicago, depositary, or the Boatmen's National bank in St. Louis, subdepositary, or the secretary of the committee at 115 West Adams street, Chicago.

In a statement the committee pointed out that it is not identified with any other committee and does not approve of the plan of reorganization of East Coast Utilities company sponsored by interests not identified with the original distribution of these debentures. Immediate deposit of debentures is requested by the committee.

WALL ST. BESET BY DOUBT, KEEP TO SIDELINES

Disturbed by Events at Washington.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 22.—Question marks still outnumber the dollar signs in Wall street. The probable scope and affect of the administration's credit expansion program; the final outcome of the muddled efforts now under way to balance the national budget and frame a tax plan that will stand up; the continued outflow of American gold to Europe—these are some of the major problems that keep idle hands scratching troubled heads up and down the famous skyscrapered cañon.

The average stock market trader has reached the befuddled point where he doesn't know which way to turn. With quoted values drained to a mere fraction of what they were at their 1929 peaks, he is afraid of the bear side, convinced, as he is, that there must be a limit to all things, even a bear stock market. On the other hand, with no evidence to justify hope in the business revival, he finds himself unable to screw up courage to take the "long side," even at the incredible "bargain" prices now prevailing. So, bewildered, torn by doubts and misgivings, he sticks to the side lines.

Trade at Ebb.

Hence the stubborn stalemate into which this, the world's premier security market, has fallen. Hence its steady decline in trading volume along with that of prices. The total of yesterday's dealings was only 302,470 shares, the smallest since Aug. 8 of last year and, with the exception of that day, the lowest since Sept. 13, 1924.

On the face of the averages the market underwent little change during last week. The industrials sagged to a new bottom on some computations, but elsewhere the three or four moderate recoveries offset intervening reactions sufficiently to leave prices just about where they were a week ago.

Nor did the news developments of the week bring anything forward calculated to change the picture materially. The Washington situation so-called offered nothing new whatever so far as could be made out from the observation towers at this distance. Politically minded gentlemen continue to debate the puny side line matters that interest them, leaving the country to worry and fret over problems regarded by some as being so serious as to threaten the future of the nation.

Telephone Action.

The dreary routine of dividend omissions and reductions was varied for the moment by the action of the American Telephone and Telegraph board in voting that great corporation's regular rate of $2.25 a share, but since it is common knowledge that earnings were not sufficient to justify the payment, it made no great impression on those looking for an earnest view of the way things are really going.

The great gold exodus flowed on unchecked, exports of the week totaling $60,394,000, only $7,773,000 of it from earmarked stock, but with so many other things to fret over, the street shrugged its shoulders and guessed that the loss in the yellow metal "might have been worse."

Week-end trade reviews tried to take a more hopeful view of the situation and in some quarters there was a disposition to invest a mead of optimism in the new plan to yank prosperity around the corner through the mediumship of the regional groups of industrial and financial leaders in the different federal reserve districts now formed or forming.

Market Awaits Results.

Nobody counts much on the new enterprise starting a stock market boom overnight, and there are those —most of them battle scarred survivors of other revival schemes that have gone to smash—who seem determined to await the announcement of some plan of action before passing judgment in the form of security investment or liquidation. Announcement of the organization of the first of the committees here in the New York district was responsible for a mild flurry of trading Friday morning, but it quickly petered out and the close of trading that day found prices slightly below their previous closing levels.

For the rest of the week the market was entirely devoid of feature, and price movements without exception were narrow and generally uninteresting. The list has been in this condition for so long now that many are beginning to hope that it may at last have flattened out on what will prove to be the five star final bottom of the long, long bear market.

United States Dairy Products.

Will you please give me whatever information you have as to the past earnings and present financial condition of United States Dairy Products? I am interested in the A stock.—S. J. D.

United States Dairy Products corporation was incorporated in 1922 to acquire control of companies engaged in the distribution of milk, ice cream, and other dairy products. The present organization represents the consolidation of more than 45 companies.

The corporation operates in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, and Michigan. It serves a population of 8,500,000 in about 1,000 communities.

The acquisition of Janssen Dairy company, Hoboken, and W. J. Kennedy Dairy company, Detroit, late in 1930, helped the company establish new high figures for sales and net income for 1931. Sales for 1931 were $28,359,000, against $27,813,000 for 1930, $24,714,000 for 1929, and $19,231,000 for 1928.

Net income for 1931 was $1,769,000. This was 4.25 times charges and subsidiary dividends, 20.41 times first preferred dividends, 1.57 times class A dividends, and equal to $2.03 per class B share. Net for 1930 was $1,531,000. This was 15.04 times first preferred dividends, 1.34 times class A dividends, and equal to $1.20 per class B share. Net for 1929 was $1,715,000, against $1,169,000 for 1928 and $737,000 for 1927.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $3,474,000 and current liabilities were $2,425,000. Cash was $611,000, notes payable were $421,000, and gold notes due in one year were $151,000. Working capital was $1,049,000, against $1,100,000 the year before.

Funded debt totals $4,228,000. There are outstanding 12,380 shares of no par $7 first preferred, 16,379 shares of no par $8 second preferred, 163,329 shares of no par $6 class A and 275,258 shares of no par class B.

The first and second preferred have preferential rights as to cumulative dividends and as to assets. The class A common has no preference as to assets over the class B. It is, however, preferred as to noncumulative dividends of $6 per year over the class B. After the class A receives $6 in any one year the balance of earnings is applicable to the class B. The class A is convertible into class B stock, share for share, at any time to Dec. 1, 1932.

With the dividend paid Sept. 1, 1931, the class A was placed on an annual $6 rate, against a previous $5 rate, thus making the class B eligible for dividends.

STATE BANKERS' GROUP FAVORS CONGRESS CURB

Opposes U. S. Guarantee of Deposits.

Springfield, Ill., May 22.—The annual convention of the Illinois Bankers' association will begin here tomorrow.

The report of the committee on economic policies is expected to become the chief basis for discussion. This committee report contends that the aftermath of the era of speculation and inflation is a condition deplorable enough in itself without the many panaceas proposed by well meaning persons who unfortunately do not understand thoroughly the probable adverse affects of their plausible remedies. The report asserts that attempts to repeal or amend economic laws by statute are doomed to fail. The committee believes if congress had been content with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act and the Glass-Steagall bill the recurring crises would have been averted.

Finds Some Projects Disturbing.

Of the measures pending in congress many of them are described as unsound or at least most disturbing. Those are the Steagall guaranty of deposits bill, the Glass branch banking bill, the Luce federal home loan bank bill, immediate payment of soldiers' bonuses, the Goldsborough bill to stabilize the purchasing power of the dollar and the difficulties developed over the revenue bill and the general need for balancing the budget.

On the question of the guaranty of deposits the committee points out that this plan has proved a failure wherever and whenever tried. The report argues it is unfair to sound, well managed banks to force them to establish a fund to guarantee the mistakes or failures of poorly managed banks. It is charged that the plan encourages unsound banking and that, if forced upon the member banks of the federal reserve system, it would have a tendency to destroy that financial machinery and at the same time would create a very serious disturbance for state banks.

The committee is opposed to branch banking in any form and particularly to that provision in the Glass banking bill which would permit national banks to have state-wide and, in some instances, interstate branches in states which do not permit their state banks like privileges.

Talks About Investments.

On the question of investment securities which is so prominent in the Glass bill, the committee has this to say:

"Commercial banks for years have been the outlet for distribution to the public of a great proportion of investment securities offered on the market. While we entertain some doubt as to the advisability of banks participating in the distribution of stocks or the setting up of affiliated corporations for the handling of sales of securities, we are strongly of the opinion that the business interests of the country will be handicapped should the privilege of selling bonds be withdrawn from the banks.

"We also believe that the investors' interests would be jeopardized. If investment affiliates are to be retained they should be examined at the time the parent bank is examined by the proper authorities but we are rather of the opinion that banks should not hide behind such affiliates in these transactions but should confine their operations to the types of securities which they themselves would place in their own investment portfolios and operate through and under their own charters."

The committee urges that the Illinois Bankers' association oppose any effort to tamper with the exchange value of our currency and to oppose any issue of governmental obligations for purposes which can be financed by current income, applying this principle not only to the federal government but to states, counties and local municipalities. It calls upon all of these governmental organizations to balance their budgets, reduce expenses of operation and taxes. The report says: "This can best be accomplished by the elimination of unnecessary governmental activities and the consolidation of governmental agencies and territorial boundaries. This latter applies particularly to county and local governments."

For State Income Tax.

The policy of the association favoring a revision of the revenue section of the state constitution so as to substitute an equitable income tax for the personal property tax is reaffirmed.

In placing their disapproval upon the plan recently advanced for a unified banking system, operating under national control, the report winds up the recommendations as follows:

"It is quite evident that both the Steagall and Glass bills are stepping stones toward the elimination of state chartered banks by the establishment of all banks under national control. Incidentally, men in influential official positions on the federal reserve board and in the federal government have been advocating that idea. Nothing in the history of banking in this country indicates any need for the destruction of our state banking system, nor is there any reason for us to believe that the present or the near future would cause a change in the situation. The system of regional autonomy in a country as large as the United States of America is necessary.

"Centralized control would be fraught with great danger to the different conditions existing in the different sections of the country and would have a most disturbing influence over the natural operation of our economic laws. These regional conditions change from time to time affecting one section and not another and to substitute a system of financial control over the entire country directed from one spot in this vast country for that which is set up, controlled and supervised by local needs, would be most dangerous. National and state banks have operated together in harmony for almost a century, during which time nothing has occurred which would justify any change in the present status."

Two American Firms Make Wheat Offer to Greece

ATHENS, Greece, May 22.—(AP)—Two American firms have offered to sell the Grecian government 250,000 tons of wheat, payment to be half in currency and half in Greek tobacco.

MEN
PERMANENT, IMMEDIATE POSITIONS ARE AVAILABLE AT OUR WEST SIDE BRANCH OFFICE TO MEN WHO ARE QUALIFIED TO LEARN HOW TO SUCCESSFULLY REPRESENT THIS COMPANY.
These positions pay $5,000, $6,000, $7,000, $10,000 and more a year regularly to men who learn how to do this work successfully.
1931 was our bigest year. 1932 will be our third consecutive record sales year. The reasons for this unique record are: 1. Our men are taught in a practical manner how to do this work. 2. They are honorably treated. Our method is so revolutionary in its service superiority that it is changing the ccurse of an entire industry. 4. The present and potential market is absolutely unlimited.
The product itself reveals a picture which the prospect can never forget, and an inimitable method of presenting it is now being introduced to the public effect. Applying this method of work, C. J. Erckman, a former supt. of bldg., earned $45 his first 13 days, while another new man in our West Side office, Harry Lashwell, a former health inspector for Cicero, earned over $45 his first two days in this work, while A. H. Anderson earned over $90 the same week and H. W. Sprague, formerly in the insurance business made $115 and R. C. Allen, previously a Cadillac salesman for years, earned well over $600 for the same week. Throughout the entire country men are making more than they ever made before as clerks, salesmen, bookkeepers, mechanics, engineers, etc., due to the amazing and compelling value they can offer in this new Electrolux product (not refrigeration).
The work is not "easy," yet it is not difficult. Average men master it when they set their minds to it and really study and practice. Only men skilled, immediate earnings to more than meet your living expenses are available, and those who learn how to do the work successfully and apply themselves earn regularly from $5,000 to $12,000 a year.
If you are qualified to learn this work, the opportunity is permanent and unlimited. There is no investment, no deposit, no charge for instruction.
These positions are for responsible, adaptable men who live in the West Side of Chicago, or in Cicero, Oak Park or Kankakee county. Apply in person at once, Monday morning, 9 to 12, suite 11-14 Austin-Madison Bldg., 5967 Madison street.

Miscellaneous.

Men—Chicago South Side.
On account of the steady progress and growth of our company, we are in a position to take on a few more men from time to time; the requirements for these positions are quite reasonable so that the average man of good habits and clean-cut appearance living in the southern section of the city will stand a fair chance of being employed.
This company has been uniquely successful throughout this depression, in fact, 1932 will be our third successive record sales year. In line with our steady gains in business, the earnings of our men are higher; not only are more men earning $50 and $75 a week, but in recent months we have issued many weekly pay checks, running between $100 and $250 throughout the entire country; these earnings, of course, are generally made by more experienced men, but there are exceptions where new men have very quickly advanced themselves to the higher incomes.
Similar positions are available in our local office to a few more men who are qualified to learn this work and who would be satisfied with earnings of $125 to $150 monthly while learning, provided they saw opportunities for future earnings. Only those will be accepted for these positions will be given a very thorough course of training free of charge.
For personal interview call Monday morning, 9 to 12 at Suite 430 Hyde Park National Bank Bldg., 53d and Lake Park-av.

Commonwealth Customers—PAY LESS—for LOANS
$2.93 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

COMMONWEALTH'S rate on amounts above $100 is substantially lower than the lawful rate usually charged.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

NO FEES. You get full amount of the loan and up to 25 months to repay. Interest at the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.

Also Salary and Auto Loans.
